Leading a New Life

When you dive into Create a Sim, you have complete control over the physical appearance of your Sim and can deck him or her out in any number of outfits.

Frumpy? Flashy? The choice is yours. But there is so much more to a Sim than the clothes, the number of wrinkles, or the hairdo. What makes a truly lasting impact on your new Sim is how you designate and develop their personality.

Before exiting Create a Sim, you give your Sim up to five traits that are the building blocks of their personality. But it doesn't end there.

Traits lead to wants and desires. How you indulge these wishes also affects your Sim's well-being, measured by their current mood. Use this section to learn all about shaping personalities, weighing wishes, and managing mood.

The happier you make your Sim, the more rewarding life is on both sides of the screen.

1. History of Ultimate Frisbee

Origins and Early Development

Ultimate Frisbee was invented in 1968 by Joel Silver, Jonathan Roberts, and Buzz Hyman at Columbia High School in Maplewood, New Jersey. They were looking for a way to keep themselves and their friends active during the fall season. Initially, they played with a standard Frisbee and adapted rules from football and soccer.

Growth and Popularity

The sport quickly spread to other schools and colleges in the area. By the early 1970s, it had reached universities across the United States. The first official Ultimate Frisbee tournament was held in 1972, and the sport began to gain a more structured organization.

Modern Era

Today, Ultimate Frisbee is played in over 80 countries around the world. It has a strong presence in schools, colleges, and recreational leagues. The sport is governed by the World Flying Disc Federation (WFDF), which oversees international competitions and rules.

2. Basic Rules and Gameplay

Field and Players

Ultimate is played on a field that is 100 yards long and 53 1/3 yards wide, with two 25-yard end zones. Each team has seven players on the field at a time. The objective is to score points by catching the disc in the opponent's end zone.

Starting Play

Play begins with a pull, where one team throws the disc to the other team. The receiving team then tries to advance the disc down the field by throwing it to their teammates. The disc must be caught cleanly; if it touches the ground, the opposing team takes possession.

Scoring

A point is scored when a player catches the disc in the opponent's end zone. After each point, the teams switch sides and the pull is taken by the team that just scored.

Fouls and Violations

Ultimate is a self-officiated sport, meaning players are responsible for calling their own fouls and violations. Common fouls include contact, pushing, and blocking. Violations include traveling, double teaming, and stalling.

Spirit of the Game

The Spirit of the Game is a core principle of Ultimate. It emphasizes fair play, respect for opponents, and a positive attitude. Players are encouraged to resolve disputes through discussion and to maintain a sportsmanlike conduct throughout the game.

3. Essential Skills and Techniques

Throwing

Throwing is a fundamental skill in Ultimate. There are several types of throws, including the backhand, forehand, and hammer. Each throw has its own advantages and is used in different situations.

Catching

Catching the disc cleanly is crucial. Players should focus on keeping their eyes on the disc and using both hands to secure it. Practicing catching in various conditions can help improve consistency.

Cutting

Cutting is the act of moving to get open for a pass. Effective cutting involves changing direction and speed to create separation from defenders. Players should communicate with their teammates to coordinate cuts.

Defense

Defense in Ultimate is about marking the opponent and preventing them from receiving the disc. Players can use various defensive strategies, such as zone defense or man-to-man defense, depending on the situation.

Footwork

Good footwork is essential for both offense and defense. Players should practice agility drills to improve their ability to change direction quickly and maintain balance.

Communication

Communication is key in Ultimate. Players should constantly communicate with their teammates to coordinate plays, call out defensive assignments, and provide support.

4. Strategies and Tactics

Offensive Strategies

Offensive strategies in Ultimate include setting up plays, using screens, and creating space. Teams can run different formations, such as the horizontal stack or the vertical stack, to exploit defensive weaknesses.

Defensive Strategies

Defensive strategies include marking the opponent, forcing them to throw to less desirable areas, and intercepting passes. Teams can switch between different defensive schemes to keep the opponent guessing.

Transition Game

The transition game is the moment when a team switches from offense to defense or vice versa. Quick transitions can lead to fast breaks and scoring opportunities. Players should be aware of their positioning during transitions.

Zone Defense

Zone defense involves players guarding specific areas of the field rather than individual opponents. This can be effective in preventing the opponent from getting open for passes in certain areas.

Man-to-Man Defense

Man-to-man defense involves each player guarding a specific opponent. This requires good footwork and communication to stay with the assigned player and prevent them from receiving the disc.

5. Equipment and Gear

Frisbees

The standard Ultimate Frisbee is a 175-gram disc with a diameter of 27 cm. There are also smaller and lighter discs available for younger players and beginners.

Cleats

Cleats are recommended for Ultimate players to provide traction on the field. They help prevent slipping and allow for quick changes in direction.

Clothing

Players should wear comfortable clothing that allows for a full range of motion. Many teams wear matching jerseys to distinguish themselves from their opponents.

Protective Gear

Protective gear, such as mouthguards and shin guards, can be worn for added safety. Players should choose gear that fits well and does not restrict their movement.

Water Bottles

Staying hydrated is important during games and practices. Players should bring water bottles to the field and take breaks to drink regularly.

6. Training and Conditioning

Warm-Up Exercises

Warm-up exercises should include dynamic stretches and light jogging to prepare the body for physical activity. This helps reduce the risk of injury and improves performance.

Strength Training

Strength training can help improve power and endurance. Exercises such as squats, lunges, and push-ups can be beneficial for Ultimate players.

Agility Drills

Agility drills, such as cone drills and ladder drills, can help improve footwork and quickness. These drills should be incorporated into regular practice sessions.

Endurance Training

Endurance training, such as long runs and interval training, can help players maintain their stamina throughout a game. This is important for both offense and defense.

Recovery

Recovery is an important part of training. Players should get enough rest and nutrition to allow their bodies to recover after intense workouts and games.

Self-Officiating

However, before taking on that first brave day, you need to be familiar with a handful of terms that will not only appear throughout this entire guide, but also be critical to succeeding within the game.

Wood

There are a handful of ways to harvest your first few pieces of wood, and furthermore of the number when possible. Our guide will help you to find the best ways to get your first wood.

Your farm's beginning position makes a staggered right there on the Beta Island, whether the sand grows lush environment and the Alpha Island is a bit more challenging, but you can still find wood in both areas.

There is a photo point in the middle of the farm that will help you to find something but is not required for your first wood. Use the photo point to find your way back to the farm.

To succeed in life, you must keep your One Tapping Pro Wood close to the green coloured respawns.

Mood Boosting Tips and Tricks

Mood Boosting Tips and Tricks

We have collected a host of suggestions for increasing the appearance of positive moodlets as well as minimizing negative moodlets. Because a good mood has such a far-reaching effect, use these tricks to maintain a smile on your Sim.

Food Boosts

The simple act of eating can have a very positive effect on your Sim. Not only does it negate hunger, but quality food can also put a Sim on cloud nine (or clouds one through eight, depending on how good the meal is). Here are some tricks for maximizing mood through eating:

Develop the Cooking skill. As your Sim approaches level 10, they make higher and high quality meals. Quality meals result in the Good Meal, Great Meal, and Amazing Meal moodlets depending on the skill of the cook and the number of times the recipe has been prepared.

Sims get better at a recipe the more they make a dish. Fortunately, they do not get tired of eating the same thing so if your Sim masters a dish like Googy Carbonara and keeps making it, Sims get moodlet boosts for eating it.

Place leftovers in the fridge of Excellent or Perfect recipes and eat them whenever the Sim is hungry. Buying a more expensive fridge helps leftovers keep longer so you waste little time making additional servings every day and can enjoy a quick mood boost from eating good food.

When a Sim finally reaches level 10 of the Culinary career, they get a special fridge that not only keeps leftovers for a long time, but Sims get the Superior Equipment moodlet just for walking past it.

If your Sim makes a new recipe and does a poor job resulting in a disgusting meal, don't eat it. Just rely on a quick meal to satiate hunger. The Sim is sad over wasting food, but the mood hit for the Nauseous moodlet is worse.

At level 10 of the Cooking skill, Sims can buy the Baked Angel Food Cake recipe. Eating a serving of this recipe results in the Warm Fuzzies moodlet, which gives an easy mood boost for five hours.

Eating out at the diner or bistro always results in a food-related mood boost. Sure, it costs Simoleons, but the eight-hour moodlet boost will pump up your Sim's overall mood. Try eating at the bistro or diner before going to work for an extended mood boost.

Dining at the bistro occasionally (but not too often) results in the Divine Meal moodlet. This moodlet boost lasts for an entire week and offers +75 to your Sim's mood. Talk about a happiness generator.

Feed Ambrosia to your Sims so they get the coveted Divine Meal moodlet. The recipe is available from the bookstore once Sims reach level 10 of the Cooking skill. However, the recipe does not come cheap. It costs §12,000 and it's worth every single Simoleon.

No time to cook? Just grab a quick snack. If you let your Sim get too hungry, they get the Very Hungry and Starving moodlets. These negative moodlets last a long time and are terrible to have, especially before going to work.

In addition to buying a good fridge, splurge on a good stove. This reduces the chances of preparing a meal that results in the negative Uneven Cooking moodlet while working on new recipes.

Environment Boosts

Sims are affected by their surroundings at home. You can boost mood by making sure your Sims have a pleasant pad. Sure, it may cost a little money to get the best stuff and make your Sims happy, but maxing out mood is almost always worth the expenditure.

Sims love new stuff. In fact, buying a new object for the house results in the appropriately named New Stuff! moodlet, which is a quick mood booster.

Keep your lot clean. It doesn't take that long to pick up dishes or make sure objects in the bathroom are clean. Mop up puddles right away, too. Dirty houses result in negative moodlets like Filthy Surroundings. Walking through a dirty house on the way to work is a real mood killer.

Master the Painting skill so your Sims create Masterpieces. Masterpieces add huge environmental boosts to rooms that help foster the Decorated moodlets.

Spend some Simoleons on nice objects such as paintings and sculptures so Sims get the Decorated moodlets just for passing through a room.

Install a fireplace in your Sim's house. When Sims walk past it while a fire crackles, they get the Cozy Fire moodlet. If they linger near the fireplace, they get the Warmed moodlet.

Speaking of heat, if a gardening Sim grows a Flame Fruit and keeps it in their personal inventory, they always enjoy the Warmed moodlet.

Place a swimming pool on your lot. Sims get the Lovely Pool moodlet when they are near it.

Buy the rubber duckie from the supermarket and place it on the tub in your house. Every time Sims take a bath, they get the Duck Time Fun moodlet. That's an easy mood booster.

All Sims like music. Place a stereo in your house and play music for your Sims so they get the Enjoying the Music moodlet. The potency of this moodlet increases with the quality of the stereo. If a Sim with the Handiness skill upgrades a stereo so it plays music in all rooms, all Sims in the house enjoy the moodlet boost when music is played.

In addition to digging on music from a stereo, Sims also like the sound of the guitar. A skilled musician can cause the Enjoying the Music moodlet, too.

Not all chairs are created equal. When browsing the chairs, look at the comfy rating. The higher the rating, the comfier the chair. (And, chances are, the more expensive the chair, too.) However, spend the extra Simoleons for the comfy chairs and sofas. Sitting in one—even for just a few moments—results in the Comfy moodlet.

Your Sim gets the Pristine Picture moodlet boost from watching a quality TV. If a handy Sim tinkers with it, the chance of getting this moodlet increases. It's another easy way to boost overall mood.

Social Boosts

With the exception of Loner Sims, Sims love to be social. Many positive moods come from being a gadfly or a schmoozer, so consider these tricks while dealing with other Sims. Your next social interaction could put your Sim's mood up into the green!

Parties put Sims in good moods. If you put together an awesome party that your guests enjoy, you get the Threw a Great Party moodlet, which lasts an entire day.

Know a Sim who is a Great Kisser? A little smooch from this Sim results in a nice little moodlet, Great Kiss. On the way out the door, that's an easy pick-me-up.

Meeting a new Sim is always enjoyable, but when your Sim converts that acquaintance into a friendship, they can enjoy the New Friend moodlet. So, get out there and socialize. Just watch out for clumsy conversations so you don't end up with negative moodlets like Embarrassed or Boring Conversation.

If you have multiple Sims in your household, have them stop and compliment each other for a moment to get the Flattered moodlet.

Need Boosts

Each Sim has six primary needs. Addressing these needs often boosts the overall mood. Because we already dealt with food-related mood boosts, these strategies are related to the remaining needs.

It's tempting to push your Sims to the limits of sleep in order to squeeze as much into a day as possible. However, getting a full night's sleep gives the Well Rested moodlet for a full 10 hours. That's a great moodlet to have before going to work.

Got a spare hour? Take a nap. The Had a Nice Nap moodlet is a quick fix that adds a nice mood bump for a few hours.

Obviously, Sims like to have fun. Giving your Sim something to do they enjoy (often related to traits, such as giving a good book to a Bookworm) will bring on the Entertained moodlet. Keep it up for six hours and that moodlet turns into the Having a Blast moodlet, which is an even bigger mood booster.

Hygiene is an important need. It's not just that Sims do not like being around stinky Sims, but taking care of Hygiene needs can often result in a positive mood boost.

The Minty Breath moodlet boost is a quick hit for very little effort. Just brush your Sim's teeth at any sink. Make it a habit.

Buy a quality shower and enjoy the Exhilarating Shower moodlet boost. Get this right before heading out the door to work (along with a quality meal) to have a great day at the office.

Whoa—is your Sim afflicted by the Strained moodlet? Get rid of it as soon as possible with a massage or fun activity!

Out and About Boosts

There are many ways to boost your Sim's mood outside the house. Many community lots such as the theater have positive effects on mood, so if your Sim is down in the dumps, try these suggestions for turning that frown upside-down:

Visiting a city park gives Sims the Beautiful Park moodlet. It offers a nice mood bump. However, you can kick your mood up another notch by bringing a stereo when heading to the park. Place the stereo on the ground near your Sim and play some music. Now your Sim not only gets the Beautiful Park moodlet, but also the Enjoying the Music moodlet.

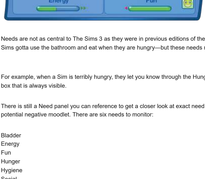
Many facilities such as the theater or science facility offer tours. If your Sim has a trait that is related to the location, take the tour and enjoy the Impressed and/or Fascinated moodlets.

The day spa is a positive moodlet factory. Buying treatments at the day spa results in a variety of moodlets—all of them positive. The more expensive the spa treatment, the better the effect. The body treatments, for example, result in the Rejuvenated moodlet. If you spring for the top treatment, you can get up to +100 on your mood for 24 hours. You are effectively buying happiness!

Go to the movies! This is a cheap way to get an extended mood boost called Saw a Great Movie. It lasts for 16 hours, so if you catch a flick the night before work, you'll enjoy the effect of the moodlet for the majority of the next day's shift.

On your way out of the house, stop by the mailbox and donate some Simoleons to charity. The more Simoleons you donate, the bigger the boost from the Charitable moodlet. The moodlet lasts an entire day, so it's an effective way to pump up a Sim.

Needs



Needs are not as central to The Sims 3 as they were in previous editions of the series. Needs are still important—after all, Sims gotta use the bathroom and eat when they are hungry—but these needs now manifest themselves through moodlets.

For example, when a Sim is terribly hungry, they let you know through the Hungry moodlet that appears right in the moodlet box that is always visible.

There is still a Need panel you can reference to get a closer look at exact need levels. This a helpful way to head off a potential negative moodlet. There are six needs to monitor:

Bladder
Energy
Fun
Hygiene
Social

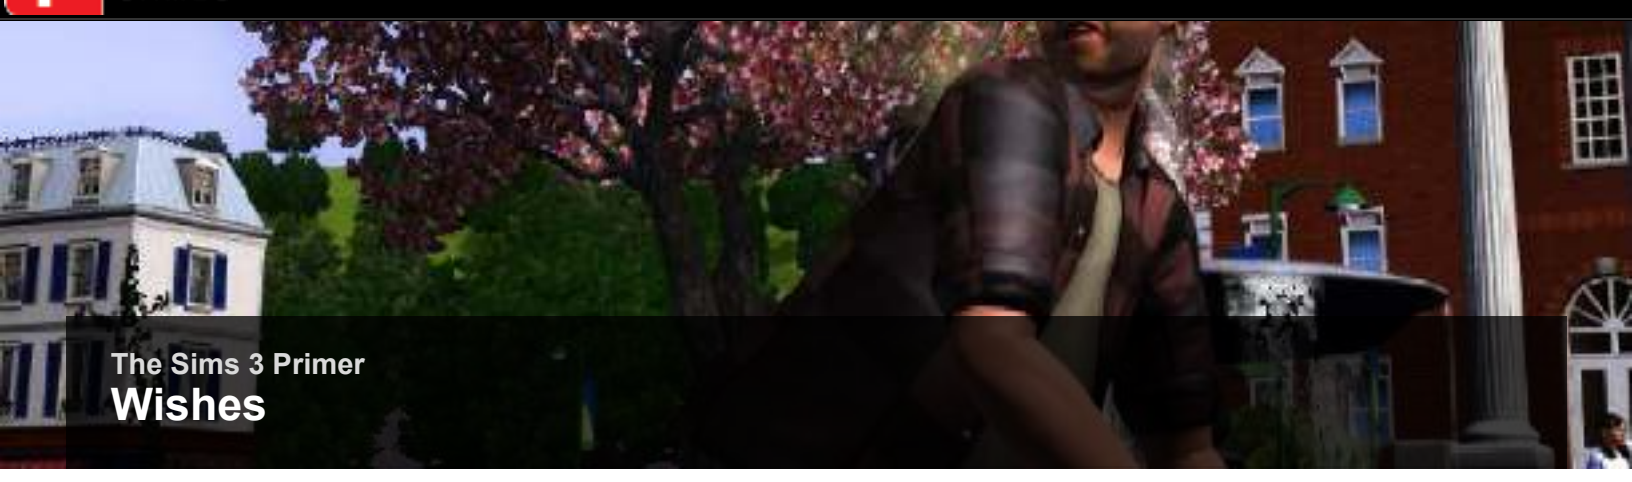
Each need in the Needs panel is accompanied by a meter that shows you the exact level of the need at that moment, such as whether or not the need is being met (the meter appears green) or the need has been ignored for far too long (red).

If you check in on the Needs panel and you see that the Hunger meter is yellow, the satisfaction of that need has dropped below 50 percent and is on its way to red territory.

When that meter turns red, a negative moodlet associated with that need appears and the Sim's overall mood takes a hit.

Caution

While more attention is paid to moodlets, you ignore the Needs panel at your own risk. Just pop into the Needs panel and survey the satisfaction levels, thus heading off a negative moodlet.



The Sims 3 Primer

Wishes

It is through wishes that Sims feel both fulfilled and productive, but not all wishes are equal. In fact, there are other ways to define a Sim's life besides Lifetime Wishes.

The day-to-day desires of Sims are also very important, such as the desire to chat with another Sim or learn a new recipe.

These smaller wishes commonly factor into the overarching Lifetime Wish, and also help with skill development and the career advancement.

Fulfilling a promised wish to a Sim results in the acquisition of Lifetime Happiness points. The reward is not nearly as much as a Lifetime Wish, but the points from fulfilling smaller wishes really add up over time.

Note

Not every wish is worth the same number of Lifetime Happiness points to every Sim. Depending on a Sim's wants, traits, and needs, a wish is worth a different amount than it would be to another Sim.

Making Wishes Come True

Almost as soon as your Sims move into their new houses, they start expressing wishes and desires via the Wish panel at the bottom of the screen.

Sims can have up to four active wishes at any time and express one in the arched bubble above the Wish panel. To promise a new wish to a Sim, left-click on it. That moves it into the Wish panel.

If you find an incoming wish more appealing than a promised wish but have no more empty slots, right-click on one of promised wishes to remove it. There is no penalty for getting rid of a promised wish.

The Wish Panel

Caution

You cannot undo a denied wish—once it's gone, it's gone. It may come back later, but don't count on it.

Once added to the Wish panel, a wish stays there until it is either fulfilled or denied. The number of Lifetime Happiness points for a promised wish do not deteriorate over time either.

If you hold on to the Have a Baby wish for several days before attempting to fulfill it, it is still worth the same number of Lifetime Happiness points as the first moment it appeared.

Wishes are not universal. Every Sim wants different things, although you may see similar wishes appear within Sims in the same household that have similar traits, skills, or careers.

Ages also affect the wishes, as a child will want different things than an adult. It is also important to note that some promised wishes disappear when a Sim ages up.

Because the Sim is moving into a new age group and possibly gaining a new trait that affects personality, that Sim is likely to have totally different desires.

Lifetime Happiness Points

Whether you accumulate Lifetime Happiness points by boosting mood up into the bubble or by fulfilling wishes, they all go into the same pot.

These Lifetime Happiness points can then be traded for Lifetime Rewards, which are a collection of special objects, skill modifiers, or personality tweaks that can make your Sim's life easier or send it spiraling into an entirely new direction.

The Sims 3 Primer

Opportunities

As you live each day, your Sim encounters opportunities related to social situations, careers, and skills. These opportunities often come out of nowhere—just as they do in real life.

Opportunities provide short-term goals, but they are not mandatory. There is no penalty for dismissing an opportunity or for not completing an opportunity.

However, because each opportunity has a reward, such as Simoleons or a promotion, it pays to pursue them as best as you can.

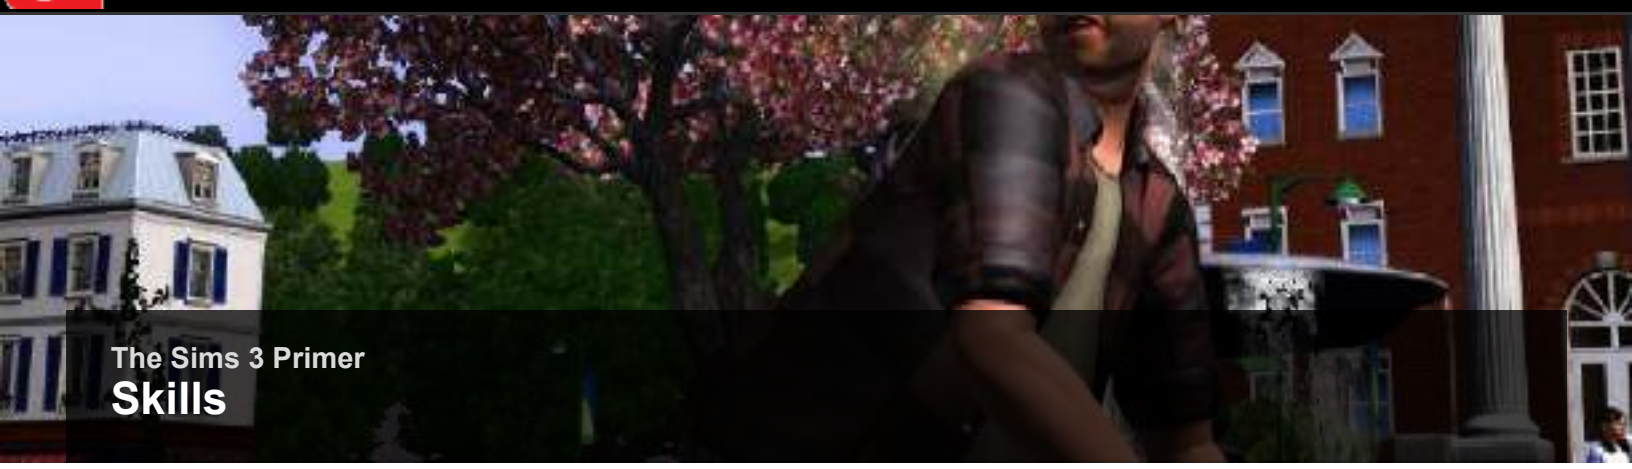
Note

You get many opportunities from being social, so definitely get out there and mingle.

Many opportunities are time-sensitive. If you are presented with an opportunity with a time limit, such as participating in a cook-off, you are given the deadline right up front.

Keep these deadlines in mind because many opportunities actually require a little work. You cannot expect to complete an opportunity with just 10 minutes left on the clock.

To track your active opportunities, use the Opportunity panel. There are three opportunity categories: skill, career, and special. You can only have one opportunity in each category at a time. You cannot stack opportunities or bank them for later.



The Sims 3 Primer

Skills

Sims love to learn—they are just waiting for a little nudge from you. Sims can pick and eventually master a variety of skills, from writing to gardening to learning how to play the guitar.

Learning a skill is a good way to shape a Sim's personality, especially if the skill is aligned with a specific trait, such as the Gardening skill and the Green Thumb trait.

Skills are also a great way for Sims who do not want a traditional career to make money and contribute to the household. Some skills can also be treated as part-time jobs, like growing harvestables or working on a novel.

Development

Any Sim can learn any skill—all it takes is a time commitment and a drive to be the best. Some traits help a Sim master a skill sooner or at least more efficiently. For example, the Bookworm trait lets Sims read faster, which helps speed the process of learning from books.

Some skills can be first learned by reading a book or taking a class, which gives you a full level boost. Learn the first few levels of a skill by doing.

When the levels are getting harder to attain, attend a class or pick up a book. You will reduce the time required to reach that next level.

Use public equipment whenever possible to save money early in your Sim's life. The Athletic skill, for example, is improved by using gym equipment.

Sims learn a little faster when they are in a good mood, so do things that give Sims positive moodlets before and while trying to master a skill. For example, learning the Logic skill by playing chess at the park can give your Sim the Comfy and Beautiful Park moodlets.

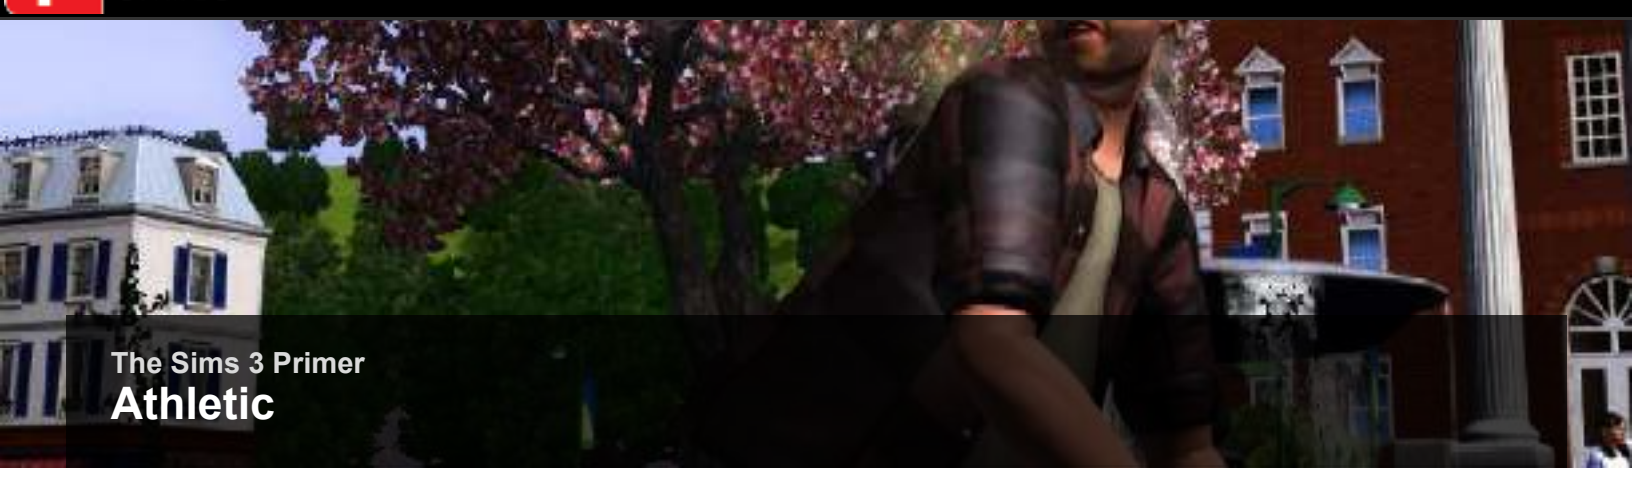
Cheap equipment can slow skill development. At first you may only be able to afford a cheap stove, for example. But when you can afford it, trade up. Your Sim will learn a little faster.

Skill Journal

Sims don't start out with any skills. When a skill is first learned, it is added to the Skill panel, and an entry in the Sim's Skill Journal tracks the development of the skill. The journal charts more than current skill level, though.

Skills that produce tangibles, such as Writing or Painting, have each created work logged in the journal. Other journal entries track time spent doing various activities.

The Skill Journal also details Skill Challenges, which are specific titles bestowed on a Sim who completes a set of requirements.



The Sims 3 Primer

Athletic

Want to feel the burn? Develop the Athletic skill to positively affect your Sim's health in a variety of ways, from body shape to longevity.

There are two types of exercise: strength and cardio. Using the weights improves muscle definition, while cardio drops pounds.

Acquire by : Take Athletic Class, Use Exercise Equipment, Swim, Workout with TV, Workout with Stereo

Development tools : Shut-In Treadmill, Exercise Queen, Pool, TV, Stereo

Development Benefits

Developing the Athletic skill is essential for the Professional Sports career, but it's also useful for the Law Enforcement career.

If Sims want to excel at work, they must hone this skill on home equipment, at the gym or pool, or on the machines at the stadium.

Sims can also exercise at home with the TV or a stereo, but the workout is not as effective as one with dedicated equipment.

The higher the Sim's skill, the longer they can exercise without earning the Fatigued moodlet.

Here are the benefits of developing the Athletic skill:

Level 1 : As soon as Sims hit the first level of this skill, they can choose to jog to locations as exercise.

Level 3 : Sims can earn the Pumped moodlet from extended workouts once they reach level 3.

Level 5 : Once Sims reach level 5 of the development ladder, they also run faster when directed around town on foot via the Go Here interaction.

Level 6 : At level 6, athletic Sims learn the Train interaction, which lets them help other Sims improve their Athletic skill. It requires an exercise machine. When another Sim is getting trained by a level 6 athlete, the exercising Sim loses weight and gains Athletic skill faster than if they were exercising alone.

As the Athletic skill is developed, Sims earn new "tones" for workouts. These special tones modify a workout, which can lead to earning or avoiding certain moodlets.

The Don't Break a Sweat tone is good for minimizing the amount of Hygiene decay so the Grungy moodlet doesn't kick in as soon. Use these tones to get the best possible workout for the current situation.

Don't Break a Sweat (Level 1) : Bad Hygiene is a real problem with extended workouts. Use this tone to work out without a heavy Hygiene decay.

Good Pacing (Level 3) : Good Pacing lets you increase the length of a workout before the Fatigued moodlet takes effect.

Push Self (Level 5) : Use Push Self to increase the speed of building muscle, dropping pounds, and gaining skill. However, after Push Self is used, Sims wake up with the Sore moodlet.

Quick Burst (Level 7) : Quick Burst allows your Sim to get a lot of body shape change and skill much faster than usual, but the Sim gets fatigued and sore much more quickly as well.

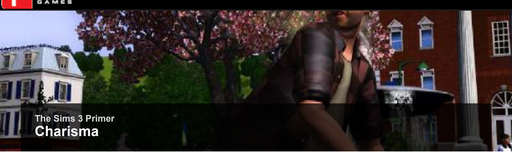
Working out with other tones until fatigued will always yield more skill and body shape change than working out until fatigued using Quick Burst, but Quick Burst gives you faster skill gains.

Skill Challenges

Body Builder : Body Builders have dedicated at least 60 hours to strength workouts. This dedication pays off, because they are never fatigued after strength workouts.

Marathon Runner : Marathon Runners must run at least 500 kilometers before they earn this title. However, accomplishing this incredible feat guarantees them a longer, healthier life.

Fitness Nut : Fitness Nuts have spent 75 hours focusing on cardio workouts. All that time experiencing the burn means they are no longer fatigued after cardio workouts.



The Sims 3 Primer

Charisma

Everybody knows someone who can breeze into a room, seamlessly enter any conversation, and suddenly become the focal point. The key to such feats is Charisma.

This skill is essential for Sims who want to effectively socialize. Tuning this skill unlocks new social interactions that simplify befriending other Sims and developing meaningful relationships.

Acquire by : Take Charisma Class, Read Charisma Manual, Practice Speech in a Mirror

Development tools : Books, Socials, Mirror, Parties

Development Benefits

Enhancing the Charisma skill opens exciting new avenues of conversation as well as a special social that guarantees a smooth recovery from any conversational snafus.

However, developing the skill requires more than just taking a class and then practicing your charismatic moves with a book or by talking into the mirror.

It requires making friends and maintaining relationships during the course of the skill development. Each level of the skill requires a specific number of friends and relationships.

Without these connections, you cannot advance up the skill tree, no matter how long you practice that wolfish grin in the mirror.

Charisma - Development

Level	Required Friends	Required Relationships
4	2	4
5	3	6
6	4	8
7	5	10
8	6	15
9	8	20
10	10	25

Tip

Sims who develop the Charisma skill increase the effectiveness of social interactions at work, such as Meet Co-Workers or Suck Up to Boss.

Note

Whenever you use a positive social, the Charisma skill gets a little boost.

Practice your Charisma skill by working on your speech in the mirror at home.

Charismatic Sims get additional greetings that start a conversation right, such as Amusing Introduction and Friendly Introduction. These greets are more potent than regular greets.

As the skill develops, more greet modifiers appear that increase the social weight of the greeting and can steer the conversation. Here are the modified greetings with each advancing level:

Charisma - Greetings

Level	Greet Modifier	Type of Greet
1	Friendly	Friendly
2	Amusing	Funny
3	Interesting	Impressive
4	Flirty	Romantic
5	Affectionate	Romantic
6	Funny	Funny
7	Impressive	Impressive
8	Hilarious	Funny
9	Loving	Romantic
10	Hot	Romantic

Three special socials unlock as you develop the Charisma skill. Once you reach a specific level, you learn these new socials:

Charming Introduction (Level 1) : Sometimes, introductions are the toughest part of the conversation. Sims with high Charisma levels become more adept at introductions, as seen by the modified greets. Once charismatic Sims reach level 10, their Charming Introduction rockets them into Friend status right away.

Get to Know (Level 3) : This social helps with discovering the traits and interests of other Sims. Once learned, this social becomes more powerful as the Sim approaches level 10 of the skill. Eventually, there is no possibility of rejection when inquiring about traits and interests.

Smooth Recovery (Level 5) : Oops. You said the wrong thing. If you have the Smooth Recovery social, you can try to revive the conversation. If may not always work, but as the skill nears level 10, the chance of success increases.

Skill Challenges

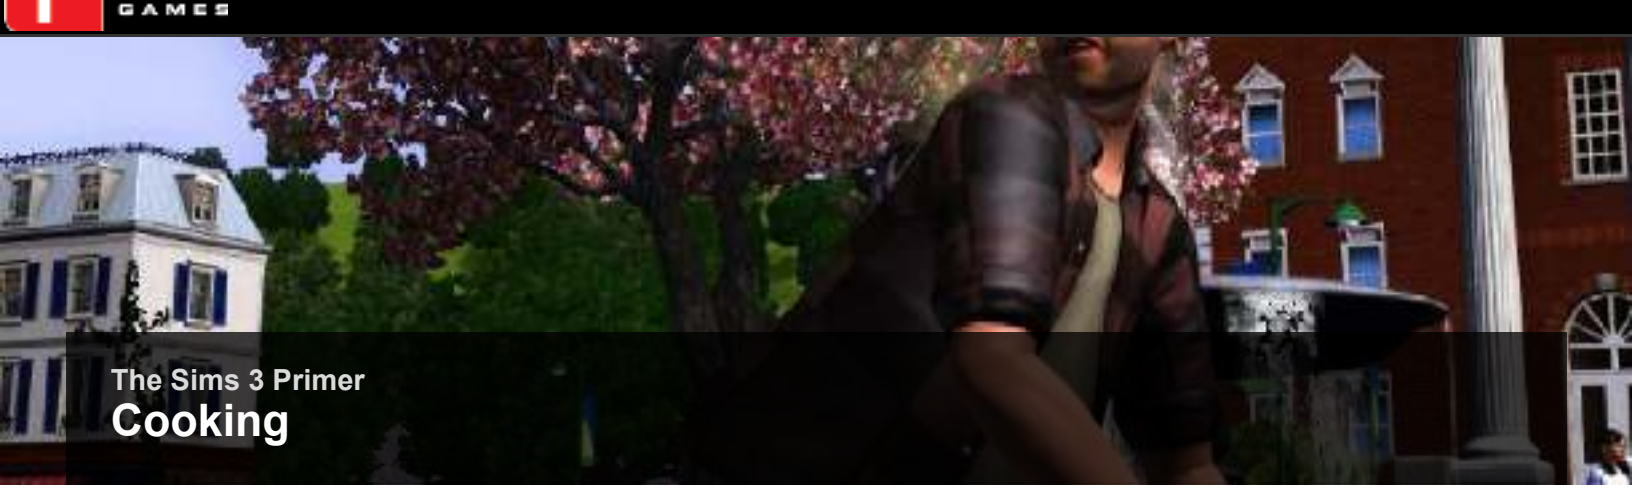
Celebrity : Celebrities are Acquaintances with at least 25 local Sims. Celebrities build relationships faster due to a hefty starting relationship bonus.

Personable : Personable Sims have learned at least 50 traits of their friends and neighbors. They learn traits more quickly when conversing with new people.

Super Friendly : Super Friendly Sims can honestly say they have at least 20 Friends. It seems like an impossibly large number of relationships to juggle, but for Super Friendly Sims, friendships never decay.

Everybody's Best Friend : To be Everybody's Best Friend, have at least 10 Best Friends. Your Friends skip Good Friend and jump immediately to Best Friends.

Comedian : Comedians have successfully told 100 jokes, which amounts to quite a few laughs. Jokes told by Comedians rarely fall flat.



The Sims 3 Primer

Cooking

Save for using the bathroom and sleeping, no activity is more crucial to a Sim than eating. Food is a central part of every Sim's life, so having a Sim around who can actually cook is a boon to everybody's mood.

However, very few Sims are awesome in the kitchen right away—even those with the Natural Cook trait. Cooking must be practiced. It's hard work, but it has great rewards. Very few things offer a pick-me-up quite like a good meal.

Acquire by : Class, Prepare Meals, Read Cookbook

Development tools : Books, Meal Preparation Interactions, Foodstuffs, Recipes

Development Benefits

Sims must eat to survive. At first, Sims have access to just a handful of recipes, but can also just grab quick meals out of the fridge. Quick meals have zero prep time, are eaten quickly, and reduce hunger.

However, quick meals and snacks do not help develop the Cooking skill, nor can they be served to groups of Sims like a full meal.

Tip

Ditch the cheap stove as soon as possible so you stop getting the Uneven Cooking moodlet. Plus, more expensive stoves help with both the speed of preparing a recipe and the quality of the end result.

The shortcomings of quick meals make developing the Cooking skill so important. Not every member of a household needs to excel at the skill, but a general acquaintance with it is very useful.

Prepared meals build the Cooking skill while being made, can serve groups of Sims, and if made well, can improve mood.

Quality of Food

As the Sim develops the skill, the food they make improves. The more recipes learned also improves the variety of dishes served, which has a positive effect on every Sim who eats them

When a Sim first tries to cook a recipe, there is a good chance they will fail and create a disgusting version of the dish. It is still edible, but it hits Sims with a negative moodlet

A recipe's quality is affected by the Sim's level of Cooking skill and the number of times they've cooked the dish. Eventually, a dish the Sim once botched will provide great happiness, inspiring moodlets such as Good Meal and Amazing Meal.

Tip

Recipes that use harvestables grown by a Sim with the Gardening skill also use the quality of the harvest to determine the quality of the meal. The better quality the harvestable, the better the meal.

Recipes Learned

Two types of recipes are opened by developing the Cooking skill: learned recipes and acquired recipes

Learned recipes are purchased in the bookstore, but cannot be opened until the skill reaches a specific level

The acquired recipes are those automatically gifted when the Sim reaches a specific cooking level.

Learned Recipes

Recipe Name	Level Required
Autumn Salad	0
Waffles	0
Mac and Cheese	0
Pancakes	1
Peanut Butter and Jelly	1
Hot Dogs	1
Goopy Carbonara	2
Grilled Cheese	2
Spaghetti	4
Sushi Roll	4
Stu Surprise	5
Hamburger	6
Key Lime Pie	7
Grilled Salmon	8
French Toast	9
Dim Sum	9
Lobster Thermador	10

Acquired Recipes

Recipe Name	Level Required
Ratatouille	1
Fish and Chips	3
Cookies	3
Fruit Parfait	4
Cheesesteak	5
Cobbler	6
Eggs Machiavellian	7
Tri-Tip Steak	8
Stuffed Turkey	9
Baked Angel Food Cake	10
Ambrosia	10

Note

All recipes are tracked in the Cooking Skill Journal, including the number of times each recipe has been made.

Tip

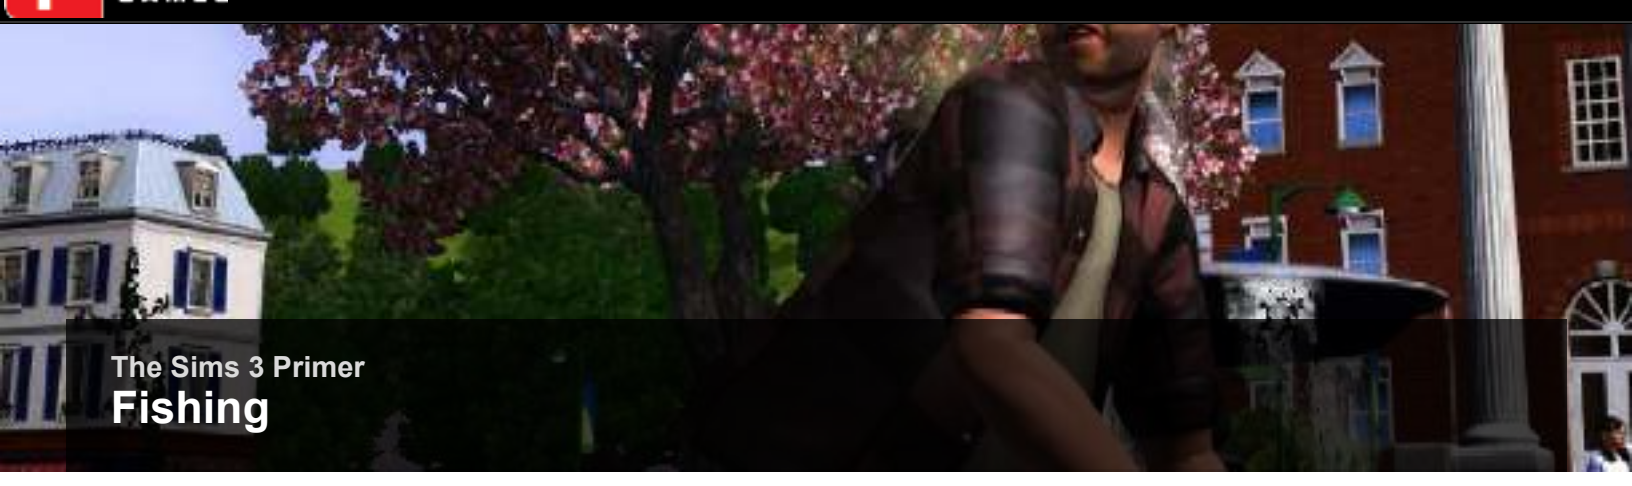
At level 10 of the Cooking skill, you can learn the coveted Ambrosia recipe. This special recipe requires Life Fruit and Death Fruit. If Ambrosia was made properly, eating it will extend your Sim's life a little during the current age.

Skill Challenges

Star Chef : Star Chefs have prepared at least 50 meals, so they clearly know their way around the kitchen. The dishes they prepare are higher quality and thus more pleasing.

World-Class Chef: World-Class Chefs have prepared at least 75 dishes and are masters of the kitchen. World-Class Chefs prepare meals significantly faster.

Menu Maven : Menu Mavens have learned to prepare all recipes. Recipes are earned by improving the Cooking skill and can be purchased at the bookstore. Menu Mavens prepare higher quality food.



The Sims 3 Primer

Fishing

The Fishing skill is good for three things: keeping food on the table, earning money, and relaxing.

Sims with the Angler trait have a head start on other Sims who pick up a rod and reel, but any Sims can take a class to advance the Fishing skill or just plop a bobber in the water and start learning through experience.

Acquire by : Take Fishing Class, Read Fishing Book, Fishing

Development tools : No tools needed

Development Benefits

The Fishing skill begins one of three ways: reading a book, taking a class, or just going out to a body of water and using the Fish interaction. Once the Fishing skill is underway, the skill increases either by continued reading or continued fishing.

Just having a hook under the surface is enough to develop the skill, but this is a slow way to learn. The skill actually gets a bump when you catch a fish. And the bigger the fish, the bigger the skill bump.

Tip

Certain traits in addition to Angler affect the Fishing skill. Loves the Outdoors Sims get great moodlets from just being outside and fishing. Hates Outdoors, Easily Bored, or Clumsy dampen the ability to catch fish.

When a fish is hoisted out of the water, the Sim holds it up and the weight of the fish is automatically logged in the Skill Journal. If it's a new type of fish, that is also noted.

Once the Sim reaches level 3 with the Fishing skill, they can choose the Bait interaction at the water's edge to use a specific type of bait while fishing.

Bait is essential if a Sim hopes to catch more than just the basic fish. Gaining levels also unlocks the ability to catch certain fish. However, just unlocking a type of fish does not guarantee actually catching it.

Using any bait slightly increases the chance of catching all fish. It also drastically increases the chance of catching the fish that loves that specific bait type. Higher quality bait tends to catch bigger fish, but only for fish that specifically like that bait.

So use Perfect bait to catch the biggest fish. You can also use bait to catch fish that are somewhat higher level than your Sim's Fishing skill.

Sims can catch fish up to 3 levels higher than their skill by using the right bait, although it will be harder to catch those fish until the Sim is higher skill.

Each fish has one favorite type of bait, and you should use that bait to catch that fish. Here is a table with the bait that each type of fish prefers:

FISHING

Fish	Skill Level Req	Commonality	Locations Found	Preferred Bait	Min weight	Max weight	Value at min weight	Value atmax weight	SkillPoints forCatching

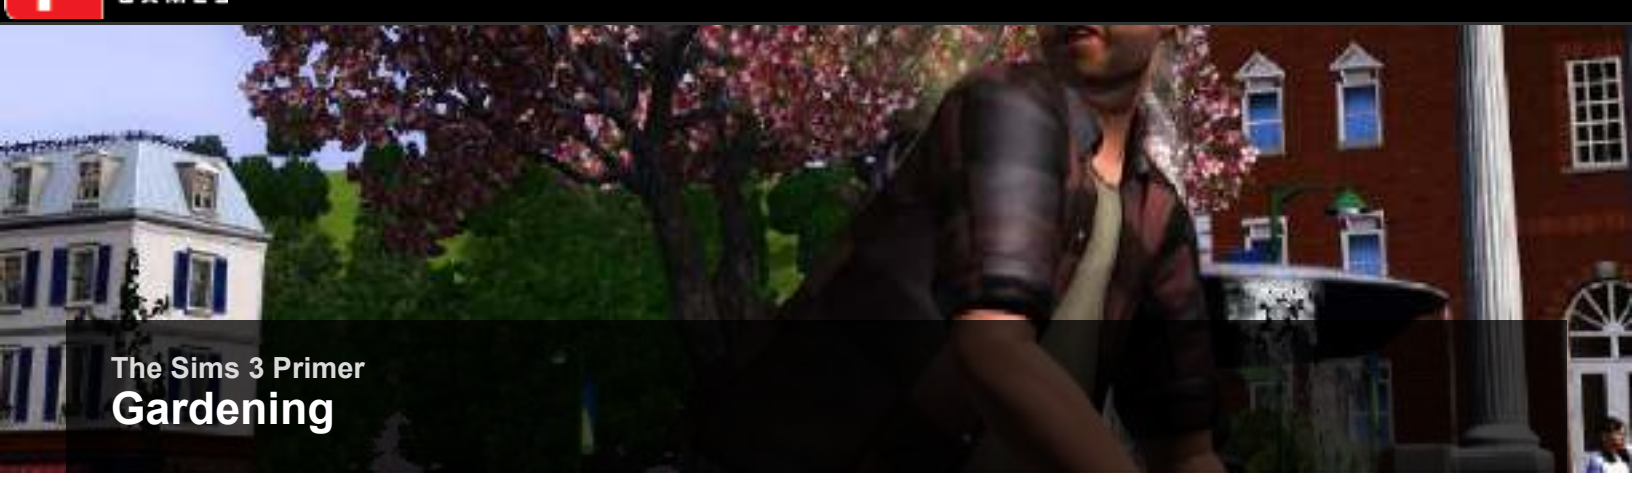
Skill Challenges

Amateur Ichthyologist : Amateur Ichthyologists have caught at least one of every fish type. Their deep understanding of marine life helps them catch the bigger fish.

Commercial Fisherman : Commercial Fisherman have caught at least 350 fish. They catch more fish in less time than normal Sims.



The Sims 3 Primer

Gardening

Gardening is a great skill for Green Thumb Sims, Sims who want to cook, and Sims who like the outdoors. This skill tree lets you turn a backyard into a harvestable-growing paradise. But gardening is a lot of work and takes time to master.

Acquire by : Take Gardening Class, Read Gardening Book, Plant Seed

Development tools : Gardening Books, Seeds

Development Benefits

Learn the Gardening skill by taking a class or reading a Gardening book. You can also plant a seed and cultivate it to start developing the skill.

Once the skill has been acquired, Sims can choose the Plant interaction from seeds and other harvestables in their personal inventories. Once a seed has been planted, Sims can water it.

As they continue leveling, they unlock two more critical interactions: Weed and Fertilize.

Here are the unlockable interactions or specials for the development of the Gardening skill:

Weed (Level 2) : Once the Weed interaction is unlocked, Sims can pull up choking weeds before they damage a harvestable. The higher the skill level, the less time it takes to clear weeds around a plant.

Fertilize (Level 3) : Fertilizing is key to growing the best harvestables. No one fertilizer is better for a particular plant. The quality of the fertilizer is what affects the potential growth of the harvestable.

Uncommon Seeds (Level 5) : Once the Sim reaches this level, they can plant uncommon seeds.

Revive Plant (Level 6) : If a Sim has the Green Thumb trait, this interaction is unlocked at level 6. A dying plant can be rescued with a pretty high success rate by using this interaction on it.

Rare Seeds (Level 7) : Once the Sim reaches this level, they can plant rare seeds.

Special Plants (Levels 8, 9, and 10) : At level 8, you get the first of three special gardening opportunities from the chef at the bistro. There is one opportunity per level: 8, 9, and 10. Once all three have been completed, the Sim receives Omni Plant seeds and the ability to plant them.

Note

What's an Omni Plant? Imagine a plant that grows into whatever fertilizer you give it. Give the Omni Plant a book and the Omni Plant will soon blossom great texts.

Tip

Grow garlic and watermelon for simple cash crops. Just keep planting the highest quality of these harvestables and churn that garden until it becomes a money machine.

The better care you give a plant and the higher your Gardening skill level, the better quality fruit a plant produces. Plants range from Horrifying to Perfect, just like prepared recipes from the Cooking skill. Better quality harvestables are worth more when sold.

To raise the best harvestables, you must show no mercy with your plants. Keep growing as many as you can and dispose of the lowest quality ones, so you keep breeding higher quality harvestables.

Combine this tactic with raising your skill level to keep growing better harvestables. Using quality harvestables in your cooking improves the quality of recipes, which in turn gives out better meal-related moodlets.

Seeds

Sims need seeds to grow harvestables. Not all seeds are easy to grow into successful plants, though. Sims must level up the Gardening skill to plant all types of seeds: common, uncommon, and rare.

Many seeds can just be bought from the EverFresh Supermarket, such as grape or tomato. Just buy the fruit and then plant it. However, Sims can also find seeds by exploring.

Every morning, there are new seeds in new locations, so look around daily to see what's on the ground. The farther away from houses and commerce buildings Sims look, the more likely they are to find uncommon and rare seeds.

Seeds are unknown when found. To discover what the seed will grow, it must be planted and nurtured. Once you grow a harvestable from a found seed, you recognize that seed in the wild.

Fertilizer

There are many different types of fertilizer to use on your plants to help them grow into high-quality harvestables. Here's a full list of the best fertilizers:

Fertilizers

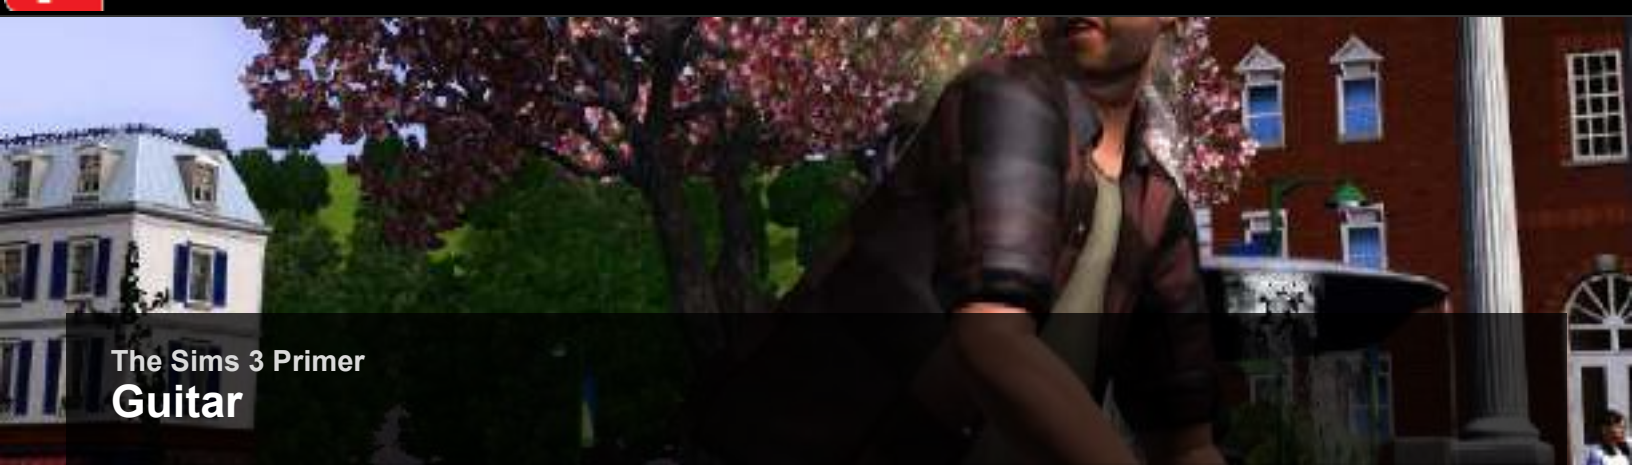
Ingredient	Effectiveness	Fish	Effectiveness
Cheese	1	Anchovy	1
Burger Patty	1	Goldfish	1
Egg	1	Alley Catfish	1
Lettuce	1	Rainbow Trout	2
Tomato	1	Minnow	3
Onion	1	Jellyfish	3
Potato	1	Tuna	3
Apple	1	Salmon	4
Lime	1	Black Goldfish	4
Grapes	1	Swordfish	4
Watermelon	2	Red Herring	5
Steak	3	Tragic Clownfish	5
Bell Pepper	3	Siamese Catfish	5
Garlic	3	Piranha	5
Flame Fruit	3	Blowfish	5
Life Fruit	4	Shark	6
		Lobster	6
		Angelfish	7
		Vampire Fish	7

Skill Challenges

Master Planter : A Master Planter must plant every type of plant available. Once you have mastered the varieties, you can reduce weed growth significantly on future plants.

Botanical Boss : Botanical Bosses must harvest at least 75 Perfect fruits and vegetables. The plants of Botanical Bosses almost never die from neglect.

Master Farmer : Master Farmers have harvested at least 650 fruits and vegetables. The plants of Master Farmers remain watered and fertilized longer, meaning their gardens are more efficient.



The Sims 3 Primer

Guitar

Who doesn't love the gift of music? A smooth jam lilting on a summer's breeze brings joy to all who hear it.

So why not become the source of such aural pleasures by picking up the guitar and developing this skill. The Guitar skill can be enjoyed by any Sim, not just those who have embarked on the Music career.

Acquire by : Take Guitar Class, Play Guitar

Development tools : Guitar

Development Benefits

To get started on the Guitar skill, take a Guitar class or just pick up a guitar for the Sim's household. The guitar can slide into the Sim's personal inventory, so they can take it to the park or the beach.

Once Sims know how to play, they only have a few available compositions.

Only by leveling up the skill does the Sim learn more music and eventually reach a point where they can buy sheet music from the bookstore and really play some impressive tunes.

As the skill improves, the Sim gets better at playing music and makes fewer mistakes. Here's the level progression of the Guitar skill:

Level 1–4 : Sim learns at least two basic practice-level songs per level.

Level 5 : Sim earns three new songs—real songs that other Sims enjoy listening to.

Level 6–10 : Sim learns at least one new song per level and performs it without fail.

Level 5 is particularly important to this skill. At this level, the Sim stops just noodling around with the Play interaction and moves up to the Perform interaction.

Other Sims get the Enjoying Music moodlet if around a performing Sim. Level 5 Sims can also Serenade other Sims, which is a romantic social that can aid a romantic conversation following the song's conclusion.

Guitar-playing Sims can also Play for Tips in public locations. This is not the most lucrative activity, but it does add some extra change to the household bank account.

The higher your skill, the more you make in tips. To really make money with this skill, practice hard and be sure to socialize. Soon, you will receive opportunities to play at parties or venues. That's where the real money is.

Sheet Music

You can buy sheet music from the bookstore or earn it from opportunities and give it to your Sim to practice.

To learn from sheet music, left-click on the music from the Sim's personal inventory and select the Learn interaction.

The Sim starts playing the song and when the meter is full, the Sim knows the song by heart and can perform it.

Caution

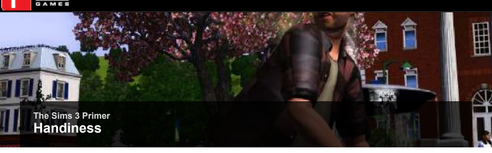
Sheet music cannot be shared among Sims. Once sheet music is learned, it disappears.

Skill Challenges

Master Guitarist : Master Guitarists learn to play every song awarded to them and available for purchase at the bookstore. After learning so many songs, they receive a special master track!

Guitar Star : Guitar Stars must play at 10 parties and venues in the town to earn their title. Afterward, they earn more money for tips and performances.

Money Maker : Earn §5,000 playing the guitar to earn a new master track to perform. Money can be earned through tips or by completing opportunities.



The Sims 3 Primer

Handiness

Stuff breaks. But when it does, it's usually inconvenient. Sims with the Handiness skill are suddenly valuable folks to have around. The Handiness skill is good for repairing broken objects, and can even ensure against future calamity.

Acquire by : Take Handiness Class, Read Handiness Book, Try to Repair an Object

Development tools : Handiness Skill Books, Tinkering with Objects, Repairing an Object, Upgrading an Object

Development Benefits

Once the Handiness skill has been acquired via a course or a book, Sims can further develop it at home by either Tinkering with objects or attempting to Repair a broken object, such as a stove, stereo, dishwasher, or toilet.

Any mechanical or electric object has the potential to break after every use. When an electrical object breaks, it typically smokes or sparks. A broken toilet is clogged and refuses to flush. When this happens, the Repair interaction becomes available.

When the Repair option is selected, a handy Sim will start working on the object. Depending on the level of the Handiness skill, the Sim risks getting electrocuted by the object.

This causes the Singed moodlet, which drops the overall mood. (Remove this moodlet with a bath or shower.) The higher the Handiness skill, the less chance the Sim will be shocked while repairing the object.

This is the risk of trying to fix an electrical object when the Handiness skill has not been adequately developed.

A repaired object is not back to 100 percent. Once an object breaks, it has started its steady downhill slide. The chance of a repaired object breaking again goes up.

The more it breaks and is repaired, the higher the chance of repeat breaks until the object finally goes absolutely kaput and must be replaced.

Tip

If you're lucky, insurance will kick in a few Simoleons to cover the costs of replacing an object destroyed by fire.

Upgrading

Once the Handiness skill reaches level 3, the Sim learns the Upgrade interaction. Upgrading lets a Sim add a new effect or function to an existing object.

This is not a universal interaction once learned. Subsequent levels after earning the Upgrade interaction unlock extra upgrades that the handy Sim can install.

Upgrades can provide many benefits, from making an object unbreakable or self cleaning or fireproof to strictly improving it, for instance the stereo's speakers can be improved to produce a bigger Enjoying Music moodlet.

Here is the list of objects that can be upgraded, the function of the upgrade, and the level required to perform the upgrade:

Upgrades

Level	Object	Upgrade	Failure Effect
4	Stove	Make stove fireproof so it never catches fire	Stove catches fire and burns up
6	Trash Compactor	Improve capacity	Electrocution
6	Shower	Improve water pressure to cause the Exhilarated moodlet	Causes puddle that must be mopped
7	Gas Fireplace	Fireplace starts when Sim enters room	Fire breaks out in fireplace
7	Stove	Improves food quality	None
8	Stereo	Increase mood gain of Enjoying Music	Electrocution
8	Stereo	Wire House with Speakers so music plays in all rooms	Electrocution
8	Computer	Improves graphics to make games more fun for Sims	Electrocution
6 through 10	Television	Unlock extra channels. Higher the skill, the more channels unlocked.	Electrocution

Tip

Each object can only have one upgrade at a time, so choose wisely.

At level 3, a Sim can add a self-cleaning upgrade to objects that get dirty, such as the stove or refrigerator. At level 6 of the skill, Sims can upgrade any mechanical/electrical object so that it is unbreakable with the Prevent Breakage interaction.

This upgrade takes time, but doing so helps develop the skill. Success with these upgrades is not guaranteed. If the upgrade fails (there's a small chance of this happening) then the object is either broken beyond repair or gets dirty and must be cleaned.

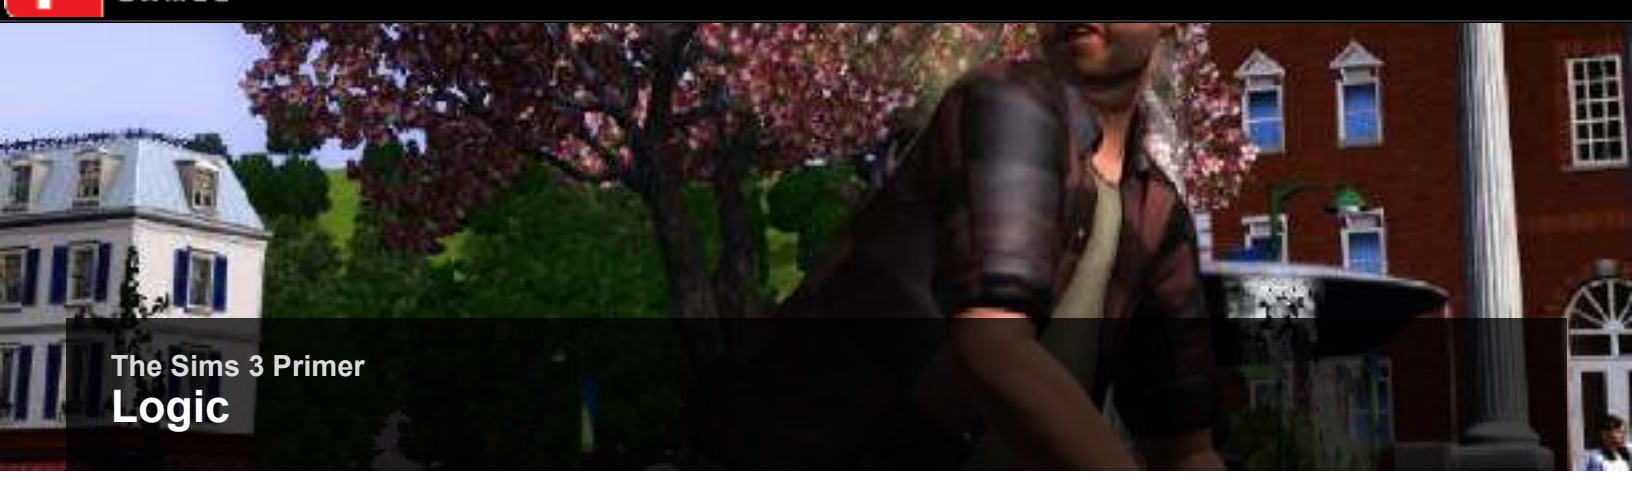
Finally, at level 10, the Sim gets a membership card to a guild. Build Mode objects are then 25 percent off.

Skill Challenges

Electrician : Electricians have repaired at least 10 electrical objects. The experience gained means they will never be electrocuted by an electrical object again.

Plumber : Plumbers have repaired at least 10 plumbing objects. They are so good at repairs that plumbing objects repaired by them never break again.

Tinkerer : Tinkerers have finished at least 10 unique upgrades on household items. Installing the "Unbreakable" upgrade on multiple objects only counts as one unique upgrade, so it helps to experiment with different upgrade options! Tinkerers never fail when upgrading objects.



The Sims 3 Primer

Logic

Intelligence is always a treasured asset, so pursue the Logic skill to improve your Sim's brainpower. The Logic skill involves the use of the telescope and chess set objects, but also gives Sims additional computer interactions.

Acquire by : Take Logic Class, Read Logic Book, Play Chess, Use Telescope

Development tools : Chess Set, Telescope, Logic Books, Computer

Development Benefits

The development of the Logic skill starts with attending the Logic class at the science facility, reading a Logic book, or playing chess at a chess board (at home or in a public location). This skill has many benefits beyond the ability to win chess matches.

For example, this skill unlocks the Solve the Unsolvable interaction with the computer, which gives the logic-minded Sim a chance to earn some Simoleons at home. (This interaction is not a guaranteed success.)

As this skill is developed, it shortens the time it takes to develop other skills, with the exception of Athletic and Charisma.

This skill also increases the chance of winning all varieties of games. Winning games gives Sims a mood boost.

At level 3 of the Logic skill, Sims have a new interaction with the telescope. They can now do more than just Stargaze, they can Search Galaxy.

This is another money-making opportunity for Sims, as every new celestial body found earns them a little extra cash from the science facility.

New finds are logged in the Skill Journal, too. When a Sim finds a new object in the heavens, they can name it.

At level 5, Sims unlock the ability to Tutor other young Sims: children and teens. Tutoring not only develops the Logic skill, but it helps the student and can provide a mood bump.

Tutored Sims always do better in school, so if a child suffers from lagging grades, interacting with a logical Sim is a great remedy

If the mentored student has the Logic skill, too, they develop the skill while being tutored, but at a slower pace.

Tip

There is a "hidden" skill: Chess. Like other skills, the more you play chess, the better you get at it. You will soon start winning more and more games.

At level 5 Logic skill, Sims can start talking about the things they find while using the telescope. Talking about a celestial object is a friendly social that improves the building relationship between two Sims.

However, for a real social bump, tell a Sim that you named a celestial object after them. This instant relationship builder helps with making new friends or developing a romantic relationship.

At level 10 Logic skill, the Sim can tutor any other Sim from teen to elder in any of the skills with the exception of Athletic and Charisma.

The catch is that the logical Sim must also have the skill they are teaching and they cannot teach past their current level.

For example, if Catherine has level 5 Writing skill, she cannot tutor Chris past level 5. This development process is much faster than reading a skill-related book but not as fast as actually practicing the skill.

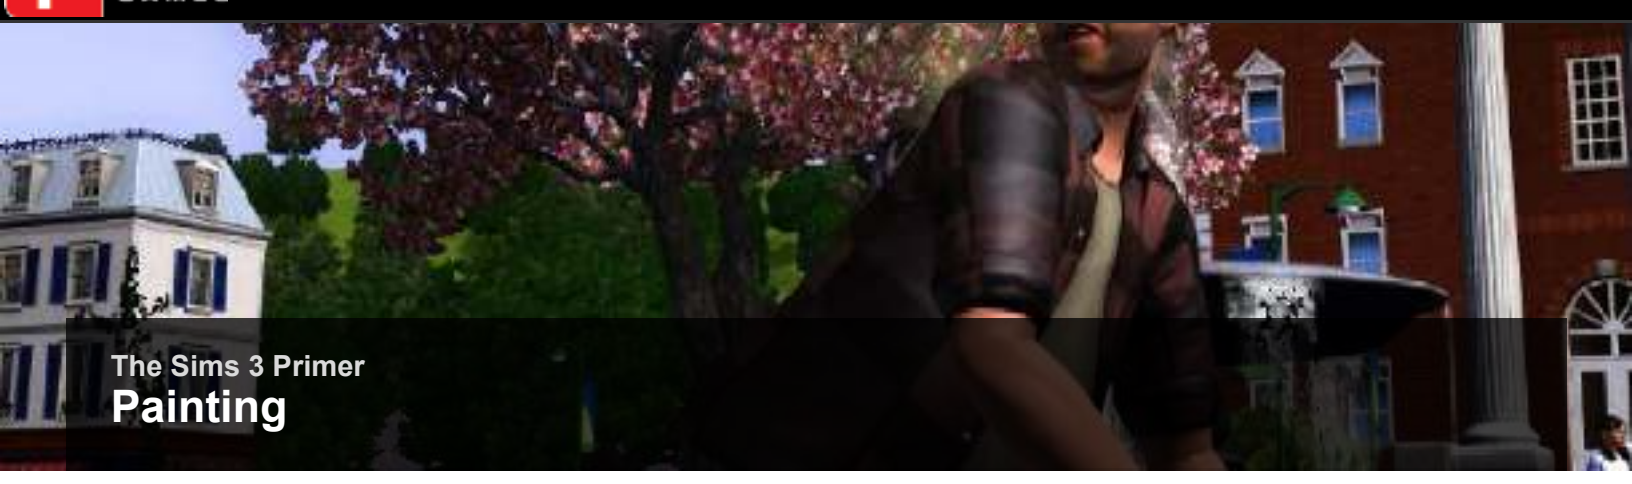
Skill Challenges

Grand Master : Chess Grand Masters have reached the coveted fifth level of the competitive chess circuit. Those who engage Grand Masters in chess improve their abilities in Logic and Chess twice as quickly.

Celestial Explorer : Celestial Explorers have discovered 20 celestial bodies through their telescope. Their extensive knowledge of the heavens allows them to discuss the stars with their friends and neighbors.

Teacher Extraordinaire : Teachers Extraordinaire have spent at least 20 hours tutoring young Sims. Because of this, they are twice as effective when tutoring.

Skill Professor : Skill Professors have spent at least 30 hours tutoring other Sims in different skills. Because of this, they are twice as effective when teaching skills to others.



The Sims 3 Primer

Painting

One of the hardest skills to develop, Painting is also one of the most rewarding. Watch in wonder as Sims create works of art before your very eyes, working from inspiration they gathered from themselves or your own input.

Like Writing, this is a personalized skill that requires a lot of direction from you. But once this skill is mastered, it's not only satisfying, but very lucrative. Great paintings can sell for a pretty penny.

Acquire by : Take Painting Class, Practice at Easel

Development tools : Easel

Development Benefits

The Painting skill is actually fairly easy to acquire, but it is not exactly cheap. You must either pay for a Painting class at the community school or spring for an easel.

With an easel, use the Practice interaction on the easel to pick up a brush and just mess around. After a considerable amount of time, the skill is acquired.

Once level 1 of the Painting skill has been acquired, though, the development path is pretty clear: practice, practice, practice.

The Dabble interaction is replaced by Practice and you can choose the size of the canvas you want the Sim to practice on. The smaller the canvas, the faster the painting is completed.

The size of the canvas also factors into the price a painting fetches, but more on that in a moment.

The Practice interaction disappears when there is a canvas on the easel—then you can only continue practicing unless you chose to Scrap the Painting and start all over with a new one.

Once a Painting is completed, a Sim can either Sell it and earn a few Simoleons, put it in personal inventory, or drag it right onto the wall. You can also give the painting a name.

At level 5 of the skill, Paint replaces Practice as the interaction with the easel. Now the Sim can start earning money with this skill.

As soon as the Sim unlocks skill level 6, they can paint a Brilliant painting, which is worth a decent number of Simoleons and can add environmental bonuses to rooms and inspire the Decorated moodlet.

At level 9, the Sim has the chance to create a Masterpiece painting, which is even more valuable than a Brilliant painting.

The value of a painting is determined by several factors. The canvas size partially determines the value, as does the number of paintings a Sim has produced.

Brilliant or Masterpiece paintings get massive value boosts, too. There is a degree of randomness in a painting's value.

One somewhat morbid factor greatly enhances a painting's value: death. If the painter is deceased, the painting's appreciation accelerates.

Tip

At skill level 5, a Sim's paintings increase in value over time. Keep checking the painting to see its current appreciation.

Brownie Bites

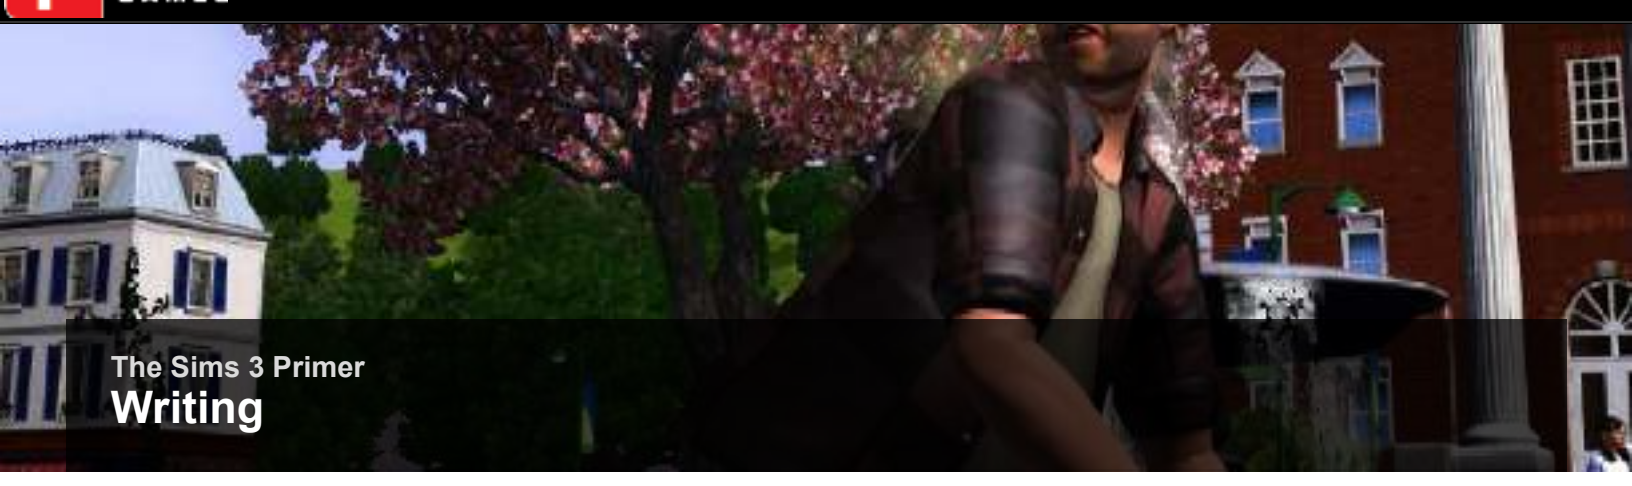
This is a little sinister, but it's a great trick. If you have an elder Sim in the house, make them a painter. Concentrate on that skill. Make them painting factories. Get them to produce as many quality works as possible before they die. Then, once they do pass, all of their paintings are worth more!

Skill Challenges

Brushmaster : Brushmasters have painted at least 30 paintings, and as a result paint much faster than normal painters.

Proficient Painter : Proficient Painters have proven their worth by painting at least six Brilliant paintings. They then paint far more Brilliant paintings and Masterpieces than less proficient painters.

Master Painter : Master Painters have painted at least five Masterpieces. Every painting they sell is worth much more than normal paintings.



Writing

Writing is another personalized skill that is deeply involving but also rewarding. Sims who learn the Writing skill unlock a world of possibilities when they sit down to the computer.

Naturally, the Bookworm Sim has a jump on this skill thanks to the relevant trait. But any Sim with time and dedication can become a bestselling author.

Acquire by : Attend Writing Class, Practice Writing at Computer

Development tools : Computer, Books

Development Benefits

Once the Writing skill has been acquired, Sims have several new interactions at the computer.

The Refine Writing Skill is a good way to continue developing the skill. No novels come out of this activity—just skill development. Once a writer reaches level 2 of the skill, they can start writing novels.

When the Sim pushes back from the computer, the development is added to the Skill meter.

Continue Writing Novel and Scrap Current Novel are two more interactions that affect a novel-in-progress. A scrapped novel tosses out an incomplete work but the skill development remains.

Various novel genres are unlocked as the skill is further developed. The higher the genre in the skill tree, the more it is worth when published.

Here are the genres and the levels required to unlock them, and the reactions they can cause their readers:

Novel Genres Unlocked By Writing

Genre	# of Books Required
Fantasy	Write 3 sci-fi novels
Satire	Write 3 humor novels
Vaudeville	Write 3 of each: drama, sci-fi, humor, mystery, romance

Novel Genres Unlocked By Skill Level

Genre	Level
Fiction	0
Non-Fiction	0
Science Fiction	1
Trashy Novel	2
Drama	3
Humor	5
Romance	10
Masterpiece	10

Caution

You can only work on one novel at a time. If you want to start a new novel in a newly unlocked genre, you must scrap the current novel.

Royalties

A Sim who's writing a novel regularly submits chapters to an agent and gets a small stipend. It's enough to live on, but nothing extravagant. Once a novel has been completed, though, the royalties start rolling in.

When the novel is finished, the Sim is immediately told if the book is good or not and if it is a success.

The royalty amount is listed, as well as how the amount will be paid out. (Typically, royalties are paid over the course of several weeks with lump sums dropped into the household account at a specific time on a specific day.)

The royalty amount is decided by: level of Writing skill, desirability of the genre (check the Skill Journal, which also tracks the number of books written and the amount pulled in so far), and a certain degree of randomness.

The author's traits can also affect the amount of royalties paid.

Here are the traits that boost the profitability of specific genres:

Traits - Genres

Genre	Trait
Trashy Novel	Flirty
Drama	Commitment Issues
Sci-Fi	Computer Whiz, Genius
Humor	Good Sense of Humor, Inappropriate, Mean-Spirited
Satire	Grumpy, Hot-Headed, Over-Emotional
Mystery	Genius
Romance	Hopeless Romantic
Historical	Perfectionist
Children's Book	Artistic, Childish, Family Oriented
Vaudeville	Bookworm
Autobiography	Charismatic, Unlucky, Daredevil, Insane, Kleptomaniac

Skill Challenges

Speed Writer : Speed Writers are so prolific that they've earned §15,000 in royalties. Speed Writers write much faster than normal writers.

Prolific Writer : Prolific Writers have written at least 20 books in their career. They are so well known that they tend to write far more Hits and Best-sellers than their counterparts.

Specialist Writer : Writers must pen at least five novels in a specific genre to be known as a Specialist Writer. Such Specialist Writers write far more Hits and Best-sellers in their particular genre than most.

Relationships in The Sims 3 actually unfold not that differently from those in the real world. How you treat other Sims is the biggest factor in your overall relationship with them.

If you treat another Sim, expect them to get upset in the immediate conversation and for that to have a lasting effect on your relationship.

Conversely, a constant stream of support or praise will boost the immediate interaction and lead to a longer-lasting positive relationship.

Developing a successful romance means spotting if the other party is receptive to your advances and knowing when to cool your jets.

The social structure of The Sims 3 is not navigated with obvious metrics. There is a touch of mystery in conversations that makes socializing more organic.

You need to consider the current attitude of the Sim in the conversation, often referred to as the Target. (Your current Sim is known as the Actor.)

That attitude affects the long-term status of your relationships with different Sims.

Let's detail some basic concepts that will assist with understanding how conversations and the Sim's mood affect relationships (CTR), short-term context (STC), and commodities.

Understanding these three elements is the key to brushing back some of the mystery of social interaction.

Long-Term Relationship (LTR)

The long-term relationship represents the state of the relationship between two Sims, which extends beyond the time during which a conversation is taking place.

LTR essentially describes the way two Sims view each other at a given moment. Every Sim outside the family starts out as a Stranger.

Once initial contact is made, the LTR moves up to Acquaintance and can never fall back into Stranger.

However, Acquaintance is the proverbial fork in the road. From here, the LTR can blossom into friendship or deteriorate into rivalry.

Two LTR is visually measured by the bar below the portrait of the Sim you are conversing with. If the relationship develops in a positive manner, the right half of the bar fills.

Positive relationship status is noted with green. If the relationship is souring, that meter empties back out and can even dip into the left side, which is red. The red bar denotes a negative LTR.

Note

The natural tendency of the LTR is to slowly work toward the middle point of the relationship spectrum. Once you gain some basic Acquaintance territory, Decay occurs naturally with each passing day that you do not continue a Sim you have a relationship with.

How to achieve the different LTRs is explained in the Friendships (and Enemies) section of this chapter, but here is a list of all the LTRs:

Stranger	Romantic Interest
Acquaintance	Ex-Spouse
Disliked	Ex
Distant Friend	Enemy
Friend	Old Enemies
Good Friend	Fiancé
Best Friend	Fiancée
Best Friends Forever (teens only)	Spouse

Short-Term Context (STC)

Short-term contexts are what a Sim thinks about the other Sim in the course of the current conversation, not as an LTR. The STC is displayed in the conversation box in the Actor's mood and the conversation emblem.

For example, the Sim may not "like" every Sim he/she is family-ensuring." STC is affected by the kind of socials used in a conversation.

Each social has a commodity attached to it that directs the course of a conversation.

These are all of the STCs:

Dull	Very Friendly
Dole	Annoying
Intellectually Tedious	Funny
Creepy	Hilarious
Frightening	Flirty
Very Scary	Seductive
Impolite	Hot
Insulting	Awkward
Unforgivably Rude	Very Awkward
OK	Stunned
Friendly	Odd

Not all STCs are symmetrical. One Sim can have a totally different impression of a conversation than the other.

The only symmetrical STCs are those associated with the following commodities: friendly, funny, amorous, and stunned.

So only sweeter than serving cherry-flavored Bubble Pie with a side of Bubble Brew tea.

STC also modulates the way socials are accepted. Instead of just hot and cold, STCs and their respective commodities temper reactions.

Depending on your LTR and STC, you can see different degrees of reaction to a social. Trying to take a Sim on the cheek in the context of the Flirty STC will be a lot more successful than the Friendly STC.

Note

The STC of a conversation contributes to the kind of decay an LTR undergoes each day.

Commodity

So, each STC is associated with a commodity? What's a commodity? Think of these as the general categories a social or STC falls under.

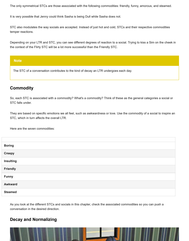
They are based on specific emotions we all feel, such as awkwardness or love. Use the commodity of a social to inspire an STC, which in turn affects the overall LTR.

Here are the seven commodities:

Boring
Creepy
Insulting
Friendly
Funny
Awkward
Steamed

As you look at the different STCs and socials in this chapter, check the associated commodities so you can push a conversation in the desired direction.

Decay and Normalizing



Relationships do not operate under inertia. They decay over time if not tended to, even if that time period is as short as 24 hours. This is why regular socializing is so important.

Decay is not necessarily a negative slide.

While positive relationships can indeed decay into mere Acquaintance, a negative relationship can normalize into the far more workable Acquaintance. (Apparently there isn't always grudge sports like tic-tac-toe.)

Tip

Decay can be erased by something as simple as a phone call.

As mentioned, the STC of a conversation contributes to LTR decay. Those commodities dictate the decay. The amount of decay is also determined by the LTR itself.

An LTR once worn, which starts heading toward positive territory, will have a different amount of decay from a specific Commodity than a negative LTR, which is below zero.

My hand math on-screen shows the numerical value of an LTR, but you can sort of eyeball it.

Here's an example of how this decay works: Jenny and Sasha are Good Friends. If their last encounter was hostile, then on the next day, their two LTR will decay to be Friends.

Conversely, if Jenny and Sasha have the Disliked LTR, the relationship will normalize into Acquaintance if the last STC was Friendly.

Note

Decay and normalization are not confined only to friends and pre-marriage Sims. This also applies to familial relationships, such as father or wife.

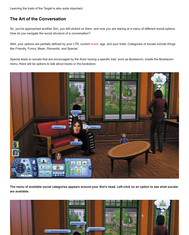
However, the levels of block and flat deeper than those of friends, so it takes a lot more to adversely affect a familial relationship. But that's cannot be done.

You can absolutely sour a familial relationship with insulting socials.

Friendships (and Enemies)

Now that we've explained the four basics of socialization—LTR, STC, commodity, and decay—let's look at how relationships bloom and wither, and what you can do to affect the course of those relationships.

Naturally, Sims want friends. Social is a need, after all. Socializing and having friends have various effects on the course of your Sims' lives.



Friendships are a universally positive thing. Having friends, particularly in an expanded social circle, opens you up to a wealth of opportunities for scoring good moodlets.

Positive moodlets are the key to earning those coveted Lifetime Rewards. Friendship can result in such pleasing moodlets as Flattered or Really Decorated, such as if you are invited over to a friend's house that has some great environmental bonuses.

Achieving the different LTRs is done through conversations, and conversations are made up of socials. But there is much more to a successful LTR than just employing a handful of socials.

A Sim's personality is hugely important in determining which socials can be used—and should be used. And it's not only the traits of the Actor that matter.

Learning the traits of the Target is also quite important.

The Art of the Conversation

So, you've approached another Sim, you've left-clicked on them, and now you are staring at a menu of different social options. How do you navigate the social structure of a conversation?

Well, your options are partially defined by your LTR, current mood, age, and your traits. Categories of socials include things like Friendly, Funny, Mean, Romantic, and Special.

Special treats is a social category that's encouraged by the Actor having a specific trait, such as Bookworm. Inside the Bookworm menu, there will be options to talk about books or the bookstore.

The menu of available social categories appears around your Sim's head. Left-click on an option to see what socials are available.

Now, what's a social from this category to add it to the action queue.

Let's say I select a social. It is added to your list of activities in the upper-right corner, just as if you were stacking interactions with objects.

When a current social ends, the next one automatically begins.

But stacking socials is not a one-strategy because you do not want to just babble away about a topic that the other Sim is not interested in listening to.

Use socials and their waten for reactions. A positive social with a positive effect is noted with a chime and a blue symbol of two Sims next to each other.

A negative reaction is noted by two red Sims and a minus symbol.

Being Boring

Talking about the same things over and over gets boring to most Sims. The positive effect of a positive social is weakened the more one use it. Repeating a social can also affect the STC.

Continuous droning about the same subjects will nudge the STC into Dull, Dole, or Insufferably Tedious territory. If the conversation ends on one of those STCs, the LTR suffers.

When a relationship is suffering due to a boring conversation, not symbols appear over the Sims' heads.

The default number of times you can repeat a social without getting boring is two. And if you break apart a conversation, you can use a social more than twice without any STC worries.

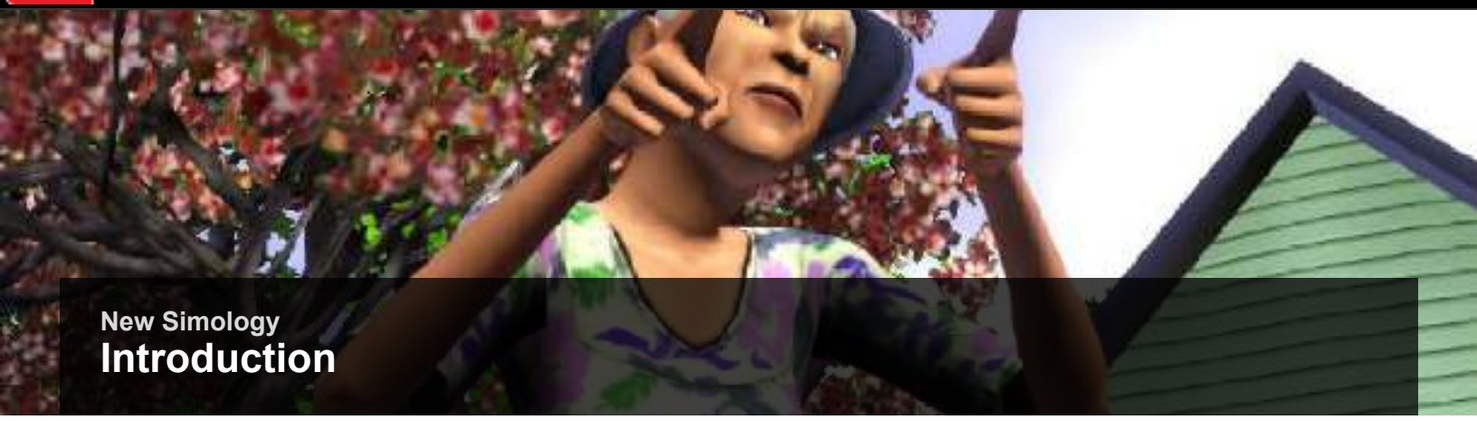
Some socials can be used more than twice without dullness setting in, such as Chat. Chat has four uses before it is boring in a single conversation.

However, it can be "recharged" so that the social can be used six times before it is boring. To recharge a social, you just need to break it up in the conversation.

For example, let's say you use Chat two times in a row. The other Sim is not bored, but is about to be if you use it one more time. So, you change course and Talk About Books.

After that social runs its course, you have recharged Chat once. Now you can use Chat again without it being boring.

However, if you need to use it again without another recharge, the social would be considered boring.



New Simology

Introduction

Very few things define us quite like our ambitions. Everybody has big dreams, your Sims included.

The fantastic careers of Ambitions are just as much of a journey as visiting the far-flung locations offered in World Adventures.

And to prepare your Sims for chasing those dreams and goals, you have new building blocks for your Sims' personalities.

New traits help shape them as they emerge from Create a Sim and start to fulfil their dreams in their new neighbourhood.

New traits, of course, means new wishes and opportunities - both large and small.

In addition to new careers, Sims may also learn and develop new skills: Inventing and Sculpting. These new skills, combined with skills from The Sims 3, can be key to career success.

So, use this chapter to help plot the personalities of ne Sims as well as the growth of previous Sims. But don't think you can control everything that's about to happen.

When you exit Create a Sim and start interacting with the community, learning new skills, and taking on all the different jobs, the only constant is surprise.

Character Changes

Create a Sim has been updated with new features, including a new Gender Options menu, Pregnancy Tracker, and Body Shape Presets. Create a Sim has also been updated to allow the creation of Sims that are over the age of 18.

Gender Options

Gender Options is a new menu that allows you to customize your Sim's gender presentation. Here you can change your Sim's Gender Preference and Gender Identity.

Changing your Sim's Gender Preference will affect your Sim's romantic interactions with other Sims. This is the same as changing your Sim's Sexual Orientation in Edit Sim.

Changing your Sim's Gender Identity will affect how your Sim and other Sims refer to your Sim. For example, if your Sim's Gender Identity is female, other Sims will refer to your Sim as a girl, woman, she, her, and hers.

Your Sim's Gender Identity will not affect their body type or their clothing options. Your Sim's body type is determined by their Body Shape Preset, and their clothing options are determined by their Outfit Category.

Gender Options has a new Gender Identity Preset menu. Here you can select from a list of Gender Identity Presets, or you can create your own Gender Identity Preset.

Tattoos

Tattoos can be added to Sims in Edit Sim and Create a Sim. You can add tattoos using the Tattoo Tool.

The Tattoo Tool allows you to add tattoos to your Sim's body. You can add tattoos to the following areas: Head, Torso, Left Arm, Right Arm, Left Leg, and Right Leg.

Tattoos can be added to the

C = Child
T = Teen
Y = Young Adult
A = Adult
E = Elder
Social Available When?: What prompts the use of the social

New Venues and Real Estate

New Venues

The introduction of new careers such as Firefighter and Stylist means neighborhoods now need new workplaces.

These new workplaces are not like those found in The Sims 3. Instead of your Sim vanishing for several hours, you actually follow your Sim inside and direct their career activities.

But Ambitions includes more than just a handful of new venues for careers. There are new community lots associated with the two skills: Inventing and Sculpting.

Inventors will be keen on visiting the junkyard, where they can collect scrap metal to use in creations back home or salvage busted objects.

The consignment store is a good place for Sims to sell their goods, too, such as toys created by inventors, statues made by sculptors, or other objects like paintings.

So, it's not just new careers you're getting with Ambitions. Your neighborhood is about to become a more lively place, full of new locations to visit for commerce, fun, and socialization.

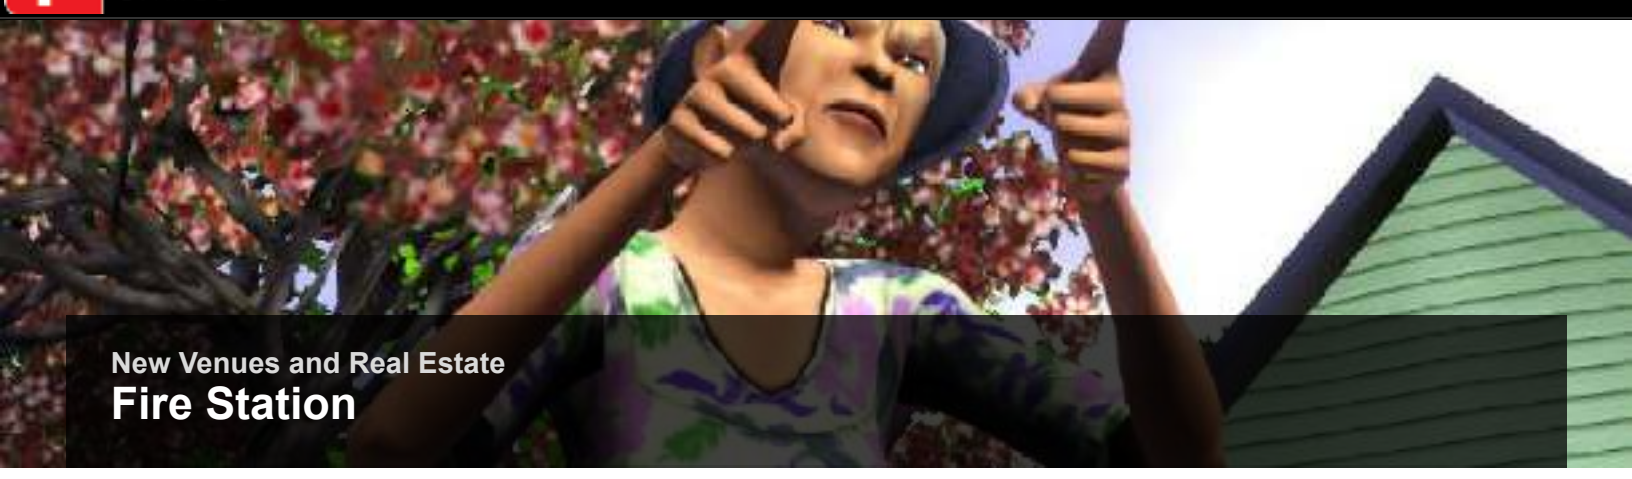
Note

If you move a new household into Twinbrook, Sunset Valley, or Riverview, the town is already equipped with all of the new venues.

However, if you play Ambitions with an existing household from either The Sims 3 or one started within World Adventures, you must follow the easy-to-use new venue installer the first time you start up the game.

Simply place the new venues in your existing neighborhood in locations that are properly sized for the venue.

This system is very similar to the Edit Neighborhood function you used in The Sims 3 to rearrange the town, if so desired. Once you have the new venues in place, you're ready to go.



New Venues and Real Estate

Fire Station

Few things shatter a household like a fire that consumes years of hard work and priceless family treasures.

Thankfully, each town now has a brand-new fire station. Fire stations are where Sims in the new active Firefighter career report for work during scheduled shifts.

Primary Use

The fire station in each town looks very similar and has identical functions. The primary use is a workplace.

When a Sim accepts a job with the local fire department, this is where he or she reports during scheduled days. Within the fire station, Firefighters maintain equipment (such as the fire engine or alarm system).

Firefighters can also socialize, exercise, and blow off a little steam between emergencies. It is typical to see at least one Firefighter at the station at all times.

Note

The Firefighter career is fully detailed in the Professions Guide chapter.

Additional Activities

Although the fire station is primarily a venue for the Firefighter career, it contains objects that can be used for other pursuits.

An exercise room in the basement lets Sims work on the Athletic skill, which is useful for the Firefighter career. (Thankfully, there are also showers on-site for washing off the funk from a big workout.)

A socialization area offers couches and games, and a full kitchen lets Sims take care of hunger pangs. Outside, Sims will find a trampoline for fun and socialization.

Tip

When two Sims jump on the trampoline together, it builds their relationship. Good relationships with co-workers mean speedy promotions and a great daily mood.

Sims developing the Inventing skill can use the Inventor's workstation at the fire station. Early in a new household, using a community object like this saves Simoleons.

Plus, it's a great way for a Firefighter to sneak in some skill development between emergencies and foster an alternate stream of income.

Salon

The new salon is different from the existing day spa.

Whereas that venue is dedicated to pampering (and it remains a good place to get a mood boost), the salon is a place of business that you may enter and interact with other Sims regardless of whether you are engaged in the Stylist career.

Primary Use

For a Sim in the Stylist career, the salon is a workplace. During scheduled shifts, Stylists hang out at the salon and attend to clients who want to make changes to their personal appearances.

When potential clients enter the salon, a stylist should talk to them and then bring them to a station (either the styling station or a tattoo chair) to begin the job.

Once the client is involved, you can perform the desired makeover or tattoo within a Create a Sim–like tool.

Additional Activities

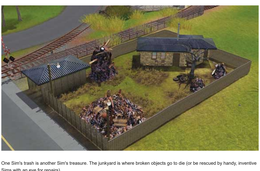
Even though the salon is a career venue, any Sim can visit it to either socialize with other Sims or receive a makeover. The salon has multiple stations for makeovers, wardrobe changes, or tattoos.

Simply interact with the new station to initiate the desired makeover. The general rule is that as long as there is at least one styling station or tattoo chair in the salon, there is one Sim to attend to it.

Note

For more information about giving your Sim a tattoo, please see the New Simology chapter. The New Object catalog includes the available interactions with salon objects, such as the tattoo chairs.

Junkyard



One Sim's trash is another Sim's treasure. The junkyard is where broken objects go to die (or be rescued by handy, inventive Sims with an eye for repairs).

Giant stacks of scrap provide ample building blocks for inventors working on new objects or sculptors who decide to work in metal.

Searching a junkyard for scrap is much cheaper than buying it directly from a workstation, but consumes much more time.

Primary Use

Rummaging for objects is the main activity at the junkyard. Each junkyard has at least two scrap piles for Sims to dig through and collect scrap for inventing or sculpting.

When collecting scrap, Sims approach a sparkling junk pile (sparkles mean there is scrap to be collected) and start digging.

After some time has elapsed, your Sim reports how much scrap was found.

Once an inventor reaches level 6, he or she can detonate piles at junkyards, too. Detonations produce more scrap than just sifting through a pile.

Tip

Remember the Scrap Collection Skill Challenge. After collecting 1,000 pieces of scrap, the Scrap Collector digs through junk piles much faster and finds more pieces of scrap.

Note

The new neighborhood of Twinbrook has two junkyards: the small Juan's Pick 'n Pull and the large Bayless Memorial Junkyard. You are not required to place both sizes of junkyards in your existing neighborhoods.

Found Objects

Scrap isn't the only thing Sims gather at a junkyard.

There is a chance your Sim will also find objects during each junkyard visit (per day) that can be fixed up and used on their lot. As you can imagine, this can save a household real Simoleons.

Those found objects, though, can also just be carted home and detonated for scrap.

There is a degree of randomness for the objects that appear in your neighborhood junkyard.

Use these maps of the two different sizes of junkyards to see where objects are likely to spawn and then reference the chart to see which objects could possibly appear.

Consignment Store

Everybody loves a deal. At the consignment store, Sims can search for bargains on secondhand objects or things produced by creative Sims, such as inventions or paintings.

But the consignment store is not just a place to shop. Sims are encouraged to use it as a secondary source of income, especially if they pursue a lifestyle not aimed at following the traditional career ladder.

Primary Use

The consignment store is mainly a business where Sims can buy and sell goods. The store is loaded with shelves displaying objects.

However, to actually make a transaction, you must approach the register at the rear of the store, which gets the attention of the shop clerk.

The clerk then shows you which objects are available for sale and the prices. Just like any other store, you load up your cart and finalize the transaction.

Buying objects at the consignment store

Tip

You can socialize with the clerk, too, which is a good way to satisfy the Social need for Sims going a little Stir Crazy from being cooped up at home, working on inventions.

Reputation and Deals

Each Sim may have multiple objects for sale at the consignment store. To sell an object, interact with the register and then select the object(s) you wish to put on sale.

Crafted objects may be placed on sale here-sculptures, paintings, inventions, books, and the like-as well as caught fish and grown harvestables.

If you have World Adventures, you may also sell photographs and bottles of nectar At the end of each day, the store will inform you which objects were sold. Objects lose a little value each day they are at the store:

Consignment Values

Days on sale at shop	Selling price
1	200%
2	170%
3	130%
4	110%

Caution

If you keep selling the same objects over and over, prices drop and the clerk eventually informs you that customers are getting bored with your wares. At the end of the fifth day of non-sale, the object is returned to the owner.

The consignment store offers a hidden skill, as mentioned in New Simology. The more you sell objects at the consignment store, the better your reputation.

When Sims buy your goods and are happy with the sale, you earn a reputation bonus of 50 points. The better your reputation, the smaller the percentage the shop keeps for each sale.

At first, the shop retains 15 percent of the sale price. Here are the reputation levels and their effect on the store percentage:

Reputation	Store Fee
200	10%
4000	5%
8000	0%

Three additional situations affect your performance at the consignment store:

Sims with the Born Salesperson trait build their reputation faster and sell items for more Simoleons.

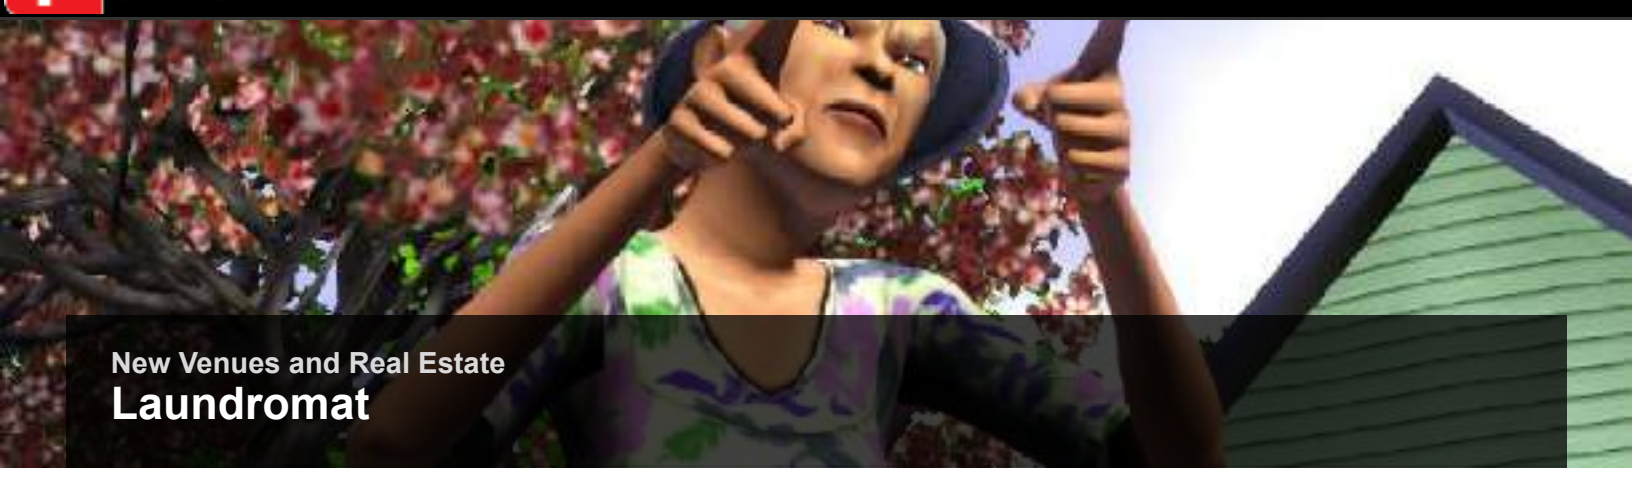
Sims who have purchased the Suave Seller Lifetime Reward sell their goods for more at the consignment store.

Satisfying the hidden requirements of consignment store Skill Challenges also increases your Sim's performance.

Selling 150 objects awards the Consignment Store Sales title, giving your Sims an extra 15 percent chance of selling their objects.

Selling §25,000 worth of objects awards the Consignment Profit title, which lowers the store fee by 15 percent.

Earning 8,000 reputation bonus points awards the Consignment Store Reputation title, giving your Sims an extra 15 percent chance of selling their objects.



New Venues and Real Estate

Laundromat

One of the new features in Ambitions is laundry. Sims like clean clothes—a fresh shirt puts them in a great mood.

Because washers and dryers are expensive, every town has a laundromat where Sims can use community equipment for §35 per load in the cheaper washing machines and §60 in the expensive machines.

Primary Use

The laundromat is there so Sims can launder clothes without having to purchase expensive objects for their own lot or deal with the noise from them, which disturbs other Sims in the household.

But there's more going on at the laundromat than clean pants. The laundromat is a wonderful place to socialize with other Sims.

Tip

If your Sim loves music, then turn on the community stereo at the laundromat so he or she gets a moodlet boost for listening to music while socializing or washing clothes.

While using the laundromat, there are a few things to keep tabs on. Normally, Sims cannot take other folks' clothes while machines are in use.

However, klepto Sims get a kick out of stealing other Sims' clothes and Evil Sims like to take wet clothes from a finished washing machine cycle and just toss them on the floor.

If your Sim has either of these traits, then there's an extra bit of fun to be had at the new laundromat.

Tip

Neighborhoods also have new hangouts, like the Red Rendezvous in Twinbrook. Sims go these places to socialize, enjoy beverages, and listen to music.

If you have a social Sim, be sure to check out the local hangout. Find a full description of the Red Rendezvous in the Tour of Twinbrook chapter.

Real Estate

Careers and producing objects are not the only sources of income in your neighborhood. Smart investors can generate a healthy household income through real estate investments.

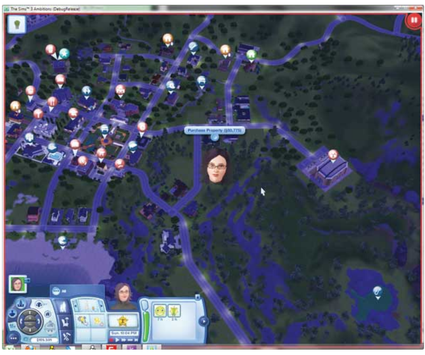
Almost all venues in a town can now be purchased and upgraded. As a result of the investment, the household owning the lot is given a weekly payment.

The more you invest in a property via upgrades, the more you make per week.

Note

Real estate in Ambitions is built upon the basic investment system from The Sims 3. You may invest in all of the same properties, but also on additional lots and venues, such as fishing holes.

How It Works



To invest in a purchasable venue, choose the Purchase interaction on the establishment from the town map. The base price of the venue is displayed, which must be paid to acquire the venue.

There is no payment plan for investing in real estate. Once you've bought a venue and been awarded the deed, you may name the venue anything you wish.

Tip

Use the Check Real Estate interaction on a computer to monitor your investments. This lets you monitor your investments as well as spot open opportunities to buy additional venues. You may also track venue upgrades here.

You may also use Build Mode to create a venue from the ground up. However, you cannot just erect four walls, drop in a treadmill, call it a gym, and then expect a weekly payment.

You must meet a level 1 set of requirements. These are your upgrades, which are also essential for maintaining the operation of purchased existing venues.

Upgrades allow you to improve an establishment, which in turn pays out more Simoleons.

In Buy Mode, you may install new objects at a customizable venue (a venue where your Sim is still visible after entering—you cannot upgrade the diner, for example) to raise its overall value.

In the tables below, we detail the exact object/equipment required to maintain the lowest level of a venue as well as what objects are required to improve it to level 3, the top level of value.

Note

By gutting an existing venue and replacing its objects with those needed for a different business, you can turn many community lots into different venues. You could turn a gym into a museum, if you really put your heart into it.

Tip

If you have installed World Adventures, you may also now invest in the dojo and garden in China and the nectary in France.

Years later, the dam was built and it changed everything for the town.

Now, with an influx of professionals, artists, and inventors living around the Sim-made lake, Twinbrook is experiencing a rebirth.

How will life in this eclectic community turn out?"

Sims like to be pampered and no place pamders 'em up better than the Shamma Day Spa. At this day spa, Sims can come in for a variety of personal treatments, from massage to manicures.

Those for those services range from $20 to $7,500, but you will get what you pay for. The more expensive the service, the longer the effects last after the Sim leaves.

Muscles from the day spa include benefits like Smooth Skin and Completely At Ease. Those modifiers can last for days, too, and they're great for your build.

The day spa offers two different part-time jobs. Sims can grab a few hours a day behind the receptionist's desk or slather massage oil on the well-to-do as a spa specialist. The pay isn't spectacular, but the hours are perfect for Sims with other pursuits.

Tip

Want to buy a Mystery Present but don't like Lifetime Happiness points? You can essentially buy them by getting day spa treatments that pay your Sims beyond the bubble for an extended time.

The full size of the consignment store is detailed in the New Venues and Real Estate chapter, including charts of how items are sold in less than ideal of the shop.

Sims should regularly visit the consignment store and just to sell goods, but also check the ever-changing inventory for new exciting objects.

For example, you may find something an amazing as a Time Machine in stock. It takes inventors weeks to build them still up to level 9 and create that, and you might just be lucky enough to find one sitting on the shelf!

Sell stuff you invent or sculpt at the consignment store for the chance at a big Simoleon payout.

Tour of Tamriniel

Community Spots

Tamriniel has many community life hub areas. Here is a place to see activities or activities that require equipment too expensive to have at home at first, such as exercise machines at the gym or a computer at the library.

Another benefit to visiting these community spots is meeting Sims. These locations can get pretty busy, giving you ample opportunities to socialize and meet your neighbors. If you don't think I'm socialization, be sure to try these spots.

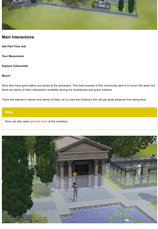
Do Laundry

Dry Clothing

In the Tour, Venues, and Real Estate chapter, we described the general use of the new laundromat location. In Tamriniel, the laundromat is an excellent place to socialize as well as do laundry.

The Cheesecape Laundromat has a few rows of washers and dryers, so you can always do your laundry without waiting. The facility also has a defined area to socialize and I'm talking and enjoying meals.



After dropping clothes in the machine, why not start up that kicker around the corner?

Tip

If your Sims like to do your hand at the washer, note that the second floor of the Cheesecape Laundromat is empty. Use this space as a place for Sims to work in quiet mutt-swarming mat.

Curios Memorial Museum

Main Interactions

Socialize

The Curios Memorial Museum is a good spot for achieving Sims to admire works from great talents. The museum changes its exhibition fee, so Sims can view art and enjoy the mood recently without dropping a single Simoleon.

There may not be a lot to do here outside of viewing art or running back during specific opportunities, but grimacing Sims will find others with similar interests here.

Who knows, your Sim may even walk for the love of his life when looking up from a fascinating sculpture.

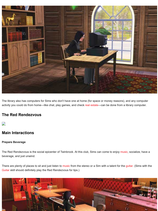
Tip

Sims can also seek part-time work at the cemetery.



The central feature is the mausoleum. This imposing structure houses more of the dead. Touring the mausoleum can be educational for some Sims.

The option to explore the catacombs below the graveyard is a source of excitement for those Sims.

Sims without the Brave trait risk getting the horrified reaction, which is devastating to their overall mood for several hours.

Juan's Pub 'n Pub & Bayless Memorial Junkyard

Main Interactions

Socialize Group

There are two pubs/yards in Tamriniel. Juan's Pub 'n Pub and the Bayless Memorial Junkyard. Bayless is the larger of the two, so it has more junkyard equipment and scrap piles to scrounge through.

Be sure to investigate the New Groups and Pool Guides chapter for more information on the junkyards, including tables that reveal which objects you have a chance of finding at each location.

Most junkyards offer. You never know what you might find, like a big-screen TV to either repair or dismantle for scrap.

Harvest

Not every Sim has space to start a garden, so the community gardens are perfect for exploring and the art of green thumb. Sims who want to develop the Gardening skill are welcome to dig around in the dirt, plant seeds, and raise harvestables to full size.

The garden is not stocked with any rare or valuable plants such as Prairie Fruit or Smoky Trees at first. You must cultivate those on your own.

The community garden is also a good place to socialize. Chances are good that Sims at the garden Love the Outdoors or are growing harvestables, giving you something to talk about right away.

The community garden has just basic harvestables like tomatoes and lettuce...at first.

Tip

Look for fellow Eco-Friendly Sims at the Tahlstrook Community Garden!

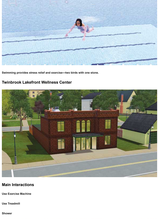
Sims absolutely love to swim, unless they are Hydrophobic, of course. If you don't have a pool on your own lot, use the Tahlstrook Community Swim Center to take a refreshing dip. Swimming is good exercise and a major stress-reliever.

The Tahlstrook Community Swim Center can get busy, but that's a bonus. Chat up the hosts at poolside and make a new friend or single.



Swimming provides stress relief and exercise—two births with one stone.

Because the gym is often busy, it also doubles as a socialization spot where like-minded Sims can mingle and talk about the latest exercise trends.

Tour of Twinbrook
Parks

Twinbrook has four outdoor parks where Sims are encouraged to stroll, relax, and socialize. Unless Sims do not like being outdoors, visiting a park is guaranteed to brighten mood.

Many parks have bodies of water for fishing, such as the river behind the Twinbrook Esplanade, and chess tables for practicing the Logic skill or challenging other Sims to great cerebral contests.

Parks are great places to socialize and make new friends.

River Junction Beach Park

The small River Junction Beach Park is a nice socializing spot. There is an outdoor grill for serving up meals and a gazebo for shade.

Guitar-playing Sims can use the gazebo as an impromptu stage when playing for tips on a sunny afternoon. This is also a good fishing spot.

Twinbrook Esplanade

The Twinbrook Esplanade is directly across from City Hall and overlooks the majestic lake, giving Sims immediate mood boosts just for being outdoors.

The esplanade can get busy on a weekend, so if you need to socialize, hit up this park to meet the locals. Sims who like to jog can go running along the waterfront here and pick up mood boosts.

Fishing is also available right at the water's edge.

Twinbrook Town Center

Standing in the shadow of City Hall, the Twinbrook Town Center is a wonderful city square that all residents should frequent.

The park has benches for sitting and reading, swing sets for children, grills for outdoor cooking, and chess tables for practicing or playing against other Sims.

Like the gazebo at the River Junction Park, the Twinbrook Town Center is also a killer spot to play for tips and advance the Guitar skill.

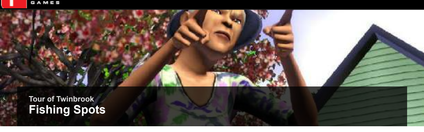
Use the chess tables at the park to develop the Logic skill for free.

Willowglen Amphitheater

The outdoor Willowglen Amphitheater is carved in the rolling hills outside town, surrounded by beautiful weeping willows and other tall trees.

The amphitheater is a great stage for budding musicians to try out, but it also just a nice place to relax away from the hustle and bustle of the city.

Bring a radio and a book, and then just relax in the shade of a willow. Your Sim's cares will evaporate in no time.



Tour of Twinbrook
Fishing Spots

Fishing is a great way to relax, plus you can earn some money on the side. Reeling in a big catch and selling it to the supermarket is a fun way to line your pockets with Simoleons.

Sims who Love the Outdoors get a huge mood boost out of fishing, and you can plop a radio next to them to drive that mood even higher. (This works for any Sim, not just those with the Loves the Outdoors trait.)

Fishing is a great stress-reliever, too, for any Sims but those who Hate the Outdoors.

Professions

The central new feature of Ambitions is the profession system. The new careers are much more interactive than previous professions. Before, when your Sims went to work, they slipped into a venue and did not come out until the shift had ended.

You had a degree of control over work behavior through the use of "tones," but the progression of a career was more about managing tones, skill development, co-worker relationships, and a handful of activities, such as writing articles or rummaging through trash.

The professions change all of that. These new professions require the same attention you would give your Sims during non-work hours.

You must direct them to the tasks required of them for each career (such as banishing angry spirits as a Ghost Hunter or putting out a blaze as a Firefighter).

Many of the new work tasks require traveling around the neighborhood and interacting with people or objects.

Note

One of the original careers in The Sims 3 has been updated for Ambitions: Medical. The remaining careers play out the same.

In fact, a new career following the original model has been added to Ambitions. The Educator career takes place at the school. The Educator and all original careers are detailed at the end of this chapter.

Working Around Town

All of the new professions require you to work outside of your home or a venue. You will crisscross the neighborhood to locate trouble spots or new tasks during your shift. Not every new career has a venue you must report to, though.

The Firefighter career may have you working out of the new fire station venue, but the Architectural Designer career is not at all anchored to a specific location. When not working for a client, you can be at home, if you like.

When you need to go on an assignment for an profession, you may do so from map view. In map view, icons for an assignment appear over relevant locations.

If your Sim is a Ghost Hunter, for example, small ghost buttons appear over one or two homes per shift to alert you of an assignment. Click on the button to go to that location and attend to the assignment.

Mousing over the button also reveals what type of assignment it is, and this may help you prioritize them. Because assignments usually must be completed before the end of a shift, it's very important to prioritize.

The requirements of an assignment appear in a blue tab on the screen's left so you always know what you need to be doing. This is called the Current Job box.

Responsibilities & Experience

In the original careers, promotions were doled out based on a number of different metrics, such as co-worker relationships and the development of related skills. In Ambitions, the new careers have different metrics: responsibilities and experience.

Each career has three responsibilities that you must stay on top of. These responsibilities are constant and do not change per promotion. The more of your responsibilities that you fulfill, the more experience you amass.

Experience points (XP) are the hard measurements for promotions. There is no guesswork. Once you reach a certain XP threshold, your Sim gets a promotion and all of the benefits that come with it.

Each career guide in this chapter details the responsibilities and how to best collect XP so you can rocket up the career ladder as fast as possible. After all, even though not every stage in the career may come with a cool, immediate benefit, no promotion comes with a negative.

Rewards

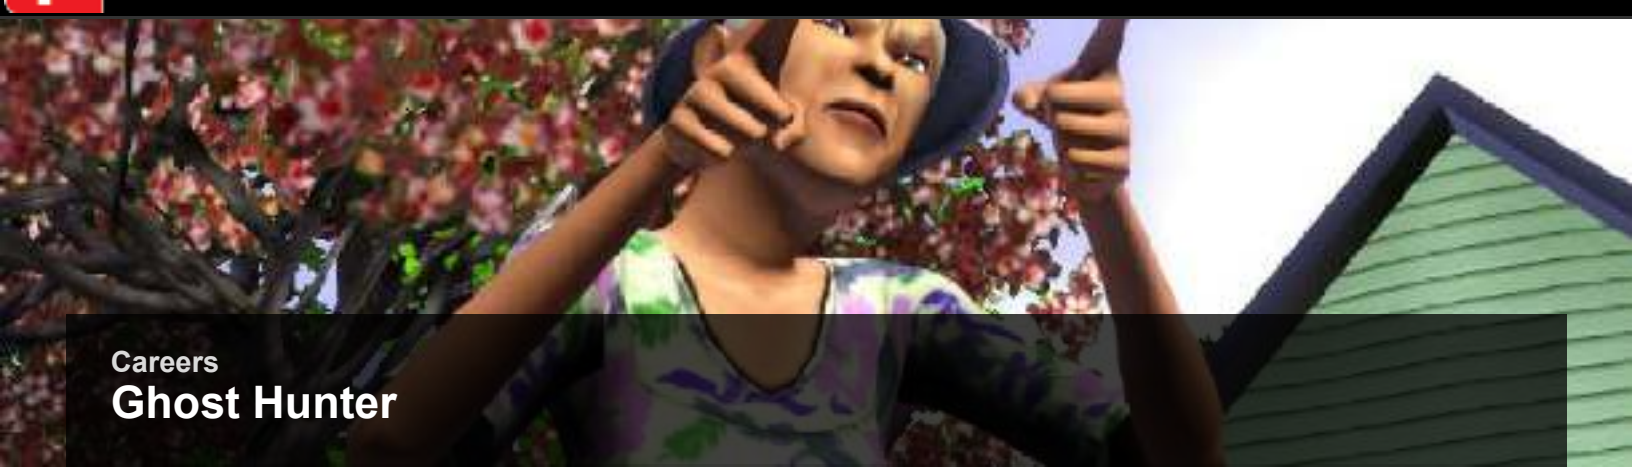
Every career comes with a paycheck at the end of the week, but there are additional rewards for a job well done. With certain promotion levels, you receive goodies like upgraded equipment or a new uniform.

There are reward objects, too. One of the earliest Firefighter rewards is a decorative axe to place on a wall on your lot.

You may also be called to City Hall from time to time to receive a service medal. Service medals are not just for show.

Collecting a service medal at City Hall results in an XP payout, too. So don't ignore a trip to City Hall when you are notified of a reward.

Many of the rewards can be placed on your lot, which results in environmental bonuses for whatever room they are in.



Careers

Ghost Hunter

When the sun dips below the horizon, restless spirits comes out to play. The good citizens of the neighborhood, however, don't necessarily see the fun or wonder in these hauntings.

They want these ghosts out of their houses as soon as possible, especially the noisy poltergeists that love to rattle dressers and beds at inhospitable hours.

Over time, the spectral activity in town gets even worse. By the time the Ghost Hunter has truly honed his skills in detection and exorcism, ghosts from centuries gone by are terrifying friends and neighbors.

Work Location: Various locations

How Hired: Report to science facility, answer computer ad, answer newspaper ad

Work Week: Late night shifts for five days per week, which can really turn a Sim's social life upside-down because of odd sleep schedules.

Salary Progression: The Ghost Hunter career has decent but unspectacular pay. The real money comes from collecting spirits and selling them to the local science facility.

Responsibilities:

Investigate paranormal activity
Collect spirits
Improve Logic skill

Careers
Career Progression

When you first accept the Ghost Hunter career, nobody in town takes you seriously. Your cheap uniform certainly doesn't instill much trust.

However, as soon as you take on your first paranormal assignment, the people of your town—including the folks at City Hall—start to see your value.

This career does not have a venue you report to, but you should always be available during your business hours. During these nighttime work hours, your assignments are given out via map view.

Expect to be offered two assignments every night you are on the job. These assignments typically take place in homes, but can occur at venues like the community theater where you enter and do not come out for several hours.

Although the progression of assignments follows a typical difficulty curve (detailed in the next section), the locations and activities for these jobs are random.

No two Ghost Hunters will visit the same houses with the same hauntings. And when you survey your two assignments at the beginning of a shift, they are not always the same type of investigation.

You are immediately given the Banshee Banisher upon taking the job, which is your primary tool of the trade. This weapon allows you to collect spirits in the wild, saving citizens from sleepless nights and untold horrors.

Tip

The Ghost Hunter receives the new, unique social, Show Off Banshee Banisher, which tends to impress other Sims.

You participate in several types of investigations in this career. Your Banshee Banisher, for example, receives upgrades that make it more powerful and capable of grabbing ghosts much faster and with more success.

That's important because time is often of the essence when dealing with a haunting. You must complete these ghostly gigs before sun up. The low-level Banshee Banisher has a decent fail rate.

You can lose the fight with a ghost, allowing it to escape to another part of the lot, which eats up time. If your Sim is not Brave, a ghost strong enough to escape the Banshee Banisher can give your Sim a good fright, which is a mood killer.

Though the Banshee Banisher is your best tool against the ghosts, there is a peaceful option to resolve some (not all) hauntings. As a Ghost Hunter, you can speak to the dead.

With a little Charisma, you can actually convince some of them to move on from this world into the next. You have three socials for doing this: Talk About Full Life, Put at Ease About Loved Ones, and Convince to Move On.

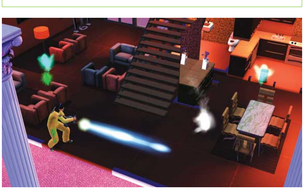
If you can get a fully formed ghost—not one of the small vapors seen in Spirit Invasions and Possessed Object assignments—to speak to you, you can befriend it. Start with Talk About Full Life, a pleasant ice breaker that sets the stage for moving on to Put at Ease About Loved Ones.

If the ghost is receptive, your relationship increases just as if you were speaking to a live Sim. Now, use both of these socials a few times to get chummy with the ghost (you can also try friendly or funny socials) before using the Convince to Move On social.

If you attempt to use this too early, you can infuriate the ghost. At this point, the only recourse is the Banshee Banisher.

Tip

At level 8, though, your gift of ghostly gab improves. The chance of talking a ghost out of a house is increased.



Though the parameters of an assignment may change, the result is usually the same: the capture and containment of a ghost.

Once you have captured a ghost, you can do several things with it. The easiest is selling it to the science facility for cash.

You can keep ghosts in little containers around your lot for fun. However, you can also release ghosts back into town.

You can place contained ghosts around your house, just like bug-filled terrariums or fish tanks. Feel free to name these ghosts, too.

Though it may not be as thrilling as catching ghosts, developing the Logic skill is critical for advancing in the Ghost Hunter career. You must do this outside of assignments.

Read Logic books, look through a telescope at the stars, or play a little chess. Increasing your Logic skill not only pays out in XP, but the higher your Logic skill, the more XP you potentially earn during assignments.

Once you have saved up some cash, it may prove useful to hire a Maid to clean up the house while you attempt to catch some much-needed sleep during the day.

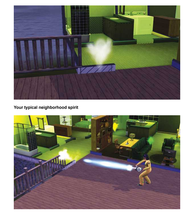
Careers

Investigations

There are five types of assignments for the Ghost Hunter career. They not out in the order below, but mingle with previously opened investigation types once unlocked.

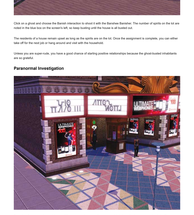
When you enter a property to perform an investigation, the house lights turn different colors and you hear creepy but amazing music. You know you have completed the assignment when the lights return to normal.

Spirit Invasions

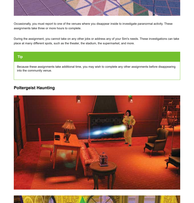


Spirit Invasions are the most basic of hauntings. Eliminate all spirits (vapor-like little randies) on the lot to complete the assignment.

Spirits can be inside or outside, and don't forget to look up at all the floors of a house, too. The spirits stay for different colors, but once you've all names the same way, they tick and races for a few moments before disappearing and reappearing elsewhere on the lot.



Your typical neighborhood spirit



Click on a ghost and choose the Banish interaction to shoot it with the Banishes Banisher. The number of spirits on the lot are noted in the blue box on the scientist's left, so keep busting until the house is all busted out.

The residents of a house remain upset as long as the spirits are on the lot. Once the assignment is complete, you can either take off for the next job or hang around and visit with the household.

Unless you are super-rude, you have a good chance of starting positive relationships because the ghost-busted inhabitants are so grateful.

Paranormal Investigation

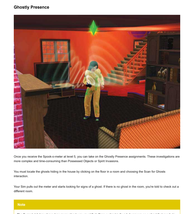
Occasionally, you must report to one of the venues where you disappear inside to investigate paranormal activity. These assignments take three or more hours to complete.

During the assignment, you cannot take on any other jobs or address any of your Sim's needs. These investigations can take place at many different spots, such as the theater, the stadium, the supermarket, and more.

Tip

Because these assignments take additional time, you may want to complete any other assignments before disappearing into the community venue.

Poltergeist Haunting



Poltergeists are a special type of ghost that are strong enough to interact with physical objects. When clients begin complaining about possessed objects, you know you're dealing with a poltergeist.

Go to the affected house and scan the premises for shaking and bucking objects. Be keen to lockcases. Poltergeists can possess almost any object, so be on the lookout for any movement from an object that, well, shouldn't be moving.

Click on the possessed object and use the Exorcise interaction. You unleash the Banishes Banisher to zank the poltergeist out of the object.

It is possible to fail, though, at which point the poltergeist can scare a non-Brave Sim before slipping into another object on the lot.

Look for shape around possessed objects.

Can't find that last possessed object? Don't forget to check objects outside the house but still on the lot, such as the mailbox.

Ghostly Presence

Once you receive the Spook-o-meter at level 5, you can take on the Ghostly Presence assignments. These investigations are more complex and time-consuming than Possessed Objects or Spirit Invasions.

You must locate the ghosts hiding in the house by clicking on the floor in a room and choosing the Scan for Ghosts interaction.

Your Sim audio cut the meter and starts looking for signs of a ghost. If there is no ghost in the room, you're told to check out a different room.

Note

The Cursed Lab box shows how many ghosts you must find. Once a ghost is found, it appears as a ghost that needs to be busted.

If there is indeed a ghost in that room, look for signs of it. A ghost that tries not be a possessed by red sparkles. A shivered ghost that appears as shaking water. When a Sim succeeds, the ghost's full form appears.

These look like normal ghosts all decorated Sims, not little vapors. You can then see the ghost's name. At this point, you have the chance to deal with the ghost.

You can either use the Banishes Banisher to capture it or attempt to talk it to leaving the house.

If you choose the Banishes Banisher route, expect a power fight that will a spirit or poltergeist. These ghosts will put away.

If successful, they last scare a non-Brave Sim or scar non-scared and more them. However, they are it. Eventually, the Banishes Banisher takes the fight out of them and they submit to your persistence and power.

Caution

Because ghosts can fly through walls and objects, they may attempt to break the space between you and it. Ghosts can even float to scream you simply cannot reach.

This naturally frustrates your Sim, but there's just not much you can do except wait for the ghost to flood to another part of the house.

Angry Ghostly Invasion

The final type of investigation is the Angry Ghost Invasion. These assignments are similar to the Ghostly Presence assignment, except the ghosts are not hidden.

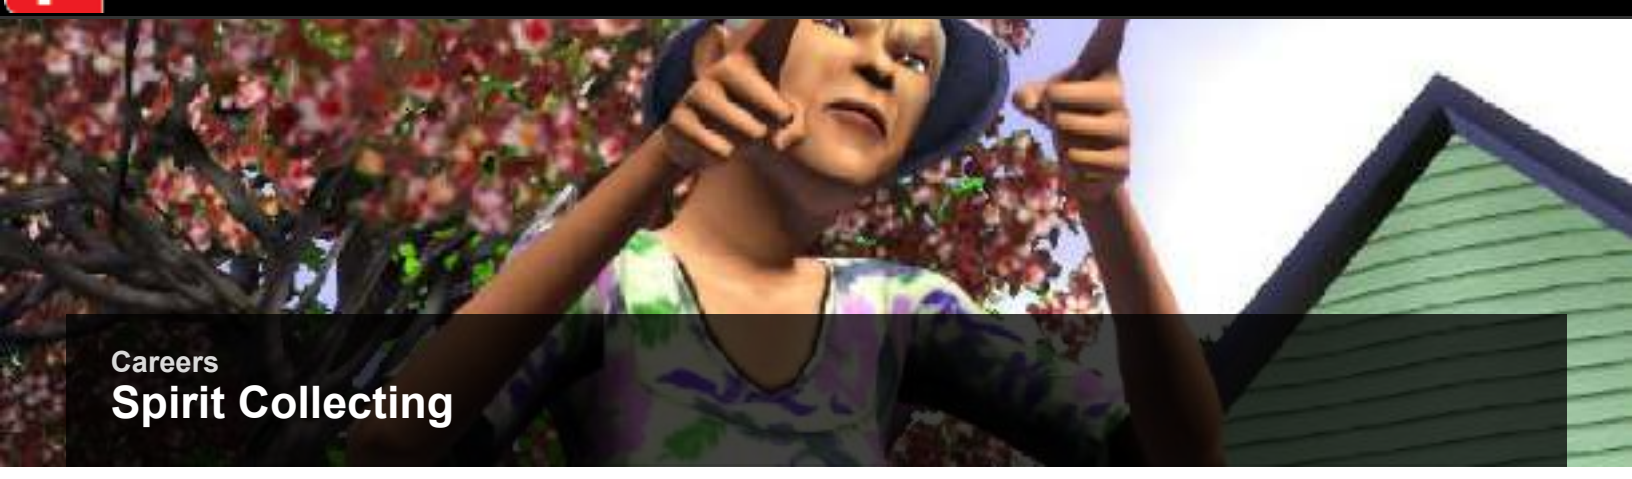
These tousled lamshades are right out in the open, terrorizing the residents of the house (and you, unless you have the Brave trait).

Deal with these ghosts via the Banishes Banisher (which has likely been upgraded by this point) or through cussing socials.

If you are at level 8, you have a much easier time talking these ghosts into peacefully moving on to the afterlife.

Angry ghosts tend to upset everybody in the house. If one of the ghosts is really disturbing the residents, zero in on it first.

Many angry ghosts wear the traditional clothes of past civilizations. These ancient ghosts are worth more Simoleons than ghosts with modern dress.



Careers

Spirit Collecting

As soon as you receive the Spook-o-meter at level 5, an entirely new facet of the Ghost Hunter career opens: Spirit Collecting. Now, you collect plenty of ghosts and spirits while on the job.

But you can also use this special object outside of assignments to locate ghosts in the wild. You can find ghosts at the graveyard, a park, laundromat, or any other community lot where your Sim does not disappear upon entering.

The Spook-o-meter

To seek these spirits, use the exact same steps as Ghost Invasions. When you visit a community lot, click on the ground and then choose the Scan for Spirits interaction. Your Sim goes to that location and whips out the Spook-o-meter.

After you use your equipment a few moments, any spirits in the immediate area will appear. Then, simply pull out the Banshee Banisher and get to work collecting the ghost the same way you would on any of your normal assignments.

Caution

If you do not collect the revealed spirit right away, it will move to another spot in the immediate area.

Every spirit you collect results in additional XP. While you can get promotions in the Ghost Hunter career without this side activity, it will certainly take much longer to do so.

Regularly sell your spirits for Simoleons at the science facility so you can buy new objects for your lot, such as a telescope to help develop your Logic skill. Ghosts have different values, both in Simoleons and XP, depending on the type of the spirit and how "old" it is.

A young spirit—one that hasn't been dead for that long—is not worth as much as an ancient spirit.

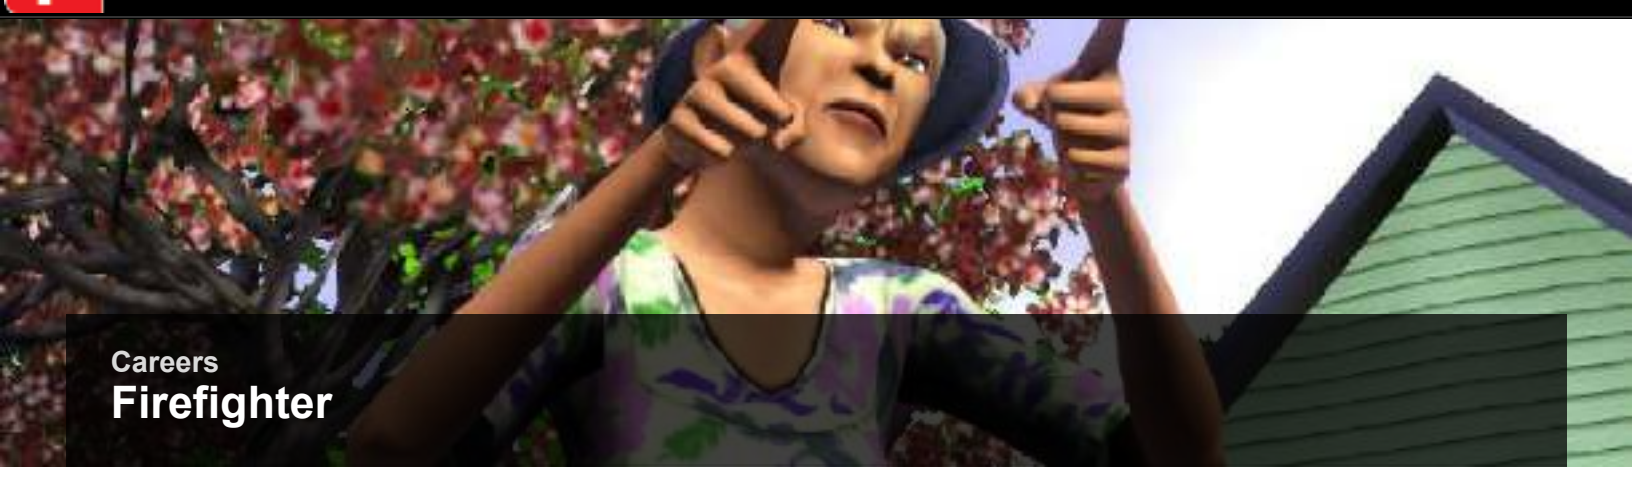
Spirit Type	Base Value
Kind	50
Friendly	75
Frightened	100
Lost	200
Jealous	400
Wrathful	600
Evil	1000

Note

The type and age of spirits is completely random. Just because you are a level 8 Ghost Hunter, for example, doesn't mean you automatically start sucking up more ancient spirits.

Tip

As soon as you reach level 10 of the Ghost Hunter profession, you receive the Spirit Scanner. It reveals the locations of collectible ghosts on map view, taking the guesswork out of sniffing out these valuable specters.



Careers

Firefighter

Few figures cut a braver profile than the Firefighter. The Firefighter is a local hero, dedicated to saving both lives and property when a fire breaks out at either a community venue or a private residence.

This career is an absolute roller coaster, as a Firefighter can spend hours enjoying the relative peace of the fire station, working on projects or exercising to stay in shape, only to have the alarm break out.

Then, you hop on the fire engine to tear across town and extinguish the flames before anybody gets hurt. This is one of the most rewarding careers of Ambitions, thanks to the general awe the community shows you as you carry a child out of a burning house.

Work Location: Fire station

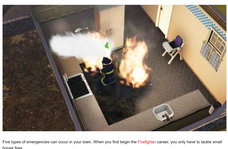
Click on your fire and choose the Upgrade Extinguisher interaction. When the upgrade is complete, you can put it in the water with your extinguisher. This obviously rapid and emergency during.

When you own an upgraded extinguisher, the flame is a new color. What color will yours be?



Five types of emergencies can occur in your town. When you first begin the Firefighter career, you only have to tackle small house fires.

However, as you get promotions and are on the job longer, you must deal with more dangerous situations, such as house fires that threaten lives and disasters at venues that require extended attention.

Small House Fire

Small house fires are the most basic emergency you must attend to on the job. When a small house fire breaks out, go to the site and put out the flames before too much damage is caused.

The breadth of the fire is very limited and the owners of the lot have already cleared out, so the fire poses no danger to them, only their property.

Just because a small house fire doesn't look like a big deal, don't hesitate to get the job done. The longer the fire lasts, the bigger it gets (within reason) and the lower your emergency score.

Tip

It never hurts to help clean up after a fire. The owners of the lot are already grateful to you and if you assist in the clean up, you have a better chance of establishing a good relationship.

Large House Fire/Earthquake

Large house fires and earthquakes are much more dangerous because they pose direct threats to life.

These raging fires must be put out as soon as possible to prevent injury, although there is a good chance that your Sim will be required to rescue people on the lot before putting the entire fire out.

If Sims are trapped in the house, they are noted in the Current Job box.

When you report to a large house fire, you pull out a hose to deal with the flames on the house exterior before you can enter and help out civilians.

Sometimes, to get at a Sim inside a burning house, you must break down a door. Doors that you can break down have axe symbols over them.

If you have put out the fire around the door, you can then choose the Break Down Door interaction. Your Sim pulls out an axe and starts chopping.

Higher Athletic skill means faster door chopping (and that's why you pump iron on your time off). After several swings, the Sim attempts to kick in the door.

If that fails, your Sim must go back to chopping before trying again, which eats up valuable time.

Tip

You develop the Athletic skill while breaking down doors.

Sims who are not Firefighters tend to panic around flames. And by panic, we mean they stand there with their feet bolted to the floor while the entire house burns down around them.

To get these Sims out of the house before they are killed, you must enter the same room as them and use the Convince to Run interaction.

Your Firefighter gets in their face and makes big motions to start running. After a few moments, the panicked Sim obeys and flees the burning building.

If a child is stuck in the inferno, you Sim must click on the child and use the Carry Out interaction.

Your Firefighter sweeps the kid up and carries her through the burning house, setting her down safely outside to the great relief of the rest of the household.

Once all Sims inside have been rescued, you can go back to putting out the rest of the fire and ending the emergency, hopefully with a good score.

Tip

Sims can actually steal items during a house fire. Kinda mean.

Gnome Invasion

Gnome Invasions are non-fire emergencies that take place on residential or community lots.

Instead of responding to a blaze, your Firefighter arrives to find the family under attack by several angry magical gnomes. The number of angry gnomes is noted in the Current Job box.

To end this emergency, click on each gnome and grab it before it can move to another part of the house. These gnomes do not stay still for very long before disappearing and reappearing elsewhere on the lot, so hurry.

Tip

Do not walk right in front of a gnome or it will vanish. Try to sneak up on these little fellows.

Building Disaster

Disaster sometimes strikes at the venues that your Sim disappears into, like the bistro or the theater. When these building disasters hit, you see them or may view as fire icons on top of venue locations.

Click on the Deal with Emergency interaction to rush to the venue and see what's happening. Building disasters are not interactive like house fires. Instead, your Sim bravely pushes through the gathered crowd to enter the venue.

They remain inside for several hours, emerging only when the job is complete.

There are three special variations on the building disaster—these are epic disasters at the science facility, hospital, and warehouse.

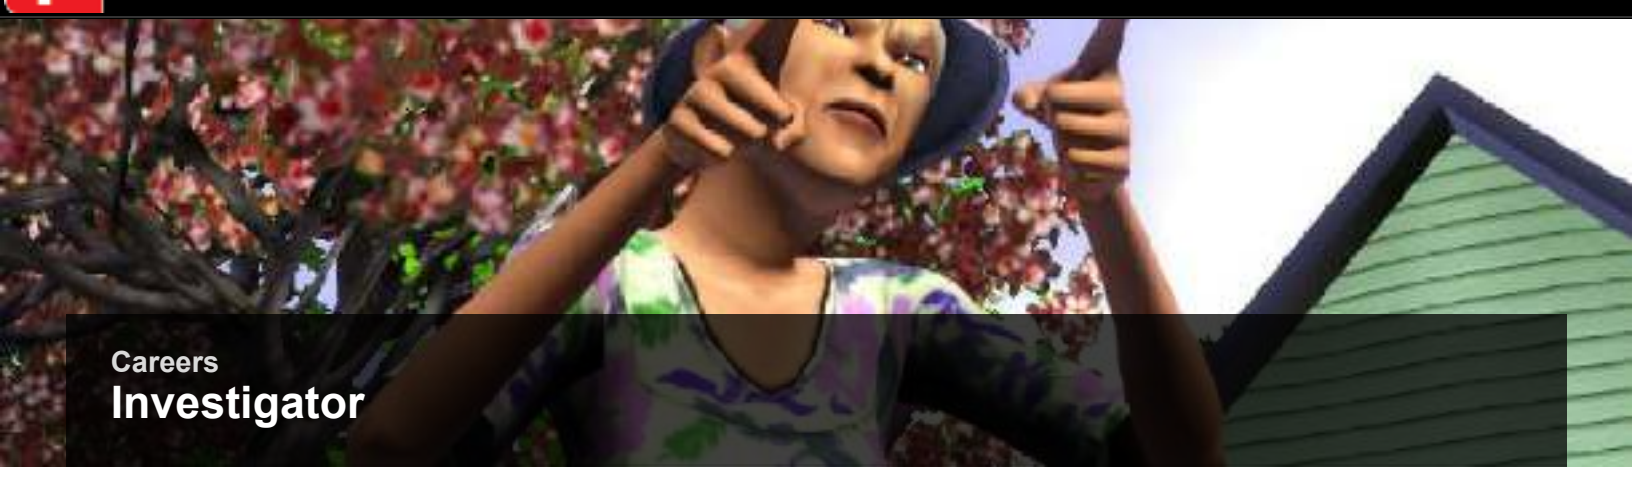
They only occur at these venues. Your Sim attacks these emergencies just like a regular building disaster, but they last much longer and result in a special medal from City Hall.

These are the three epic disasters:

Science facility: When strange, colorful explosions erupt from the science facility, you know something's gone wrong. Rush to the scene to help deal with an experiment gone awry.

Hospital: An x-ray machine malfunction has turned several technicians into electricity-drawing mutants. Get to the hospital and quell these lightning rods before the whole place gets burned to the ground.

Warehouse: The big boss of the local crime facility thought a weather machine would help achieve world domination. Nope. All it ended up doing was pulling every rain cloud into the warehouse and flooding the joint.



Careers

Investigator

When the law is too slow to respond and has deemed a wrong too small for its attention, Sims can turn to their local gumshoe for results.

The Investigator is a private eye for hire, willing to spend long hours chasing down leads, interviewing potential suspects, snooping for clues, and hopefully solving the case—for a fee, of course.

Cases in this profession range from recovering lost objects to locating missing Sims. Things can get pretty dangerous for an Investigator, so be ready for anything.

The accused don't necessarily like being under your magnifying glass.

Work Location: Various locations

How Hired: Report to police station, answer computer ad, answer newspaper ad

Work Week: The Investigator works Monday through Friday shifts, dedicating long hours to completing cases.

Salary Progression: The Investigator gets a decent weekly stipend that can be augmented by performing low level police work down at the police station.

Responsibilities: Solve cases, go on stakeouts, improve Logic skill

Once you accept the Investigator profession, get ready for a life of adventure.

Investigators have very active work days where they methodically follow clues in different cases, hoping to reach the conclusion as fast as they can to get a good payday and raise their reputation as a gumshoe.

After all, the more you advance this career, the better—and more complex—cases you receive.

Cases typically begin with a phone call (although if that phone seems strangely silent, check down at the police station for a lead on a real job or Scoop for Clues at a community lot to discover a case bigger).

A Sim explains the problem. This Sim may be telling you the whole story, may be cleverly omitting some facts, or may even be outright lying.

But it's your job to follow the first step of the case and take it all the way through to its logical conclusion.

Answer the phone and see who needs your help today!

When you begin a case, the first step is it appears above your movable box in the Adventure/Opportunity Tracker.

If this is an activity you can do right away or without any sort of impediment (more on this in a moment), simply click on it and go straight to that step.

For example, if you need to interview a Sim, clicking on that step automatically drives you straight to that person and starts the conversation.

After a few moments, a blue box appears that explains the result of taking that step and what the next action is in the evolving case.

While that evening Sims is nearly cases, you can usually get the information you need right away.

However, as you gain experience and start getting more complex cases, you must socialize with Sims to get them to trust you before showing them the the information you need.

You can sometimes shortcut this by bribing the Sims with the Bribe for Clues interaction (and paying out a small number of Simoleons).

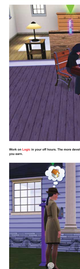
In extreme situations, you actually beat up the target Sim for information, but this causes a massive relationship loss.

Tip

An action tooltip's for the user appears in gold in the interaction menu when you click on a Sim, location, or object.

When you follow a case through all of its steps, you return to the original party to receive your reward. The case is closed. Maybe City Hall will call with a reward.

Or maybe this case is only the first part in a larger scenario, built of multiple cases! After all, when you start poking at the seam on the underwear of your neighborhood, you never know what you might reveal.



Not every action in a case can be performed just by clicking on it. For example, at level 4 of this career, you receive a kit that lets you dust for fingerprints.

You may need to dust for fingerprints inside a house that's locked. You must go to that house and then break in by picking the lock on one of the doors.

This is dangerous if the owner spots you breaking into the house. Most owners will yell at you, which leads to a serious relationship hit.

But if you happen to get caught breaking into a house (or performing any activity inside) by an Evil or Mean Sim, you may have to fight!

Tip

Though the Lock skill is one of the responsibilities of this career, working on your Athletic skill a little won't hurt. Losing fights kills time and steps your Sim with negative moodlets.

Work on Logic in your off hours. The more developed this skill is, the faster some interactions go and the more XP you earn.

Your cases require you to do many different things to find the culprit or lost object. We go over all of these activities in the Tools of the Trade section. But not all of these activities are available at first.

Some must be opened, such as Scoop for Clues, which is not available until level 2 of this career when you earn your magnifying glass. Getting that magnifying glass actually helps you in your cases.

When there is something on a lot that you should check out as part of the case, a magnifying glass hovers over it.

Use this helpful tip to keep the case on track.

At level 8 of the career, you get a cool black sedan!

Extra Activity: Stakeout/Stakeout Report

Of course, the life of an Investigator would be sweet if no crime or wrongdoing was committed around town.

Stakeouts are preventive measures against crime. When you click on a community lot, such as a park or the graveyard, you can choose the Investigate/Stakeout interaction.

This sends your Sim to the outskirts of that lot to hide and monitor the area for any unsavory activity.

While on a stakeout, other Sims cannot see the Investigator. Of course, their stakeout routine of hiding behind bushes they can't really hide from long enough to see one of the scenes.

After the Investigator spends a few hours skating out the lot, one of a few things may happen.

Absolutely nothing. Your Sim determines there is no crime around here. At least, not right now.

Investigator does not observe any active crimes, but as a result of the stakeout, may have discovered a clue for a case or presented some from occurring. The value of performing stakeouts increases.

The Investigator spots some suspicious activity between two Sims. The Investigator then needs to file a report with local law enforcement.

By Investigators who spots any suspicious activity must go to a computer and write it up. This is just like writing up an article in the Journalism career.

After a certain time, the Sim finishes the report and sends it off to the police. When the police receive it, they reward the Investigator with some Simoleons for helping keep the peace in town.

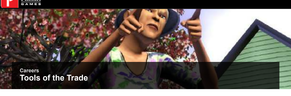
Caution

Be warned: Stakeouts are stressful activities. Your Sim may need to do something fun after a stakeout to recuperate.

Extra Activity: Low Level Police Work

When not on a case, Investigators can make a little extra cash by heading down to the local police station and choosing the Do Low-Level Police Work interaction on the menus.

Your Sim disappears inside the police station for several hours, which is similar to an actual shift in one of the original careers. After the shift has ended, your Sim gets a nice little paycheck for helping out.



Careers
Tools of the Trade

While on cases, Investigators must do more than just interview neighbors and potential wrongdoers related to the assignment.

They must perform a number of activities, often detailed in each specific step of the case. (All cases—and steps—are detailed at the end of this section.)

Breaking In

When you must get inside a suspect's house to look for clues, you must take a risk by breaking into the house (unless you've been invited inside or you are a friend with house privileges).

To perform this act, click on a door and choose it. Your Sim bends down and works the lock with some picks. After a few moments, the lock pops and your Sim can enter the house.

If any Sims are home, you can get bounced from the premises and leave with seriously hit LTRs. It is better to wait for the residents to go to work, leave for errands, or whatever.

Rummaging in the Trash

Sometimes, suspects are careless enough to toss evidence in the trash right outside their homes or in public places. When a case step tells you to search the trash, go to the designated lot and click on the trash can.

Your Sim creeps up to it, looks around, and then dives right in. After a few moments, your Sim comes up with a clue and the case continues.

Caution

Rummaging through the trash may reveal clues, but your Hygiene can take a big hit unless you are a Slob, and then it doesn't really matter much.

If the lot owner catches you looking through the trash, you get kicked off the property and must start over later. An Evil or Mean Sim may even fight you over this invasion of privacy.

Inspect Mail

Sometimes, you need to rifle through a suspect's mail to gather information. This is like rummaging through the trash.

When you click on the mailbox designated by a case step, your Sim slides up to it and starts flipping through envelopes. Like breaking in or rummaging through trash, you can get caught doing this and then be ejected—or worse.

Note

After successfully rummaging through the mail or trash of another Sim, you may receive notice that you found some seedy information. You may now actually blackmail that Sim for money.

For a short period of time following the acquisition of blackmail material, the Blackmail social is available on the target. If you do blackmail them for money, your LTR takes a big hit.

If you don't blackmail them, your LTR takes a smaller hit. Sims with the Good trait cannot blackmail.

Hack Computer

When a suspect might have evidence on a computer network, you must hack into it. Click on any computer and choose the Hack interaction to do some data-diving. After a few moments, you find what you are looking for.

Tip

Use the free computer at the town library or reading room to perform the hacking step of cases that require it.

Note

You may also try out the new Hack Information Database version of hacking, which will sometimes pay out in Simoleons. Sims with the Good trait cannot perform this kind of hack.

Tip

Computer Whiz Sims get a Fun bonus out of this activity.

Snoop for Clues

On the second level of this career, your Sim receives a magnifying glass. Now your Sim can Snoop for Clues on lots.

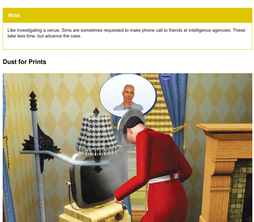
Whether just looking around a community lot in hopes of starting a case or peeking around a lot designated by the current step in an active case, your Sim fishes about while peering through the glass.

After a few moments, the Investigator will either find the necessary evidence (during an active case or starting a new one) or come up dry.

Tip

Snooping for Clues slowly builds the Logic skill, but also stresses your Sim out a little because this is so important to solving cases.

Investigations



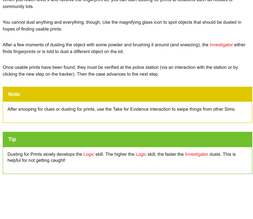
During some cases, you may be directed to a venue in town where your Sim disappears for several hours while seeking information or clues.

This interaction plays out just as if you were eating out or going to a movie. You cannot control your Sim inside the venue. When your Sim emerges, though, the case moves on to the next step.

Note

Like investigating a venue, Sims are sometimes requested to make phone call to friends at intelligence agencies. These take less time, but advance the case.

Dust for Prints



When you reach level 4 and receive the fingerprint kit, you can start dusting for prints at locations such as houses or community lots.

You cannot dust anything and everything, though. Use the magnifying glass icon to spot objects that should be dusted in hopes of finding usable prints.

After a few moments of dusting the object with some powder and brushing it around (and sneezing), the Investigator either finds fingerprints or is told to dust a different object on the lot.

Once usable prints have been found, they must be verified at the police station (via an interaction with the station or by clicking the new step on the tracker). Then the case advances to the next step.

Note

After snooping for clues or dusting for prints, use the Take for Evidence interaction to swipe things from other Sims.

Tip

Dusting for Prints slowly develops the Logic skill. The higher the Logic skill, the faster the Investigator dusts. This is helpful for not getting caught!

The career is a great reminder of the social aspects of other activities (Hobbies) with Building Mode. When you accept a social with the Get Famous! objective, they automatically tell all of the city. All of the NPCs in the town come to greet Frank.

If you accept the job, you have the option to go to the venue and participate in starting things around. However, you can also help with the filming (they let you help around the set to get an idea of what the next Page has).

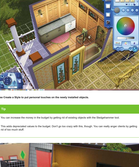
When you begin the recreation, you play right into a modified Build/Buy Mode.

A full list of all downloaded objects appears in the Current Job tab on screen or you can use security when needs to be added to a room to have to satisfy the core requirements of the character.

If you go with the Escapist, the job becomes all about the novelty of the hospital for the job, which is also displayed in the Current Job tab.

If you go with Paul instead, you get a lot more time to work on a social event. If you go too far with one, you risk losing access to the other.

You need to find that happy place between the two extremes that makes the client happy. Listen to the client to learn what you need to do.



Use Create a Style to put personal touches on the newly installed objects.

Tip

You can increase the money in the budget by getting rid of existing objects with the Sledgehammer tool.

For example, the recent voiceover who wants an incredible new part for entertaining the city that she has a ridiculous amount of money.

Giving right up to the edge of the budget is definitely not the best way to go. Leave room for a couple extras.

Caution

Even if you go over budget, the extra donations are taken out of your own household funds!

Once you have completed the renovation, review your Completion Renovation button in the Current Job tab. All of your objectives are listed here, so you can see what still needs to be done to complete the job.

At this point, the client comes in to the set. Remember that the Completion Renovation awaited. Thought before acknowledging the required change appears over the client's head. When the icon is done, the client likes, but has one tip.

If you did a good job, take a picture of the renovation for your personal portfolio. Every completed job photo goes into the Photography section of your Gallery, which is accessible from your Portfolio.

The portfolio is important for getting new jobs outside of daily assignments. Check out the Portfolio section for more on this activity.

Once you reach level 4 of the career, you gain a new resource. Now you are able to perform tutoring for the renovation process in Building and click on rooms to choose the Get Resources interaction.

Get Famous! also has a number of unique interactions that appear when you are performing renovations.

Finally, friends also gain a piece of the renovation for your personal portfolio. Every completed job photo goes into the Photography section of your Gallery, which is accessible from your Portfolio.

Perform a Get Famous! job and then click on a friend's portfolio. Select a photo to view it.

If you failed, the client expresses disappointment and you don't make a perfect photo. You may even experience an LTR decrease for being such a bad job.

Portfolio & Researching Design

As mentioned, after completing a job, you snap a photo of the new room for your portfolio. After you get a good portfolio picture, you can access it at any time by clicking on another Sim's computer and selecting Portfolio from the pie menu that comes up.

You answer potential clients your portfolio. If they like what they see, they may offer you a job.

You may also want to put your portfolio outside of work. After completing a portfolio piece to your house, use the Research Design interaction to sit down and start researching your next building and room ideas.

Careers

Career Progression

The Stylist career begins at the local salon where you attend to potential clients who walk through the front door in need of a new look. You receive a message when a potential client is at the salon.

Speak to the client before using the Makeover interaction or a styling station, which begins the actual job. The Discuss Fashion social—given only to Stylists—helps start the makeover on a positive note.

Note

At level 6, Stylists receive the Give Fashion Advice social, which helps other Sims find temporary new looks. Appreciative Sims then have a higher LTR with the Stylist.

Once your Sim reaches level 3 of the Stylist profession, jobs outside the salon are unlocked. Now, you can use map view during work hours to identify clients around town in need of makeovers.

Click on their houses to go straight there. Before digging into the Makeover (now available as an interaction/social on the target Sim), be sure to get the client in a good mood.

The Current Job shows you exactly what the client wants out of the makeover. This is similar to the Designer career. You must address all of the client's needs before completing the makeover.

Once you finish, the client evaluates what you did and gives a report. If the client likes the makeover, you may get a nice tip. You can then take a photo to add to your portfolio.

The more photos of successful makeovers you place in your portfolio, the easier time you have getting potential clients (Sims not actively seeking a makeover during work hours) to agree to a makeover, which in turn pays out in Simoleons and results in necessary XP.

Tip

At the top level of this career, your Sim receives a permanent Stylin' moodlet that remains even if your Sim resigns from the profession.

Makeover Basics

So, what do clients want out of a makeover? Requests span three categories: new outfits, new hair, and new make-up. All of these are selected from a Create a Sim toolkit.

A Sim who desires new clothes will designate which specific outfit they would like you to change: everyday, formal, swimsuit, sleepwear, or athletic.

You can mix and match pieces within those categories to make new outfits or choose from the pre-made ensembles. Use Create a Style to add new patterns to clothes or dye them different colors.

Some Sims will also request new shoes or accessories, so be sure to address those before completing the makeover.

Some clients wish to receive new hairstyles. You create these exactly the same way as you would when starting a new Sim in Create a Sim. You can pick any hairstyle from the available tips in the toolkit and then add highlights or other color options.

Male Sims may request new facial hair, too, so have fun handing out beards and 'staches.

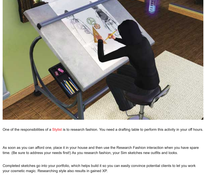
Female clients may also request new make-up. Here, you dive into Create a Sim and place new eye shadow, blush, and more on their faces. Use the sparkly slider to reduce the harshness of some make-up.

You do not need to alter every category of make-up to satisfy this request, but address at least three make-up features before completing the makeover.

If your Stylist is Evil or doesn't mind pranking a client, you can also choose the Give Bad Makeover to whip up a truly dreadful new look.

The client gets furious over this outfit. You can always immediately choose the Makeover social to remedy the situation as best as possible, but if you like mischief, why not leave them looking like clowns?

Research Style



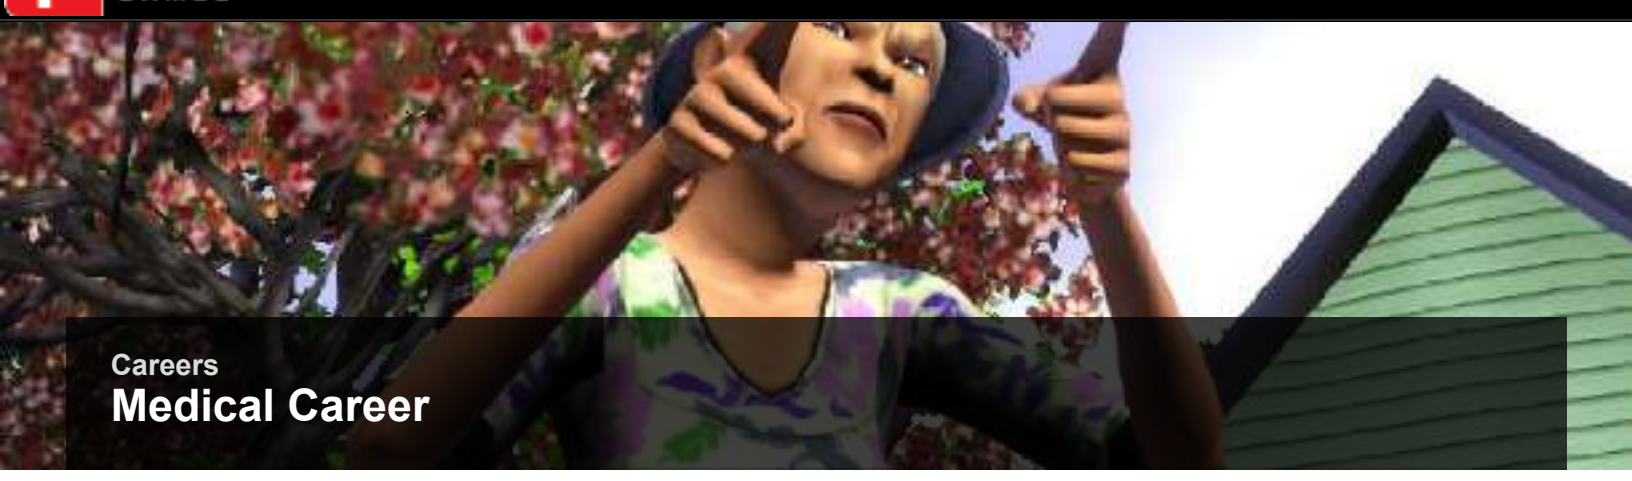
One of the responsibilities of a Stylist is to research fashion. You need a drafting table to perform this activity in your off hours.

As soon as you can afford one, place it in your house and then use the Research Fashion interaction when you have spare time. Be sure to address your needs first! As you research fashion, your Sim sketches new outfits and looks.

Completed sketches go into your portfolio, which helps build it so you can easily convince potential clients to let you work your cosmetic magic. Researching style also results in gained XP.

Tip

Researching Fashion also develops the Painting skill, but does so a little slower than if you were at the easel.



Careers

Medical Career

The Medical career is not for a Sim who likes to keep a strict schedule.

As this career develops, the schedule turns chaotic and occasionally disruptive thanks to the unpredictable needs of patients at the local hospital and around town.

If you don't mind the idea of being pulled into work in the middle of the night, then the Medical career's rewards may be worth the potential inconvenience. Especially the final reward for becoming a World Renowned Surgeon...

Note

The revamped Medical career is a hybrid between the new professions system and the original career track where you disappear inside a venue for several hours.

You use tones to direct work while at the hospital, but also must go around town and attend to off-site activities, like free clinics and vaccinations. This career does not use XP to give promotions.

How Hired: Report to hospital, answer computer ad, answer newspaper ad

Careers
Career Progression

Original Activity

The Medical career is one of the most stressful careers, so to advance, you need activities in the Sim's life to counteract the Stressed Out moodlet.

Mood is a major factor in promotions, so be sure to sleep when possible (the Sleep In Ready Room tone helps out with this) and have an activity that lowers tension, such as reading, exercise, or socializing.

Tip

The Medical career does not factor relationship with co-workers or the boss into promotions. The quality of work is what really counts.

As soon as you reach the Medical Intern promotion, get ready for a hectic schedule. The Sim gets a beeper and has to come into work at odd hours.

Shifts start growing, too, so be ready to spend lots of time at the hospital as you work farther up the promotion ladder. Medical Interns earn the Give Medical Advice social, which helps out pregnant Sims.

Tip

Pregnant Sims who regularly seek medical advice (or receive it) assist the development of the pregnancy, which can lead to the baby getting highly desirable traits.

When you reach the Medical Intern position, you start receiving medical journals, too.

These are critical for future advancement because the number of journals read is a metric for deciding promotions alongside mood and Logic skill. In your off time, be sure to read these medical journals because the game keeps track of this statistic.

At the Resident level, Sims get two new socials: Give Good Medical Advice and Brag About Being a Doctor. The Give Good Medical Advice has a greater effect to expectant mothers—in fact, the Medical Sim can even deduce the sex of the baby.

Note

The Brag social impresses other Sims in conversation. If the other Sim is already romantically interested in the Medical Sim, that romance is further enhanced.

Community Activities

Upon reaching level 3 of the Medical career, Sims can now perform activities around the community just like the Ghost Hunter or Firefighter. Events like free clinics and vaccinations pop out on map view.

When you report to the community lot where these events are to take place, your Sim is typically swarmed by neighbors.

Now, you must perform as many of the necessary interactions on these Sims as possible before the time limit of the event expires. The more Sims you get to, the better your do at the activity.

If there is time in the work day following the activity, return to the hospital to complete your shift, manage tones to meet promotion metrics, and get paid.

Note

Community events do not have Current Job boxes to track activities and requirements. You just need to get to as many Sims as possible.

Use map view to identify and travel to medical events in the community.

Caution

Sims who do not receive treatment in a timely manner or are not gotten to by the end of the event leave dejectedly and you may suffer a reduced LTR with them.

Opportunities

Medical Sims are offered opportunities during the course of the career that result in payouts and increased relationships.

Some of these opportunities are single events while others are chained together. Upon completing the chain, your Sim is rewarded.

Emergency Testing

Hint
Test for Disease at community location to help with the outbreak.
Assist with Emergency at the hospital to help with the crisis.

Equipment Arrival

Hint
Discuss Medical Equipment at City Hall.
Discuss Vote with Sim X to gain support for issue.
Convince Sx Vote to 3 Sims to aid the council member.
Report in to Sim X.
Go to work to report in and receive a relationship boost with co-workers and the boss, and a large performance boost.

Hospital Mystery Hints

Hint
Investigate Scene at the hospital after work to find clues.
Question the three Sims to see if they have alibis or information about the crime.
Search for Card at the bistro to see if Sim X can track down the missing security card.
Question About Card with Sim X to see if any information about the lost card can be found.
Return to work to announce your success.

Bad Medical Cliques Hints

Hint
Discuss Conflict with Sim X to see what the issues are.
Discuss Lab Issue with Sim X to see if there is any way to better distribute the lab assignment time.
Throw a party and invite Sim X to get cooperation.
Report in to Sim X to see if everything will be fixed.

Equipment Needs Hints

Hint
Check on the Order at community location to determine the hang up.
Discuss Certification Process with Sim X. Be sure to be on a solid relationship standing first.
Check Public Records at City Hall to find out more about the problem.
Go to work to report in and receive relationship with the boss, money, and a performance boost.

Medical Outreach

Throughout the Medical career, your Sim is presented with events at local venues (those where you disappear) to confer about medical issues, discuss hospital business, or perform clinics.

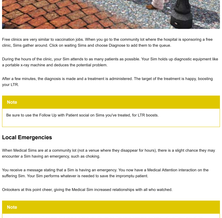
To complete these operations, you only need to click on the venue and choose to take on the Medical Outreach activity. Your Sim then travels to the location and, after several hours, emerges to positive results.

Vaccinations

Vaccination clinics occur at community lots. When you choose to fulfill this activity, your Sim travels to the designated lot and sets up shop. Within minutes, Sims start crowding around you to get their shots.

Click on waiting Sims and choose the Vaccinate interaction to "stack" them into your action queue. Your Sim then goes down the list, giving shots to each Sim until time is up.

Free Clinics



Free clinics are very similar to vaccination jobs. When you go to the community lot where the hospital is sponsoring a free clinic, Sims gather around. Click on waiting Sims and choose Diagnose to add them to the queue.

During the hours of the clinic, your Sim attends to as many patients as possible. Your Sim holds up diagnostic equipment like a portable x-ray machine and deduces the potential problem.

After a few minutes, the diagnosis is made and a treatment is administered. The target of the treatment is happy, boosting your LTR.

Note

Be sure to use the Follow Up with Patient social on Sims you've treated, for LTR boosts.

Local Emergencies

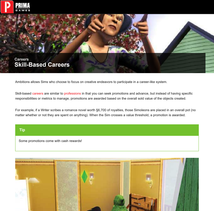
When Medical Sims are at a community lot (not a venue where they disappear for hours), there is a slight chance they may encounter a Sim having an emergency, such as choking.

You receive a message stating that a Sim is having an emergency. You now have a Medical Attention interaction on the suffering Sim. Your Sim performs whatever is needed to save the impromptu patient.

Onlookers at this point cheer, giving the Medical Sim increased relationships with all who watched.

Note

If a local emergency happens at a venue where you do certain, the save happens automatically without any of the cheers.



Careers

Skill-Based Careers

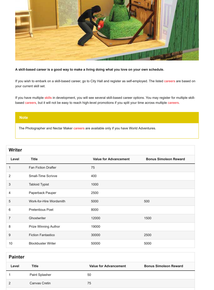
Ambitions allows Sims who choose to focus or creative endeavors to participate in a career-like system.

Skill-based careers are similar to professions in that you can seek promotions and advance, but instead of having specific responsibilities or metrics to manage, promotions are awarded based on the overall skill value of the objects created.

For example, if a Writer scribes a romance novel worth [8,700 of royalties, those Simoleons are placed in an overall pot (no matter whether or not they are spent on anything). When the Sim crosses a value threshold, a promotion is awarded.

Tip

Some promotions come with cash rewards!



A skill-based career is a good way to make a living doing what you love or your own schedule.

If you want to embark on a skill-based career, you'll need to get a job and attempt to be self-employed. The listed careers are based on your current skill set.

If you have multiple skills in development, you will see several skill-based career options. You may register for multiple skill-based careers, but it will not be easy to reach high-level promotions if you split your time across multiple careers.

Note

The Photographer and Nectar Maker careers are available only if you have World Adventures.

Bake Sale

Remember that classic computer game, Lemonade Stand?

Well, a similar game exists inside Ambitions to give child Sims a "career" of their own. Kids can now set up bake sale tables (buy from the Toys tab in Build/Buy Mode) in the front yard of their family lots or in community lots and sell goods made in the toy oven.

To get started on this cute, lucrative enterprise, a child needs to bake up a batch of something in the toy oven, such as muffins. After the muffins have finished, click on the bake sale table and choose the Stock Interaction.

Once the muffins are out, use the Tend interaction to start selling.

Almost immediately, friends and neighbors wander onto the lot, following the smell of those delicious muffins.

Children can then sell the muffins to other Sims for a few extra Simoleons. It's adorable and it gives children something to do other than watch TV.

Bob pays Alice.
Alice thinks that this is the best thing in the world.
Alice thinks that this is the best thing in the world.
Alice thinks that this is the best thing in the world.

Children are encouraged not to just let prices rule, though.

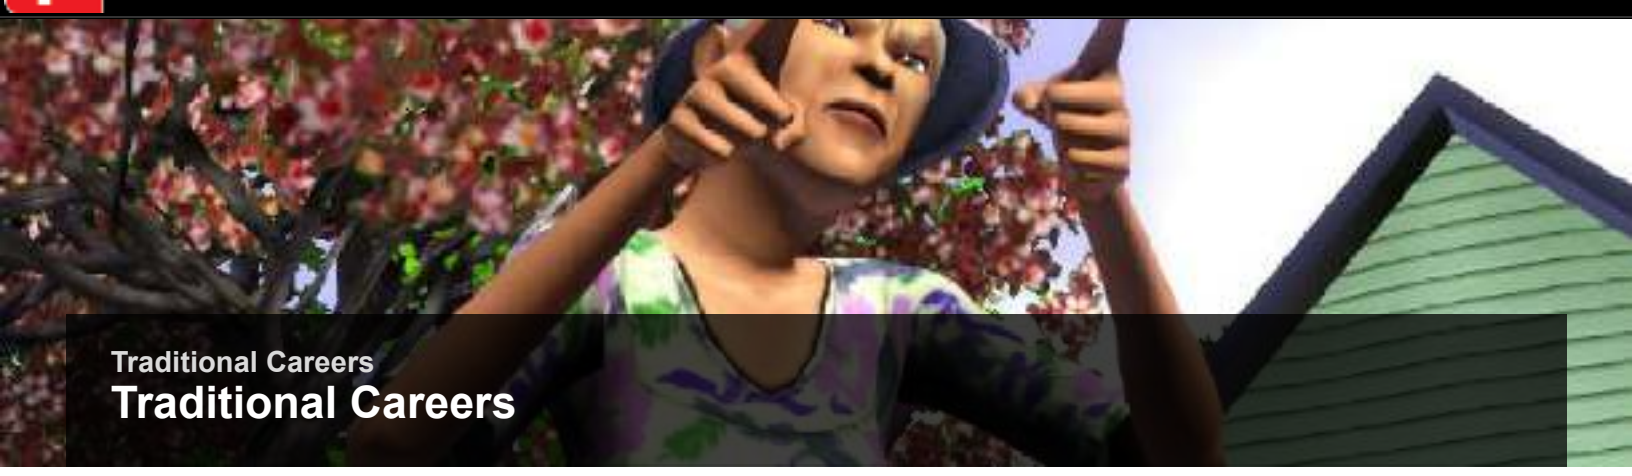
Tastes are fickle and by using the daily Baking Report in the newspaper (this is now an interaction on the newspaper), they can get an idea of where the collective sweet tooth is at that day.

Children set the prices for vanilla goods, chocolate goods, other goods, and all goods. If the goodies are priced right, they will almost fly off the table.

If success does, though, consider lowering the price on some baked goods to see if the customer base responds better.

Sims older than toddlers can also interact with the bake sale. Use the Purchase interaction to buy something from the table. Child Sims can also attempt to steal money from the table.

If an adult is present when a child attempts to do this, though, they get a stern lecture about not thieving. Evil or Mean grown-up Sims may even try to put this down!



Traditional Careers

Traditional Careers

Ambitions adds new jobs, but it does not remove any of the existing careers—the closest it comes is the modification of the Medical career into an active profession.

The existing career structure remains the same, with Sims reporting for almost-daily shifts at venues around the town, such as the business tower or the stadium.

In fact, one new career is added to the original career structure: Educator. The Educator reports to the local school for work during weekdays.

Use this section to master the new Educator career and all previous professions not affected by the professions system.

To sign up for a career, simply report to the building that headquarters the job, such as the military base or police station. Applying is as easy as left-clicking on the location and then choosing the offered career.

When your Sim reports to the job location, the career is immediately offered and the starting position/salary flashed on-screen. If you accept, you are given a schedule and expected to show up at the designated times.

There are multiple ways to advance a career.

Promotions are the most common benchmark of success and always come with a one-time Simoleon bonus, but there are social aspects to each career that involve getting to know co-workers, which has the potential to widen your circle of friends.

While at work, you can set the "tone" for your performance (more on these in a moment), which affects how you interact with co-workers or approach the job itself.

As you advance, your schedule changes and your salary rises. Typically, there are perks or benefits for hitting certain promotions.

Tip

Going to work in a good mood boosts your chances of promotion. Go see a movie the night before work to get the powerful Enjoyed a Great Movie moodlet that lasts almost the entire next day.

Tones

Although you do not actually see what your Sim does on these original jobs, you can dictate general behavior for that work day through tones.

Tones include behaviors such as working hard, getting to know co-workers, and sucking up to the boss. Some careers have unique tones, such as the Do a Side Job tone of the Criminal career.

Many of these tones play into earning promotions at work, so look at the provided promotion metrics for each career to see what tones are best for the next step in that career.

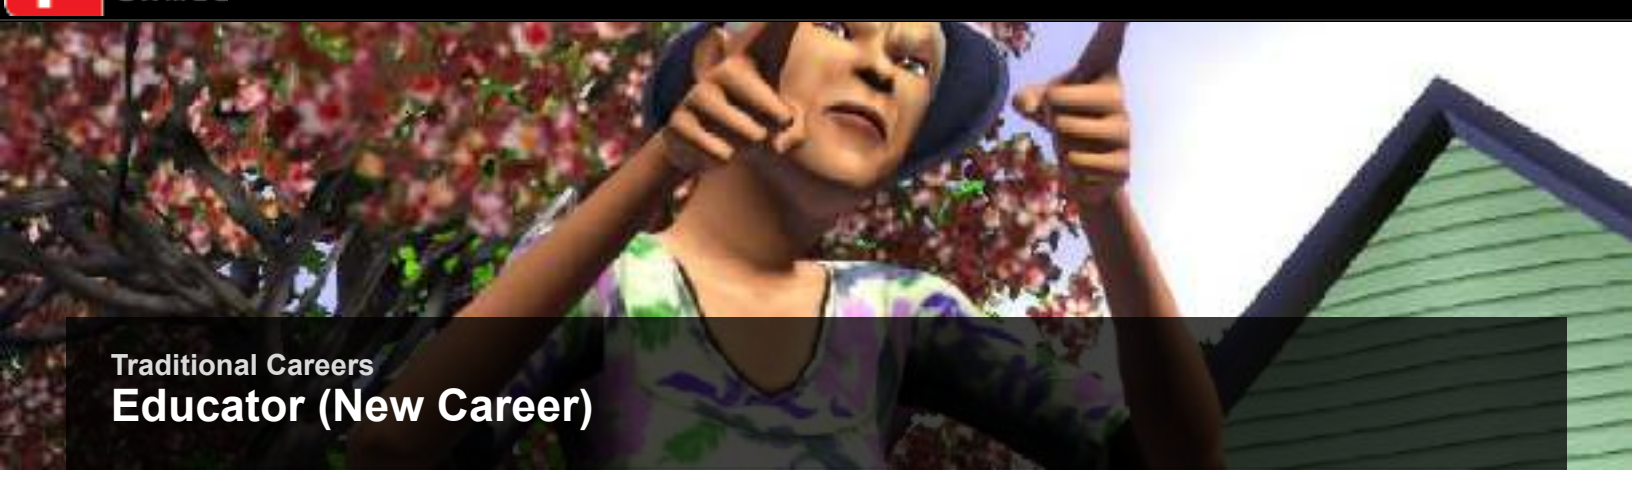
Note

Not all tones are available from the first day. In some careers, additional tones are earned when you reach specific promotions.

Retiring

Later in life, Sims can retire from a career and make a pension.

This pension is smaller than the wages normally made at that promotion level, but it is a great way to pull in daily income for necessary food and objects while pursuing skills.



Traditional Careers

Educator (New Career)

Fewer pursuits are more noble than the education of the young. In the new Educator career, Sims start off as your basic under-appreciated teacher.

However, hard work at both home and school generates success. Diligence leads to promotions that eventually install your Sim as District Superintendent, ready to oversee all schools in the community.

Work Location: Community School for the Gifted (Sunset Valley), Truelong Community School (Riverview), Stary Community School (Twinbrook)

How Hired: Report to school, answer computer ad, answer newspaper ad

Work Week: The Educator maintains hours similar to a normal school week. However, at the upper levels of the career, the work day is shortened by an hour or two.

Salary Progression: As you might imagine, this career pays very little at first. And even at the higher promotion level, it is still not a huge money-maker. But Educators can earn extra Simoleons by giving lectures.

Educator Tones

Business as Usual	Do just enough work so as not to get stressed
Work Hard	Work hard to increase performance but adds stress
Meet co-workers	Meet co-workers
Hang with co-workers	Build relationships with co-workers
Grade Boss' Papers	Build relationships with boss
Give Extra Lecture	Deliver lecture that results in extra performance and simoleon bonuses

Benefits and Rewards

The Educator career begins as many do. Sims can either report to the local school or apply for the position through the newspaper or via computer. Once accepted, the Sim is given the position of Playground Monitor.

At this point in the career, the only metric for promotion is mood. Coming to school with a smile on your face results in advancement.

Do things the night before that put your Sim in a long-lasting good mood, such as going to see a movie or concert. (Unless there is another Sim in the household, the early stages of the Educator career don't pay well enough to enjoy the benefits of spa treatments.)

However, do not wait to start developing the Charisma skill, because it is a metric for the third level of the career: Substitute Teacher.

By the time your Sim achieves the Elementary School promotion, the Logic skill metric is introduced. Now, the constant development of Logic is important to continue climbing the career ladder.

Using a chess set at the local park is a good way to start building this skill without a big expenditure.

Attending a Logic class over a weekend (the normal days off for an Educator) or curling up with one of the Logic books from the local bookseller are also good ways to keep this metric on track and growing throughout the career.

Tip

Once the Elementary School Teacher promotion is bagged, Educators are more effective at helping children and teens with their homework.

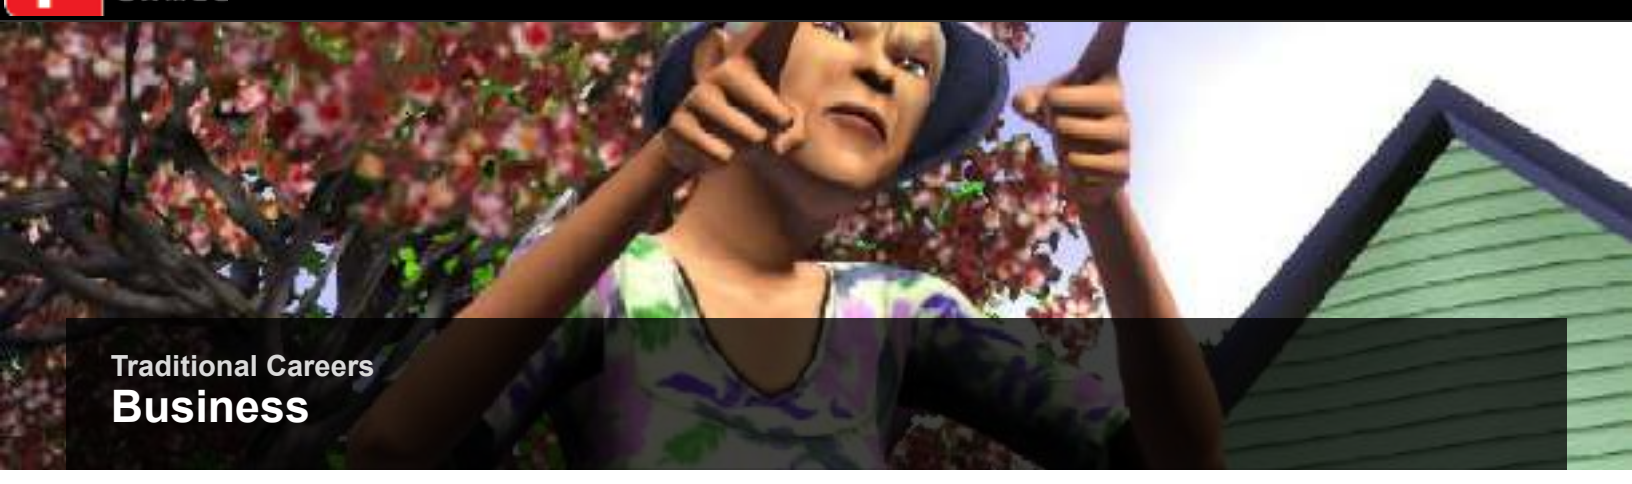
This proves beneficial for both parties, as it not only aids the student, but it also builds the relationship between them.

At the sixth level of the career, High School Teacher, Educators get a new tone: Give Lecture. This tone is limited to specific hours (listed on-screen during available days) but has two extra effects.

One, the number of lectures given is kept track of because it is a metric for all future promotions. Two, it pays well. Giving lectures, though, can take time away from time spent with other tones and pursuits, so be mindful of this.

Finally, once you reach the top of the career—District Superintendent—you get a brand new action you can perform around town: Give Great Lecture.

This is very similar to the Give Inspirational Speech action/reward within the Political career. Use it in one-on-one conversations or in groups. Either way, it results in the Heard Great Lecture moodlet boost for all within earshot.



Traditional Careers

Business

The business career unfolds exactly as you might expect. Sims dutifully report to work in the morning to attend meetings and climb the corporate ladder.

As you approach the top of the career ranking, the requirements to reach each new promotion become harder to juggle. But that should be expected for a career with such incredible financial rewards.

You cannot coast. You must work hard, appealing to both the boss and co-workers so that one day that corner office is yours.

Work Location: Doo Peas Corporate Towers (both towns)

How Hired: Report to business tower, answer computer ad, answer newspaper ad

Work Week: The career is a Monday through Friday job with normal business hours. At first, the hours are a little longer. However, over time, those hours are spread out across meetings that are required as part of the job at different times.

Salary Progression: This career pays very little at first. However, when you move up the ranks, the Simoleon rewards grow exponentially. As you close in on the top levels of the career, the salary is huge.

Business Tones

Tones	Description
Business as Usual	Perform average job duties
Hold Meetings	Available to schedule meetings, slows performance growth
Meet co-workers	Allows Sim to possibly meet new co-workers that have not already been met outside of work
Chat at Water Cooler	Build relationships with co-workers
Suck Up to Boss	Build relationships with boss
Power Work	Work hard to increase performance, but adds stress
Meet Medical Personnel	Allows Sim to possibly meet new co-workers that have not already been met outside of work<

Benefits and Rewards

To work your way up this career, you must have a good relationship with the boss. This can be achieved by the Suck Up to Boss tone, but this risks alienating co-workers.

This turns into a problem later in the career when the relationship with co-workers becomes a metric for which your promotion is judged.

Being charismatic can help with this career because after meeting co-workers on the job, you can then improve those relationships outside working hours.

Tip

The Business career is the easiest to master because it requires the fewest skills.

Once you reach the Division Manager promotion, you can start holding meetings and meeting opportunities come regularly.

Making these meetings becomes a critical metric for making additional promotions. Here, the career starts to consume a lot of time and attention.

Tip

Don't worry about missing scheduled work hours to attend meetings. Meetings supersede scheduled work at the Doo Peas Towers.

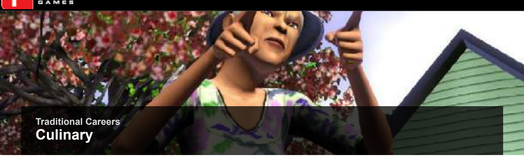
Note

When you earn the CEO promotion, you ride to work in a limo.

One of the key benefits of this career comes at the top promotion to Power Broker. Now, you have complete control over working hours by choosing to hold meetings at your whim.

You are paid for these meetings, too, so you have control over how much money is made during that specific day. A day full of meetings is very lucrative.

This flexibility allows the Power Broker to pursue different skills or attend to a household without worrying about a heavy work schedule.



Traditional Careers
Culinary

Sims who want to pursue a career in the culinary arts should head to either the bistro or the diner.

This is not one of the higher paying careers, but it does come with a lot of perks, such as the consistent development of the Cooking skill while at work and discounts at the restaurant of employment.

Work Locations: Little Corsican Bistro or Hogan's Deep-Fried Diner (both towns)

How Hired: Report to bistro or diner, answer computer ad, answer newspaper ad

Work Week: Normal work week but with hours that start later in the day. Sims are typically reporting to work in late morning or early afternoon and do not come home until late.

Salary Progression: Starting pay is very low and increases only a little with each promotion. Even at high level, this is not a high-paying career.

Culinary Tones

Tones	Description
Business as Usual	Perform average job duties
Work Hard	Work hard to increase performance, but adds stress
Take it Easy	Relax at work. Slower performance, but less stress
Practice Cooking	Increases cooking skill at work
Meet Co-Workers	Allows Sim to possibly meet new co-workers that have not already been met outside of work
Hang with Co-Workers	Build relationship with co-workers
Suck up to Boss	Build relationship with Boss
Grovel to Leader	Build relationship with boss

Benefits and Rewards

Because cooking is such an important part of every Sim's life, the Culinary career has benefits that extend far beyond a daily paycheck.

The Culinary career offers the Practice Cooking tone, which lets you advance the Cooking skill while earning a paycheck.

Using this tone may come at the expense of not hastening an improved relationship with the boss or with co-workers (essential to promotion), but being a good cook is a mood booster for your Sim and potentially all other Sims in a household.

Caution

While cooking at work improves the Cooking skill, remember that cooking a recipe at home also improves the quality of the recipe each time you cook it.

Tip

Improving your Cooking skill is an important part of the promotion game in the Culinary career. Make sure you practice at home and don't rely on too many quick meals or snacks.

Good food is a mood booster for all Sims, so the benefit of occasionally getting free meals from work to take back to the lot is a real happiness generator.

This benefit does not happen until the Sim reaches Ingredient Taster. But once it happens, expect to see free meals on a regular basis. And if you have multiple Sims in a household, that free meal will have enough servings to satisfy all.

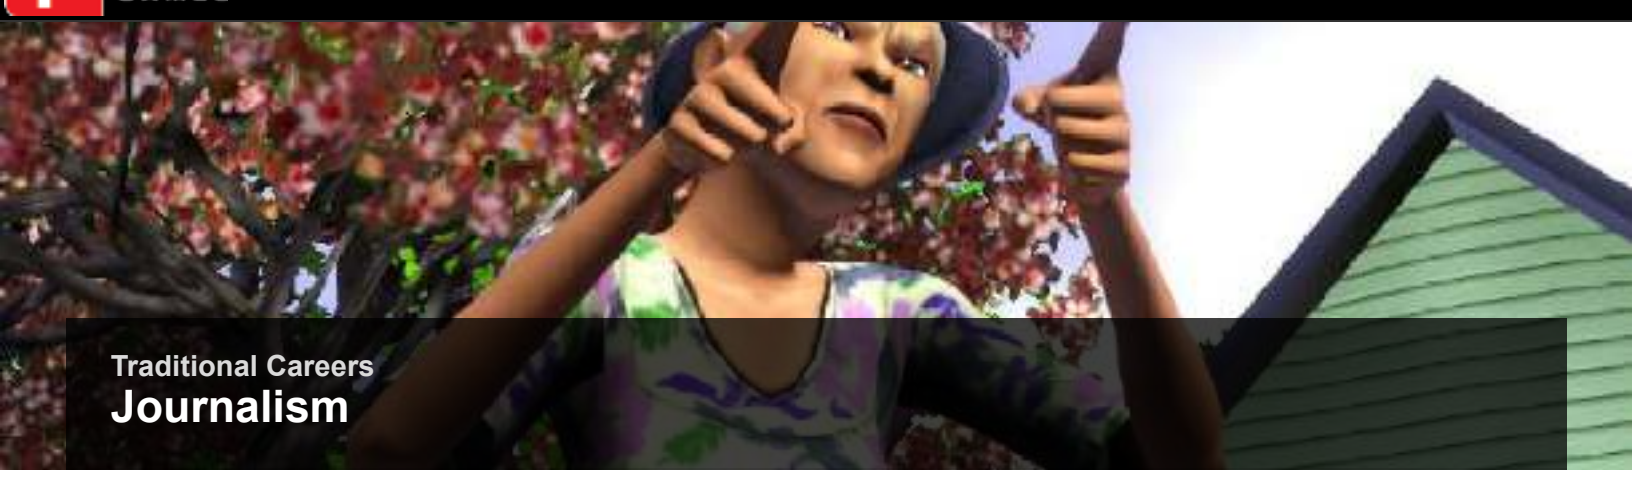
Dining out is another mood booster that benefits from the Culinary career. At the Sous-Chef level, Sims get a discount at the restaurant where they work. This saves money on meals.

Once the Sim reaches Executive Chef, the discount extends to both restaurants.

Sims in the Culinary career get two very cool equipment bonuses. At the Pastry Chef position, the Sim earns the food processor, which speeds up the cooking process at home.

The real prize, though, comes at the final promotion: Five-Star Chef. The Sim is awarded the MinusOne Kelvin Refrigerator.

This fridge gives the Superior Equipment moodlet to any Sim who walks near it. Also any recipe that uses food out of the fridge will come out high quality.



Traditional Careers

Journalism

As a journalist, Sims must chase down the facts not only during work hours, but on their own time, too. Such dedication is as reward in it itself, for the pursuit of truth is the noblest professional of all.

Work Location: Doo Peas Corporate Towers (both towns)

How Hired: Report to business tower, answer computer ad, answer newspaper ad

Work Week: Regular work week, but the week is often augmented by regular opportunities

Salary Progression: Low-paying career at the beginning and not exactly an account-stuffer over time either. Cash bonuses at promotion times are strong, though.

Suck up to Boss	Build relationship with Boss

Benefits and Rewards

Like other careers where a certain skill is in play, pursuing the Journalism career lets a Sim advance their Writing skill while at the office.

Sure, this is to the exclusion of seeking better relationships with the boss or co-workers, but it also opens up more genre possibilities for writing lucrative novels at home in the Sim's spare time.

Joining the Journalism career also allows the Sim to engage in a new type of writing: stories and reviews. This subject only lasts, though, for as long as the Sim holds a Journalism career.

You can write an article at home without doing any research. It goes into your Sim's inventory and generates royalty payment. To create a story or a review, though, you need to do some research.

Rummaging in trash cans is a good way to gather material. So is interviewing a Sim or going to a movie.

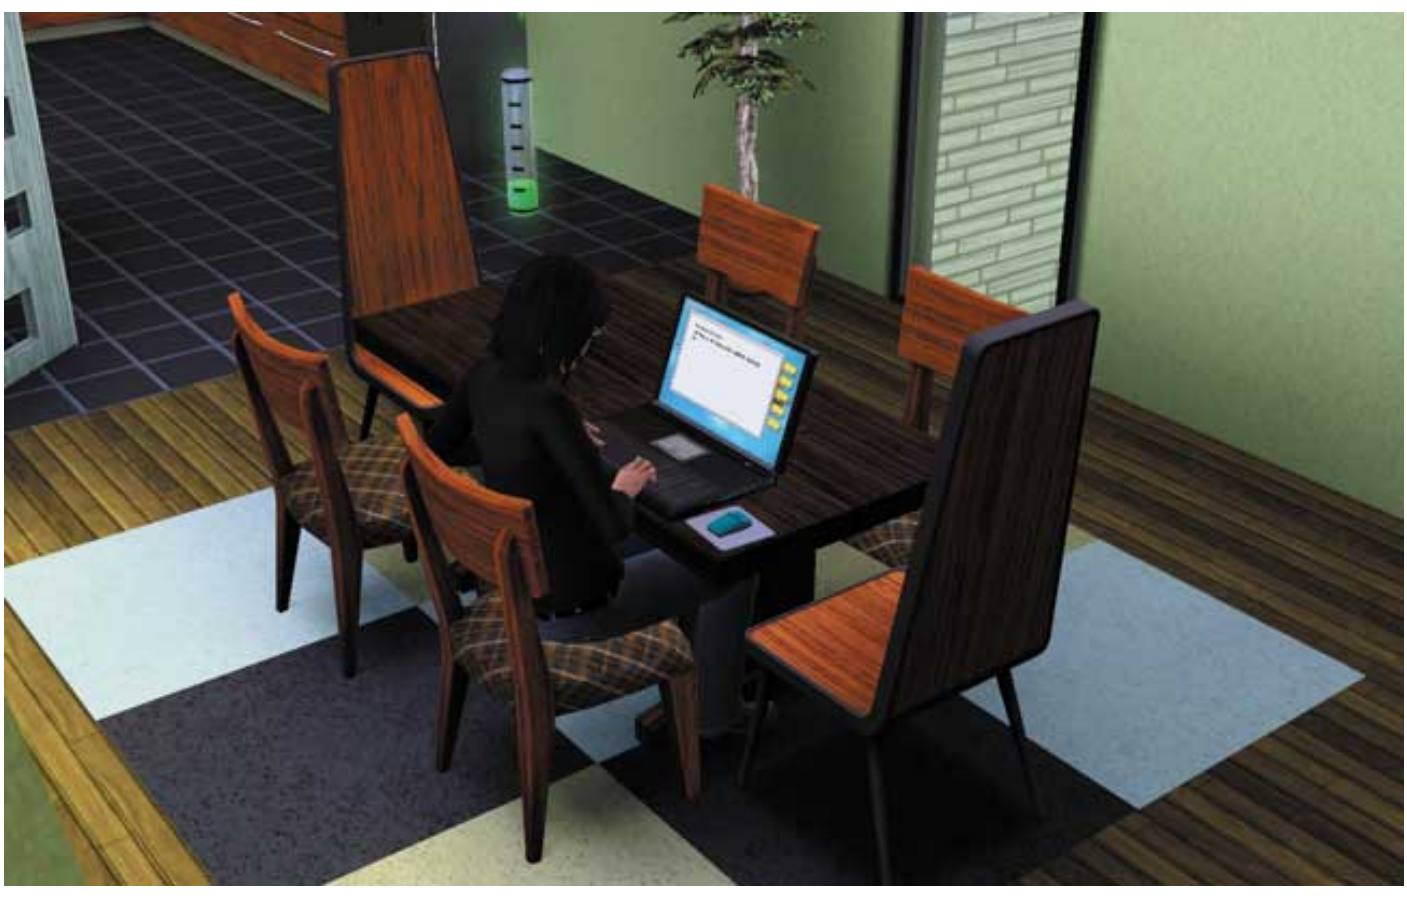
Once this has happened, a new interaction appears: Write a Negative/Positive review/story. This does not create an object, like writing an article.

Instead, this goes toward boosting the "Stories and Reviews" metric needed for promotions.

Not every promotion takes stories and reviews into consideration, though. You really need to work on Charisma skill to keep getting ahead. The Charisma skill ranking is an important metric for promotion.

This just adds to the career workload, as you must now juggle improving the Writing skill, improving the Charisma skill, and writing articles outside of work hours.

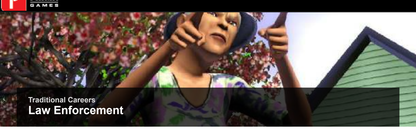
Fortunately, the work hours in this career are slightly lower than others, giving you extra free time for these career-related pursuits.



When you finally reach the top of the career track—Star News Anchor—you unlock a new social: Tell Intriguing News Story. This social is perfect for situations where you want to boost a relationship with another Sim.

Tip

The Tell Intriguing News Story social can be used several times with another Sim before it loses its effectiveness.



Traditional Careers

Law Enforcement

Not everybody is on the up-and-up. With a criminal element afoot, the city needs its fair share of Law Enforcement officers. This career branches, and the two tracks lead to different rewards.

The Law Enforcement career also uses a number of skills as metrics for promotion, so having a well-rounded Sim is a plus.

Work Location: Police Station (both towns)

How Hired: Report to Police Station, answer computer ad, answer newspaper ad

Work Week: Sim maintains normal workweek hours (9 to 5), but the Special Agent branch cuts those hours by three per day and adds an on-call alert that sometimes requires work at odd hours.

Salary Progression: Decent wages until the career branches. The Special Agent branch gets higher bonus for promotions while Forensic Analysts get a higher daily wage.

Law Enforcer Tones

Tones	Description
Business as Usual	Perform average job duties
Work Hard	Work hard to increase performance but adds stress
Take It Easy	Relax at work. Slower performance, but less stress.
Chat with Partner	Build relationships with co-workers
Build independent case	Side work that can result in extra cash
Use workout Facility	Build athletics skill at work to expense of performance
Suck up to the Boss	Build relationship with boss

Benefits and Rewards

The Law Enforcement career takes a few interesting turns but comes with some exciting rewards and side benefits.

One of the tones for work is to Build Independent Case, which detracts from dealing with co-workers or the daily workload, but is quite useful if successful.

If after a lot of time building this case against a criminal, the case ends up being a success and the Sim has a chance at an immediate promotion. However, if the case fails, the Sim risks losing the respect of co-workers.

Tip

The current Logic skill level is what determines the chance of success, so build up that skill before trying out this tone.

At level 3, the Sim can apprehend Burglars, which goes a long way toward getting a promotion.

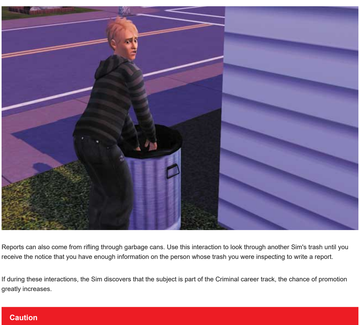
At level 5, the Sim gets a police car, which improves travel time. At level 5, the Sim chooses a branch of the career to pursue. Each branch has an different end reward.

Writing Reports

One of the metrics for doling out promotions is the number of reports written. Sims in the Law Enforcement track create reports on other Sims by conducting interviews with the Question social. (This social is not negative.)

During the questioning, the interviewer discovers the other Sim's traits, which is actually quite useful for social situations outside the workday.

To keep this fair, Sims can only use the Question social on each Sim once per promotion level. Otherwise, you could amass quite a file on the citizenry.



Reports can also come from rifling through garbage cans. Use this interaction to look through another Sim's trash until you receive the notice that you have enough information on the person whose trash you were inspecting to write a report.

If during these interactions, the Sim discovers that the subject is part of the Criminal career track, the chance of promotion greatly increases.

Caution

Rummaging through the trash leads to the Disgusted moodlet. Be ready to shower after extensive garbage-sifting sessions.

It also causes disgusting items to be deposited in the Sim's inventory, which then need to be cleaned out.

Branching Career Rewards

Advance the Logic skill to succeeded in all branches of the Law Enforcement career. Get started with a logic book or chess set (home or park) to get a jump on the first promotions.

When the career branches after the fifth promotion, two more skills come into play.

The Painting skill must be developed for the Forensics branch, and the Athletic skill must be advanced for the Special Agent branch. After the split, the Logic skill is still critical to getting promotions.

The Forensics branch has a reward as soon as you earn its first promotion: laptop. The laptop computer is placed in the personal inventory and can be used at home.

The top reward for the career is a new computer interaction: Run Forensic Analysis. This is a lengthy interaction, but it results in a payday. This is a good way to make additional money when not at work.

The Special Agent branch of the career has two special rewards that are given out at level 10: Tell Impressive Story and Raid Warehouse. Tell Impressive Story is a special social. It immediately impresses the Sim it is directed at.

The Raid Warehouse interaction directs the Sim to enter the warehouse at night and disappears for a few hours.

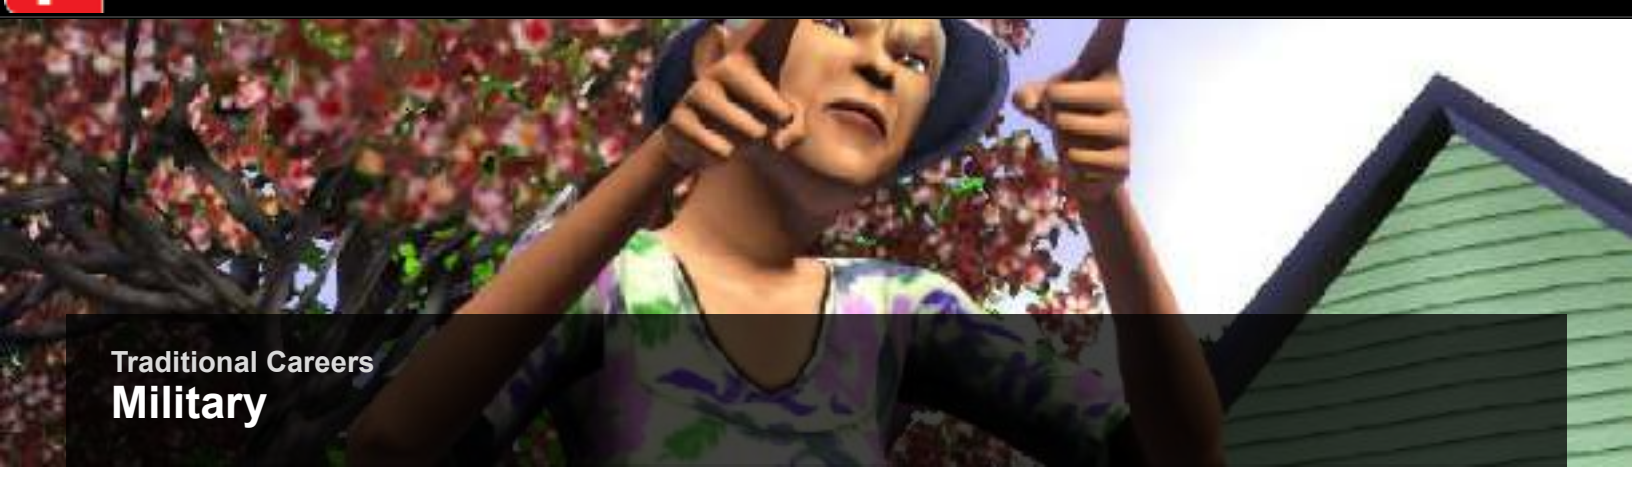
If the raid is a success (based on mood, Athletic skill, and Logic skill), the Sim has the potential to earn two different rewards. A mild success at the warehouse results in a small monetary bonus.

A big success results in a huge payday. Special Agents also unlock the Raid Warehouse interaction, which lets you raid the criminal headquarters at the warehouse.

Depending on your mood and athletic skill, you can have a great, good, or bad raid. A great and good raid results in extra cash. A bad raid just brings your mood down.

Caution

Should the Raid Warehouse fail, the Sim is booted out of the warehouse and given the Sore moodlet. Get a massage to wash away those negative feelings.



Traditional Careers

Military

Fortunately, peace has broken out in Sunset Valley and Riverview and Sims in the Military career need not worry about shipping out to war.

They do have a goal that takes them outside of town, though. Way outside of town. As in, into space.

Work Location: Fort Gnome Military Base (Sunset Valley), Fort Salas Military Base (Riverview)

How Hired: Report to military base, answer computer ad, answer newspaper ad

Work Week: Work at the base starts early and lasts until the later afternoon, but at least there are fewer work days in a week.

Salary Progression: Sims starts with a modest salary, but the promotion to Flight Officer comes with a nice bonus.

Benefits and Rewards

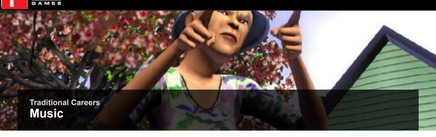
To advance in the military career and earn benefits, Sims must develop two different skills: Athletic and Handiness. (Fortunately, the Handiness skill can be learned right on base through a class.)

Other metrics contribute to the chance of promotion, too, including the relationships with fellow soldiers and base superiors. Naturally, mood is also a factor.

Working hard and keeping these skills in active advancement leads to some fun rewards.

For example, as soon as the career begins, you start saluting other soldiers of superior rank. But at level 4, Squad Leader, inferiors start saluting you.

When you reach the Top Gun rank, random Sims are also inspired to salute you. Citizen salutes are positive and will start any social encounter with an impressed context.



Traditional Careers

Music

Let a little music fill your life with this exciting career track. This career is not about the money—it's about the music.

Or, at least it's about the music at first with the extra benefit of truckloads of Simoleons later on when you're filling stadiums with fans that cannot wait to hear your next overblown anthem.

The music career has two branches, the Rock and the Symphonic tracks.

Work Location: Wilsonolf Community Theatre (both towns)

How Hired: Report to theatre, answer computer ad, answer newspaper ad

Work Week: This is a slower work week with fewer hours than other careers—and never any work on Sunday. When the career splits, the Rock branch moves to an evening shift closer to the weekends. The Symphonic branch remains closer to the original level with occasional concerts.

Salary Progression: Musicians make low pay in the beginning. Toward the top of the career ladder, musicians are very well-paid.

Chill with Band/Musicians	Build relationship with co-workers
Meet Band/Orchestra Members	Allows Sim to possibly meet new co-workers that have not already been met outside of work
Study Music Theory	Build Guitar and Logic skills
Perform	Slowly increases your Performance metric

Benefits and Rewards

Naturally, the key to advancing in this career is the development of the Guitar skill.

Starting out with a class at the theatre is a good way to get a head-start on the career, even before you start your first day, since the Guitar skill is critical for every step in the career.

To continue moving up the career ladder, you must maintain a good mood and have a good relationship with co-workers, who are called band or orchestra members depending on the career path taken.

Use of the Study Music Theory tone because it helps build the Guitar skill—and the Logic skill, which is a critical measure for the Symphonic branch.

In the Rock branch, you need to practice for gigs because performing concerts is a key to advancement.

Rock Branch

The next promotion following the Music Talent Scout in the Rock branch is Lyricist. When you reach this promotion, you can start holding concerts.

Use this interaction on the theatre and stadium to stage two- or four-hour concerts that are measured as part of the promotion process.

(This interaction is only available between noon and midnight.) Once you choose to hold a concert and enter the venue, other Sims will follow.

Once inside the Rock branch of the career, the relationship with band members remains important.

Continue fostering these relationships, hang out with band members outside of work, and always go into a shift in a good mood to maintain this important metric.

Keep performing concerts and keep up the Guitar skill to reach the pinnacle of the branch: Rock Star. At this level, your carpool is replaced by a pastel limo that will take you anywhere.

At this level, the Sim can also select venues and choose to Hold Autograph Session, just like the Athlete career.

The goal is to sign as many autographs as possible with the other Sims on the lot. The more signed, the more money is awarded for the session.

Once the Sim achieves Rock Star, they no longer have a work schedule. Money is earned exclusively by holding concerts.

To maximize pay-outs, hold the concert at the stadium. The concert takes longer than one at the theatre, but the salary is double.

Note

Between levels 8 and 10 of the Rock branch, Sims have two new socials: Worship and Be Worshipped. This social is acutely positive, as even Sims who are as low on the relationship ladder as Acquaintance will engage the Sim.

Symphonic Branch

The Symphonic branch of the Music career unfolds a bit differently than the Rock branch.

In this track, relationships with other musicians are very important, so be sure to use that tone to get ahead. Keep advancing the Guitar skill whenever possible, too.

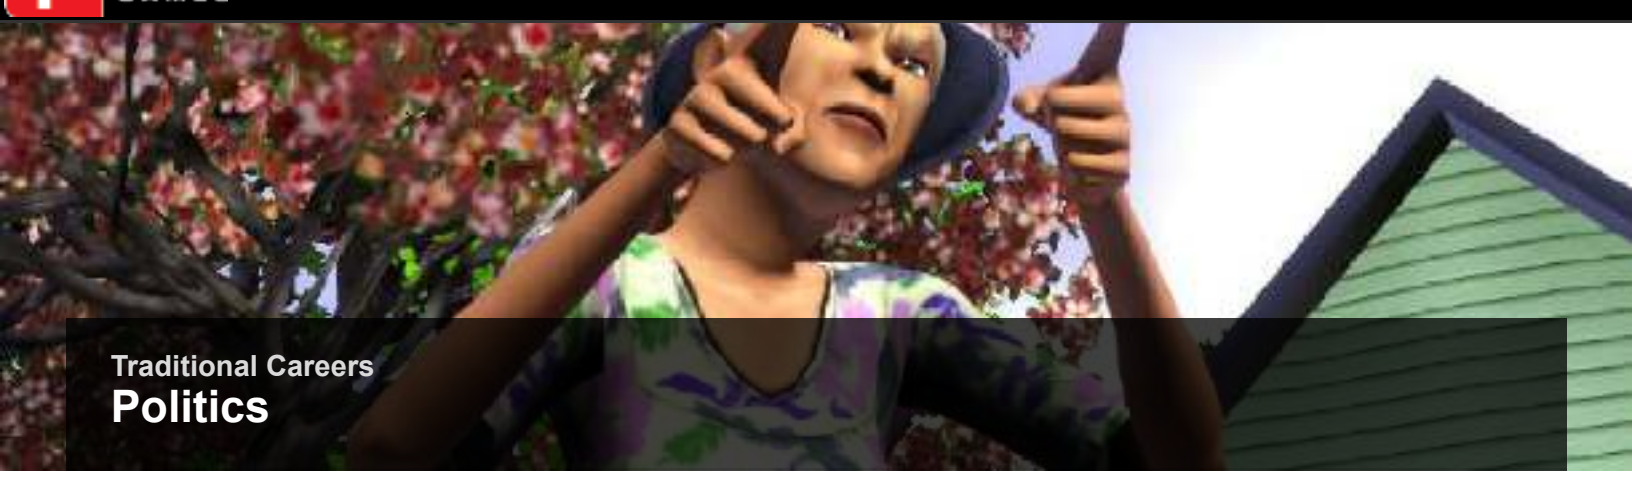
Once you close in on the Orchestra Lead promotion, develop the Logic skill. (Practice Music Theory is a good way to boost the Logic skill while at work.)

Once you reach level 8 of this career—Orchestra Lead—you earn free admission to activities at the theatre. This is great for boosting moods.

The highest level of the career—Hit Movie Composer—comes with an object reward: 85g Audio Explosion. This high-end stereo boosts the Fun of Sims in its listening radius and can be used to develop the Athletic ability.

Note

Between levels 9 and 10 of the Symphonic branch, Sims have access to the Worship/Be Worshipped social. The effects are the same as they are in the Rock branch.



Traditional Careers

Politics

Politics is no career for the timid Sim. This is a highly social career track that requires a great deal of socializing with the people of Sunset Valley and Riverview.

Because this is such a social career, the Charisma skill is required. Also required: no fear of asking other Sims for money. Campaigns don't pay for themselves, you know.

Work Location: City Hall (both towns)

How Hired: Report to City Hall, answer computer ad, answer newspaper ad

Work Week: This career works a normal work week at first, but as Sims advance in the career, they work fewer hours because the career requires so much socializing.

Salary Progression: Until level 5 of the career, political Sims do not make that much money. Once they reach the City Council Member position, the bonuses and salaries grow. This career will not make your Sim rich, though.

Meet Co-Workers	Allows Sim to possibly meet new co-workers that have not already been met outside of work
Run Errands for Superior	Build relationship with boss
Suggest New Course of Action	Research new ideas that can possibly increase performance or relationships

Benefits and Rewards

At first, mood is the only metric used to measure performance and award promotions. But to get ahead, be sure to start practicing Charisma early on through various means, like taking a class at City Hall or practicing in the mirror at home.

Having a good Charisma level will make it much easier to advance early in this career.

The Yes-Man promotion is given out to a Sim who has a good relationship with the boss, so use the Run Errands for Supervisor tone early on, too. Getting in good with the boss is preferable to being popular with co-workers.

To move up to the City Council position, though, you need to start raising campaign contributions, which is another metric for promotion.

The social Ask for Campaign Donation will usually result in a small Simoleon transfer, although hitting up a wealthy Sim will elicit a larger donation. Fortunately, this social is positive.

Caution

You cannot use the Ask for Campaign Contribution social on household members.

Note

Here is a naughty bit of business with campaign contributions. Every so often, you will be asked if you want to transfer money out of the campaign kitty and into the household account.

This is risky. If caught, the Sim is expelled from the career.

Tip

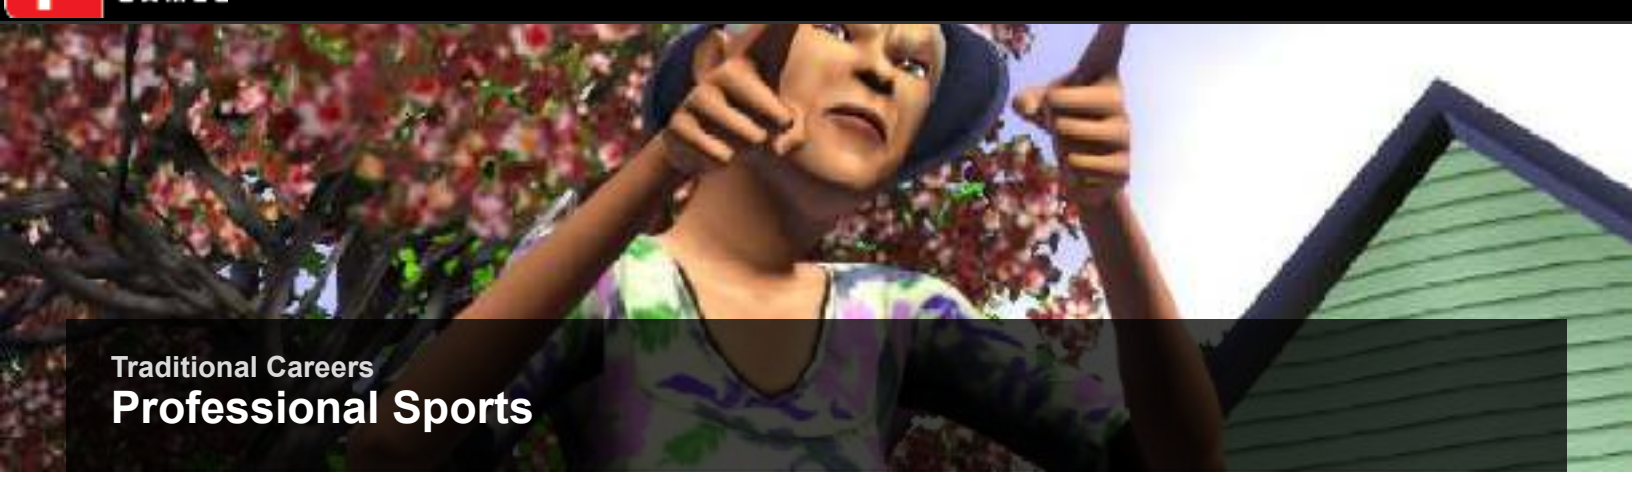
Political Sims can throw Campaign Fundraisers, which are just like parties. (See the Relationships chapter for details on how to throw a party.) If the party is successful, the host receives campaign contributions at its conclusion.

Once you reach the Local Representative position, you have a new social: Give Inspirational Speech. You can use this positive social you can use on a single Sim or in a group setting.

It gives everybody a positive impression of you and sets up healthy relationships. Yes we can, indeed.

At higher levels you get two nice benefits. At the Governor level, a black limo drives you everywhere.

As Leader of the Free World, your Sim gains the Aura of Leadership, and other Sims wave at them wherever they go. This boosts the relationship with other Sims and can also result in the Celebrity moodlet.



Traditional Careers

Professional Sports

The Professional Sports career charts a course from zero to hero. The Sims slowly become deeply involved with the local sports team. At first, they are a fan with a dream.

Then, they join the team and start working up the ranks. Soon, shifts are supplemented by sporting events where winning and losing has a direct effect on mood and on the Game Record metric.

Work Location: Llama Memorial Stadium (both towns)

How Hired: Report to stadium, answer computer ad, answer newspaper ad

Work Week: Five day work week with evening shifts. Soon, two shifts a week are replaced by games that only last a few hours. During this period, the work week increases to six days to offset the fewer hours.

Salary Progression: The Professional Sports career starts with a low salary. However, as the Sim progresses, that changes. At the upper ranks, this is one of the most lucrative careers.

Benefits and Rewards

Naturally, this is a great career for a Sim with both the Athletic trait and developing the Athletic skill.

Once you reach the Toddler Sports Coach position, you can start using the Work Out at Gym work tone, which lets you continue developing the Athletic skill at work, albeit at a slower pace than at home or on personal time. (Up until this promotion, reporting to work does not increase the Athletic skill.)

Professional Sports Tones

Tones	Description
Business as Usual	Perform average job duties
Prepare for Game	Get ready for next game. Increases chances of winning next game
Meet Teammates	Allows Sim to possibly meet new co-workers that have not already been met outside of work
Hang with Teammates	Build relationship with co-workers
Slack Off in Locker Room	Take it easy at work to reduce stress
Work Out in Gym	Develop Athletic skill

Tip

Sports professionals do not get the Stressed Out moodlet from work like other careers.

The Rookie promotion starts the game part of the career. Now work is often replaced by practice and the career keeps a running tally on the team's win-loss record.

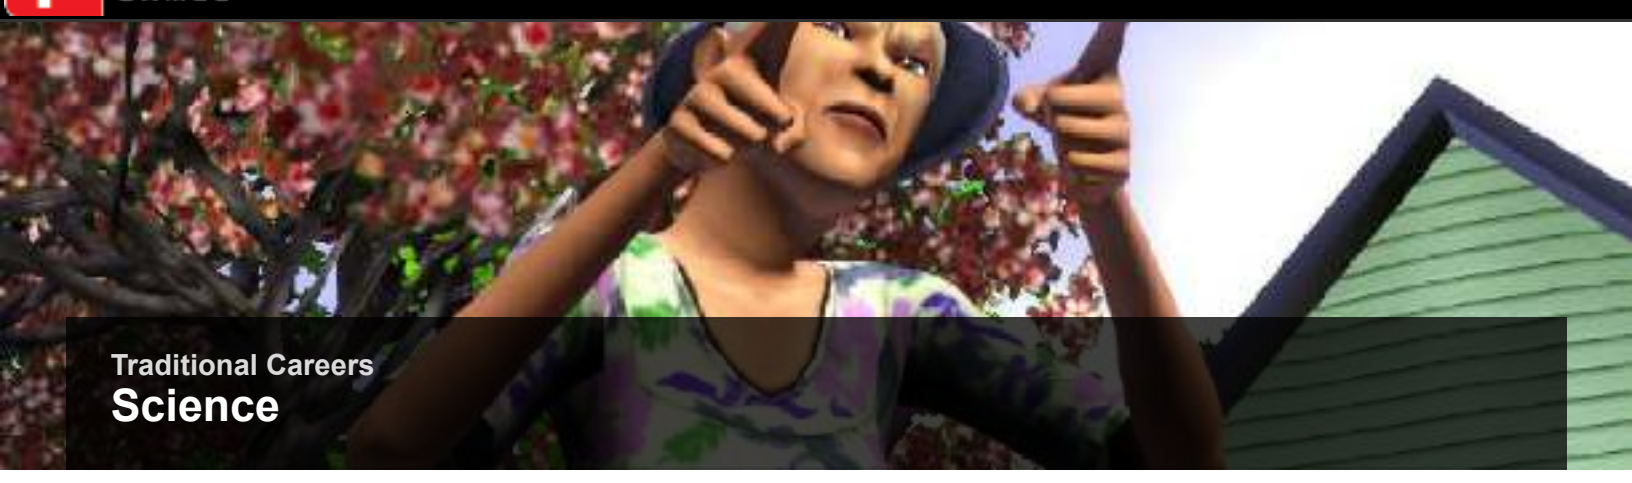
The higher the Sim's Athletic skill, the greater the chance at winning the game, which in turn improves the Sim's mood with the Winner moodlet. The chance of winning a game is also improved by the Prepare for Game tone.

Tip

Members of a Sim's household can see a sporting event for free.

Once the Sim reaches the top promotion—Sports Legend—two things happen. One, the Sim can now perform the Do Advertising Deal interaction at businesses for Simoleons at least once a week.

Two, the Sim can also Hold Autograph Sessions at venues where they are handsomely rewarded for signing autographs for as many Sims on the lot as possible.



Traditional Careers

Science

A mind is a terrible thing to taste—er, waste. This career celebrates that organ between the ears, the cortex that pulses with thoughts and desires.

The Science career requires a keen sense of Handiness and a real green thumb, as well as a desire to both observe and collect.

Work Location: Landgraab Industries Science Facility (Sunset Valley), Soil & Water Research Center (Riverview)

How Hired: Report to science center, answer computer ad, answer newspaper ad

Work Week: Normal work week: five days with average hours in the 9 to 3 range because of the extra time needed to advance skills.

Salary Progression: The science career offers a modest salary with moderate bonuses and increases over time. This is not a rich Sim's career, but the skills developed during the career can lead to alternate incomes.

Science Tones

Tones	Description
Business as Usual	Perform average job duties
Work Hard	Work hard to increase performance, but adds stress
Relax in Specimen Closet	Relax at work. Slower performance, but less stress.
Meet Fellow Scientists	Allows Sim to possibly meet new co-workers that have not already been met outside of work
Hang Out with Fellow Scientists	Build relationship with co-workers
Assist Boss with Research	Build relationship with boss
Do Independent Experiment	Doing this tone builds toward promotion or at least performance boost

Benefits and Rewards

The benefits of the Science career are plentiful, but you must be attentive to skills to receive the promotions that award them.

The immediate skill required for the career is Gardening which can be learned at the science center or through a book. Get a jump on gardening as soon as you join the career.

Later in the career, two additional skill comes into play: Handiness and Fishing. At no point are relationships a metric for advancement because, warranted or not, scientists aren't exactly known for their social graces.

Tip

Do not wait until you close in on a promotion that requires Fishing or Gardening to start learning those skills. Develop those skills early.

One of the most useful tones in this career is Do Independent Experiment. While performing this tone, you do side experiments that have a chance of resulting in great things.

These experiments take time, though. You will not complete one in just a day. If the project is a success, though, you might get an immediate promotion.

From time to time, scientists will come home with extras in their personal inventories, such as a fish or a harvestable.

They tend to be uncommon. Upon reaching level 7 of the career, Genetic Resequencer, the Sim receives one of the following special harvestables: Flame Frut, Life, Money Tree, or Omni Plant.

Perform Experiment On!

Upon reaching the height of the career, the Sim receives a new interaction to perform on household objects: Perform Experiment On. This interaction works on seats, beds, electronics, and appliances.

It acts like an upgrade. Once the interaction is complete, the Sim stands back to have a look at what was accomplished. If the upgrade goes well, the following may happen:

Object gets environmental boost.

Object broadcasts music, giving all Sims in the area the Enjoying Music moodlet.

Object earns random upgrade from Handiness upgrade list.

Object starts broadcasting random moodlets that affect Sims in the room: Attractive, Beautiful Vista, Cheered Up, Comforted, Feeling Lucky, New Car Smell, New Stuff, Oddly Powerful, Tranquil, or Warmed.

Conversely, this interaction can have negative effects, too. These things can go wrong:

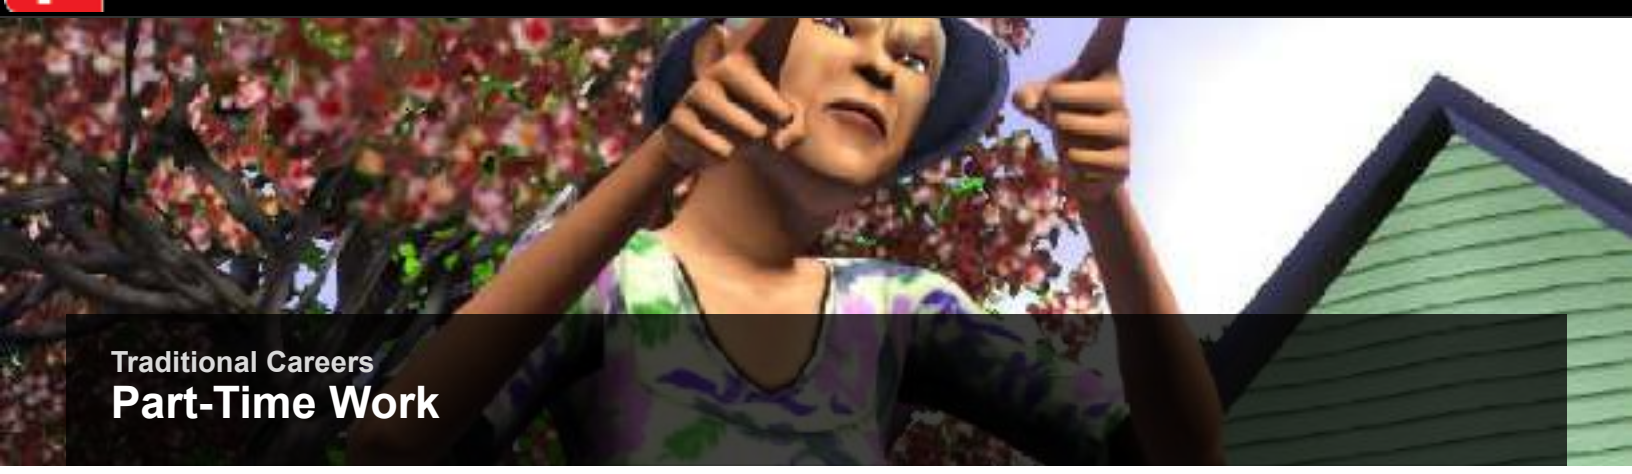
Object catches fire and is burned until useless.

Object randomly electrocutes Sims who try to use it later.

Object disappears—forever.

Object breaks and must be repaired.

Object starts broadcasting random negative moodlets that affect Sims in the room: Upset, Tastes Like Fridge, Stir Crazy, Offended, Buzz Crash, Horrified, or Disgusted.



Traditional Careers

Part-Time Work

In addition to these full-time careers, Sims can pick up part-time jobs at the supermarket, cemetery, bookstore, or day spa. These jobs are for just four hours a day, four days a week.

These jobs are designed not to interfere with life too much. For example, a teen might take a job at the supermarket that starts after school at 4 PM and lasts until 8 PM. Or an adult could grab a late-night 6 PM to 10 PM gig helping bury bodies at the cemetery.

Part-time jobs include tones, just like the full-time jobs. However, because relationships and skills don't determine job performance, the tones are limited to: Business As Usual (average amount of work), Work Hard (put in extra effort), and Take It Easy (minimal effort).

Each part-time job has only three career levels with minimal raises between each promotion. To get ahead at a part-time job, just show up with a good mood and put in a decent day's labor.

Part-time jobs can be quit at the location of employment. All promotions and raises are lost at the moment the Sim quits. The only way to get them back is to start the part-time career over again.

Traditional Careers
School

Children and teens have a different set of obligations from adult Sims—they must regularly attend school. Just showing up isn't enough, though. Students must complete homework to improve grades.

Good grades are more than just a point of pride, too. Good grades lead to improved mood and the chance to select a new trait when the student ages up.

School Schedule: Always Monday through Friday, but hours vary slightly depending on age. Children are in elementary school from 9 AM to 3 PM. Teens are in high school from 9 AM to 2 PM.

Much like a career, school has specific requirements for getting ahead and metrics for judging performance. For school, grades are the rating. Tones you use at school guide behavior and have a deep effect on performance. Here are the tones for school:

Normal Effort: This tone puts in an average amount of work at school and does not add too much stress.

Work Hard: Working Hard is a good way to increase performance, but it adds a lot of stress, which often results in the Stressed Out moodlet. After school, you need to relax and reverse the negative moodlet.

Slack Off: Stressed students can reverse the effect by choosing this tone. Very little work gets done, so performance does not increase by much.

Meet New Friends: This is a great way to socialize in school and develop budding relationships with new students. If you successfully meet another student, there is a good chance that you will either bring that new friend home or be invited to the friend's home. (See Friends After School below.)

Talk to Friends: Talking to Friends at school is a good way to potentially increase your Sim's friendship rating of with another of the same age. This increases the chance you will be invited to a friend's house or invite a friend back to yours.

Sleep in Class: If a student reports to school sleepy, then this tone becomes available to combat the effects of being tired. If the student is Exhausted, this tone happens automatically at random times. There is a risk of being caught while sleeping, though. If caught, the student is given detention.

Work Late on Homework: If the student comes to school with incomplete homework, they can use this tone to try and finish it while at school. Overall performance will not rise as much as a Normal Effort, though.

Homework

The first time students go to school, they receive a small homework booklet. This booklet is placed in the student's personal inventory and can be used via the new Do Homework interaction.

Completing homework is essential for raising grades at school, so make sure to allot extra time in the afternoons and evenings for homework.

Caution

Doing homework lowers the Fun need and can sometimes cause the Stressed Out moodlet.

When you choose to Do Homework, the student finds a seat somewhere on the lot and starts scribbling in the booklet. A meter appears over the student's head, just like a Sim trying to complete any task.

Tip

The Logic skill helps the student complete homework faster. Using the Ask for Help with Homework interaction also increases the speed of doing homework as long as the Sim invited to help is in a good mood.

If the student finishes their homework before the next school day, their performance goes up, Coupled with being in a good mood, this can raise a grade.

If the homework is only partially done, the performance boost is only modest.

If the student does no homework and does not work on it at all in school the next day, their performance takes a significant hit and grades can potentially fail.

Caution

You can actually cheat on homework, but it's risky. Use the Copy Sim's Homework interaction on the homework of another student. This tags your homework as cheating, and if you are caught, you're given detention.

Detention

A student caught sleeping in class or copying homework is punished with detention. Detention keeps the student after school for a few hours, which can interfere with a part-time job.

While staying late, the student cannot choose their tone and they will not see any improvement in grades or performance. When detention is over, the schoolbus takes the student home.

Note

Detention also results in a mood hit due to the Detention moodlet.

Grades

All students start school the first day with a C. Doing well in school raises that to a B and then an A. Doing poorly drops it down to an F. Grades are the culmination of mood and homework completion.

If you keep reporting to school with a good mood and complete homework, you will get an A. Keep that A up for three days in a row to get the Honor Roll moodlet.

Every day after getting the Honor Roll moodlet that you maintain the A, you keep the moodlet. If you drop back down to a C, though, you must maintain an A for three straight days to get the Honor Roll award back.

If you do not do homework, get caught cheating repeatedly, or go to school in a poor mood, your grade will slip down to an F. The first time you get an F, you are warned that unless measures are taken, there will be consequences. The next F results in the Failing moodlet.

Grades are very important during age transitions, so pay attention to the age of the student and try to have an A when the student moves into the next phase of life.

If you have an A when the child becomes a teen or the teen becomes a young adult, then you get to select the trait awarded during the age transition.

If the student has a F, then the student is assigned a bad trait. If the student has a C at the time of transition, then the trait is random—could be positive, could be negative.

Friends After School

Making friends at school satisfies the student's Social need. Students sometimes bring another student home from school with them or are invited to another student's house to play.

You choose whether or not to go home with another student for a couple hours. Doing so and then engaging in socials at the friend's house is a good way to improve a relationship.

One factor that determines the chance of this happening in the distance between the homes of the students.

Students who go to each other's houses will live within a reasonable distance from each other. The closer the other student, the more likely an invitation is.

New Objects

Ambitious Objects

If you are just starting out with a new household or in the early stages of a new career, light finances may preclude splurging on many of the new objects in Ambitions. That's okay.

There are many community options for some of the new objects, like washing clothes at the laundromat or using the Inventing skill-developing workstation at your local flat house.

However, as you bank some Simoleons from a job well done or sold wares, invest in your household. Sims love new gear. They get moodlet boosts when new objects appear on the lot.

In addition, many objects increase personal comfort, skill development, and career paths. So, check out this new catalog of objects introduced in Ambitions and then plan your household budget. You know you want a trampoline in your back yard...

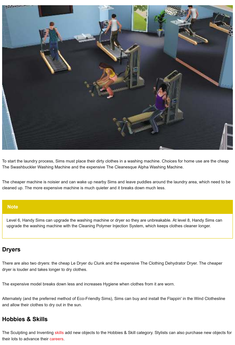
Laundry

Laundry is new to Ambitions. Now Sims can clean their own clothes, which results in positive moodlets. To do laundry at your lot or at the local laundromat, you need to interact with washers and dryers.

Note

Use a clothing hamper to stack up multiple piles of dirty clothes without getting a negative moodlet. However, if your Sim has the Slob trait, there's a chance that clothes will not automatically be placed in the hamper.

Washers



To start the laundry process, Sims must place their dirty clothes in a washing machine. Choices for home use are the cheap The Sweatshucker Washing Machine and the expensive The Cleanesque Alpha Washing Machine.

The cheaper machine is noisier and can wake up nearby Sims and leave puddles around the laundry area, which need to be cleaned up. The more expensive machine is much quieter and it breaks down much less.

Note

Level 8, Handy Sims can upgrade the washing machine or dryer so they are unbreakable. At level 8, Handy Sims can upgrade the washing machine with the Cleaning Polymer Injection System, which keeps clothes cleaner longer.

Dryers

There are also two dryers: the cheap Le Dryer du Crunk and the expensive The Clothing Dehydrator Dryer. The cheaper dryer is louder and takes longer to dry clothes.

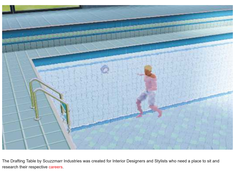
The expensive model breaks down less and increases Hygiene when clothes from it are worn.

Alternately (and the preferred method of Eco-Friendly Sims), Sims can buy and install the Flappin' in the Wind Clothesline and allow their clothes to dry out in the sun.

Hobbies & Skills

The Sculpting and Inventing skills add new objects to the Hobbies & Skill category. Stylists can also purchase new objects for their lots to advance their careers.

The Drafting Table by Scuzzmarr Industries



The Drafting Table by Scuzzmarr Industries was created for Interior Designers and Stylists who need a place to sit and research their respective careers.

Working at the table increases the Painting skill, albeit slower than working at an easel. Interior Designers use the table to research interior design while the Stylist researches fashion.

Pedestrian Sculpting Station

The Pedestrian Sculpting Station is an essential install for budding sculptors. Once it's placed on the lot, Sims use it to carve statues out of the mediums they have unlocked by advancing the skill.

At first, sculptors only work in clay. But eventually, they can place giant ice blocks or topiary bushes on the station. As Sims work at this station, they increase the Sculpting skill.

Unfinished projects can be scrapped and completed projects can be sold right from the station.

Note

For a complete breakdown of Sculpting, please see the New Simology chapter.

Scraptronic Workbench

Note

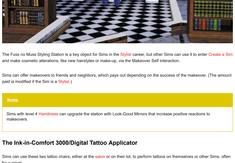
This is the Inventor's workstation, where Sims developing that skill work on their newest creations.

A scrap bin attached to the station is filled as Sims collect scrap from the junkyard, deliverate objects, or purchase scrap directly from the station.

As new inventions are created, more interactions with the workstation become available, such as choosing specific projects or manufacturing multiples of discovered blueprints.

The Inventing skill is completely detailed in the New Simology chapter.

Fuss no Muss Styling Station



The Fuss no Muss Styling Station is a key object for Sims in the Stylist career, but other Sims can use it to enter Create a Sim and make cosmetic alterations, like new hairstyles or make-up, via the Makeover Self interaction.

Sims can offer makeovers to friends and neighbors, which pays out depending on the success of the makeover. (The amount paid is modified if the Sim is a Stylist.)

Note

Sims with level 4 Handiness can upgrade the station with Look-Good Mirrors that increase positive reactions to makeovers.

The Ink-in-Comfort 3000/Digital Tattoo Applicator

Sims can use these two tattoo chairs, either at the salon or on their lot, to perform tattoos on themselves or other Sims, often for a price.

The chairs offer several interactions, such as Offer Tattoo, Get Tattoo, and Remove Tattoo. You cannot give tattoos to baby or child Sims.

However, teens can receive tattoos as long as they have permission from their parents, achieved by choosing the Ask Permission interaction on the station

If the parent denies (bad relationship at the time), the teen can attempt to Convince. The higher the teen's Charisma skill, the greater the chance of it working.

Note

At level 6, Handy Sims can upgrade these stations so they do not break. Level 8 Handiness also unlocks the Intimization upgrade that increases the likelihood Sims will like tattoos received from the station.

Outdoor Activities

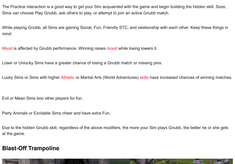
These objects are perfect for blowing off steam, increasing Fun, and building up hidden skills for each object. (For more on the hidden skills associated with these objects, see the New Simology chapter.)

Portable Grubb Set



The Portable Grubb Set is typically set up in the yard on a lot, although it can be placed or found on a community lot. The game is very simple. Sims attempt to knock down pins by throwing wooden batons.

The Practice interaction is a good way to get your Sim acquainted with the game and begin building the hidden skill. Soon, Sims can choose Play Grubb, ask others to play, or attempt to join an active Grubb match.

While playing Grubb, all Sims are gaining Social, Fun, Friendly STC, and relationship with each other. Keep these things in mind.

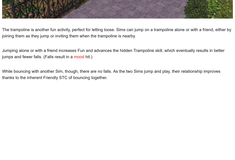
Lucky Sims or Sims with higher Athletic or Martial Arts (World Adventures) skills have increased chances of winning matches.

Evil or Mean Sims too often players for fun.

Party Animals or Excitable Sims cheer and have extra Fun.

Due to the hidden Grubb skill, regardless of the above modifiers, the more your Sim plays Grubb, the better he or she gets at the game.

Blast-Off Trampoline



The trampoline is another fun activity, perfect for letting loose. Sims can jump on a trampoline alone or with a friend, either by joining them as they jump or inviting them when the trampoline is nearby.

Jumping alone or with a friend increases Fun and advances the hidden Trampoline skill, which eventually results in better jumps and fewer falls. (Falls result in a mood hit.)

While bouncing with another Sim, though, there are no falls. As the two Sims jump and play, their relationship improves thanks to the inherent Friendly STC of bouncing together.
